CONGRESS SET FOR 'CLEANUP' OF LABOR BOARD

Drastic Changes in Law Predicted.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29.—The Roosevelt administration's campaign to smother action on amendments to the Wagner labor act at this session of congress tonight appeared headed for a distinct setback.

Rep. H. W. Smith.

It was learned that Representative Howard W. Smith [D., Va.], chairman of the special committee which has been investigating the administration of the labor relations law, will shortly present to the house a recommendation for drastic alterations in the act and a wholesale cleanup in the labor board.

An Effective Filibuster.

During two sessions the house and senate committees on labor have been conducting an effective filibuster against changes in the act. Backed by sufficient members to wrest control of the amendments from the labor committee if necessary, this is Smith's program:

Open meetings will be suspended indefinitely and the committee will start drafting a preliminary report and suggested amendments to the Wagner act. These will be laid befor the house within a few days so that the house may have time to complete action on them before adjournment.

Under house rules, the report and amendments will be referred to the committee on labor headed by Representative Mary Norton [D., N. J.], which has been delaying action since early last year. If this committee continues to stall, it was stated, a petition to force the amendments to the floor will be filed. The necessary majority to accomplish this is assured.

Time Has Come to Act.

The temper of the house in regard to the labor board and the act it administers was clearly revealed yesterday. Vigorous applause greeted the statement of Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.], that the time had come to liquidate the board and amend the act.

Chairman Smith, it was reported, will advocate an amendment to discharge the present three man board headed by J. Warren Madden, and to substitute a new board of three or five members. Other amendments to be suggested by him are:

1. A new administrative setup in which the board will be stripped of its triple powers of acting as judge, jury, and prosecutor.

2. Provision for an administrator to receive complaints and make preliminary investigations. If he sees fit, he will prosecute charges of unfair labor practices and the board will sit as a jury.

3. Broader provisions for court reviews of the board's decisions.

4. A provision giving the employer the right to petition for an election to decide the proper bargaining agent in labor disputes. In response to pressure, the board has already granted this right in one decision.

5. Rules requiring the board to abide more closely by judicial rules of evidence.

6. A provision that the board should maintain a hands-off policy in A. F. of L.-C. I. O. disputes until the two rival labor organizations can come to an agreement on the procedure to follow.

7. A guarantee of the employer's right to freedom of speech in arguing his side of a labor dispute.

New Plan For Appointment.

The house will also be asked to consider a plan for future appointment of board members, the details of which the senate, which has the power to ratify presidential appointments, will be requested to work out.

Other suggestions for amendments to be made by Smith, according to reports, will include a prohibition against aliens acting as the representatives of labor groups in bargaining cases.

SOVIET PLANES IN WAVES RAIN BOMBS ON FINNS

Widespread Raids Set Cities on Fire.

MOSCOW, March 1, Friday (AP).—The Russian army reported early today that its forces had driven to within slightly more than a mile of Viipuri, strategic Finnish port on the Gulf of Finland.

A communique issued by the Leningrad military headquarters said that the Red army was driving on Viipuri from the south, southeast, and east in an enveloping offensive.

The nearest force was said to have captured a group of summer cottages on the eastern coast of Viipuri bay 1.2 miles south of Viipuri.

To the southeast the Russians occupied Ylasainio, about 7 miles from Viipuri, on the Viipuri-Leningrad railway.

Take Three Towns to East.

The nearest point gained by the troops driving from the east was reported to be Pero, a railway station about 5 miles from Viipuri. Also reported occupied were Heinjoki, about 14 miles east of Viipuri and Ayrapaa, about 12 miles east of Heinjoki. All three places are on the Viipuri-Valkjarvi railroad.

The communique reported that 270 more Finnish fortifications were taken in the last two days of the advance. These included 42 taken on Feb. 28.

Rain Bombs on Cities.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Feb. 29 (AP).—Many civilians were killed, fires were started which raged far into the night and much damage was done today by huge fleets of Russian bombing planes which attacked some Finnish cities in waves.

Observers said it appeared that nearly every town in southern Finland had been bombed.

At least 10 persons were killed and many injured at the island town of Savonlinna, 80 miles north of Viipuri [Viborg] in Kokonselka lake, where the planes loosed their bombs in frequent attacks all thru the day.

First aid was rushed to the historic town devastated by dozens of fires.

Bomb Riihimaki 5 Times.

Riihimaki, 40 miles north of Helsingfors, was bombed five times, and altho details were not available, it was reported fires were raging there far into the night.

Kuovala was bombed time after time by fleets as large as 50, 60, and 80 planes. Details of the casualties and damage there still were not known.

Two persons were killed and three wounded at the little out-of-the-way village of Inkeroinen. One was killed at Hamina and one at Turku, the much bombed port on the Gulf of Bothnia.

While these bombings were taking

MRS. ROOSEVELT ASKS DIVORCE OF JIMMY IN LOS ANGELES TODAY

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 29 (AP).—Mrs. Betsey Cushing Roosevelt's attorneys said tonight she would appear in Superior court tomorrow to ask a divorce from President and Mrs. Roosevelt's eldest son, James. Neil S. McCarthy, her Los Angeles attorney, added that she would endeavor to obtain a default divorce decree.

One obstacle remained in the way of an immediate divorce. Unless his attorney, Milton H. Schwartz, stipulates that his client will not contest the action, the hearing will be indefinitely delayed.

Young Mrs. Roosevelt arrived today accompanied by her brother, Henry K. Cushing, and Attorney Basil O'Connor, former law partner of President Roosevelt.

Roosevelt, now a filmmaker, alleged his wife deserted him in his divorce complaint. Mrs. Roosevelt, in her answer, denied this charge and in her cross-complaint countered with a similar allegation and added a charge of cruelty. The Roosevelts' two young daughters will remain in their mother's custody.

FRANCE'S BIRTH RATE INCREASES; MARRIAGES DROP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 29.—A break in the decline of the French birth rate was recorded in the census figures published in Paris today.

The upturn, which showed an increase in births accompanying a decrease in marriages, came in the three month period, April, May, and June of 1939, when there were 72,606 marriages and 157,155 births.

This shows a decrease of 3,294 in the number of marriages and an increase of 402 in the number of births as compared with the same period in 1938. In that year there were 75,900 marriages and 156,753 births.

A Robin Hood 'unts in 'ome of Chamberlain

LONDON, Feb. 29 (AP).—A steel tipped arrow sent winging thru a window of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's residence at 10 Downing street in the cause of "social credit" by a 20th century Robin Hood today just missed one of the cabinet members.

The arrow landed the green jacket clad man, Joseph Green, 22 years old, in court, where he said:

Green said he did not know which minister, and no other sources would comment.

Put Under Peace Bond.

However, because Green was to join the army tonight, he was simply placed under an $8 peace bond for a year.

The arrow which went zooming into the sedate residence had a mean looking steel head 2½ inches long. Attached to the shaft was a four line note saying:

"End Hitlerism. The war demands a debt free Britain. Social credit is the only remedy. Social credit is coming."

Green, who told reporters he could put an arrow thru the throat of a man at 50 yards, used a yew bow of the legendary Robin Hood type. He said he shot thru the window to avoid hitting a policeman standing in the door. He had intended to drive an arrow with his message attached into the prime minister's door in the best Robin Hood style.

Encounters Jovial Policeman.

As he entered little Downing street dressed in a green sports jacket and carrying his long bow he encountered the ever present policeman, who asked jovially: "Going shooting?"

"Yes, I am," replied Green.

Hershey Sweetens Voters with (Uh, Huh) Chocolate

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 29 (AP).—Harry B. Hershey, the Democratic organization's candidate for governor, has a way to keep his campaign audiences happy. Each of the estimated 5,000 persons who attended the rally opening Hershey's campaign was handed a chocolate bar.

Puts Victim in Car.

"After I had hit her," Bradshaw said, "I placed her next to me in my coupe. I thought she was dying, as she was bleeding so much. So I took her to the garage in the rear of my home.

"I figured she soon would be dead and I would wait until I read who she was in the newspapers. Then I was going to take the body and dump it on the doorstep of her home."

Beverly Joan was the daughter of Jacob Frank, a tool and die worker, and his wife, Anna. They have two other children, Anna Marie, 16 years old, and Lorene, 14.

Witness Sees Accident.

After eating her candy, Beverly Joan left Kathleen at the latter's home. As she was walking across George street, in front of home, she was struck by the car driven by Bradshaw. This was at 2:40 p. m. Fred Brendell, of 2855 Southport avenue, saw the accident and hurried over.

On Bradshaw's assurance that he would take the injured girl to a hospital, Brendell helped lift her into Bradshaw's car. As Bradshaw drove away, Brendell noted the license number of the car.

Sheffield avenue police were informed and Sergt. Joseph McDowell traced the death car's license number to Bradshaw.

Body Under Tarpaulin.

He led the police to the garage in the rear of his home, which is about two miles northwest of the scene of the accident. In the garage, hidden under a tarpaulin, they found the girl's body.

Dr. John Cunningham was summoned from the Martha Washington hospital, 2318 Irving Park road, a half mile from the garage. When he examined the body—at 5:40 p. m., three hours after the accident—he said the girl had been dead only an hour.

Dr. Jerry Kearns, coroner's physician, said he believed the girl might have been dead before she reached the garage.

Bradshaw was questioned at the Sheffield avenue station last night by Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Freedman and Francis Donohue and Ollie Karwoski of Coroner A. L. Brodie's staff. Freedman said a charge of murder may be placed against Bradshaw after the inquest today at 2 p. m. Bradshaw is married and has a son, Kenneth, 18 years old.

The girl's mother was reported near a breakdown.

Twenty-four more persons have been killed in traffic accidents in Cook county this year than during the comparable period in 1939. There were 159 deaths this year up to 4 p. m. yesterday, compared with 135 in the corresponding months last year. Of the 159 deaths, 119 were in Chicago where 3,427 were injured in the same period.

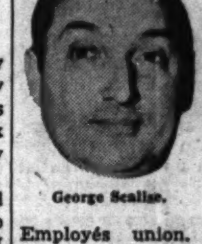
COURT FORBIDS BOSS SCALISE'S DICTATORSHIP

Rules He Can't Fix Accusers' Fate.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 29 (AP).—George Scalise, Brooklyn, N. Y., labor leader, was prohibited by a court decision today from sitting in judgment on local officers who accused him of ruling his union by coercion.



George Scalise.

Scalise heads the A. F. of L. Building Service Employés union. Local officers charged in Superior court that Scalise and other members of the executive board were unfit to try three San Francisco union officers on charges of irregularities.

Superior Judge I. M. Golden ruled to throw the case into the hands of the union for hearing, but disqualified Scalise and Thomas Burke, vice president, from participation in the hearing of charges against Charles Hardy Sr. and Hardy's two sons. The elder Hardy is president of the San Francisco local.

"Gangster, Racketeer, Assassin."

"It has been suggested," said Judge Golden, "that the board members are dominated and controled by Scalise, and that Scalise is a gangster, racketeer, and assassin.

"It has been plainly charged that he murdered or caused to be assassinated, three persons. I have no doubt that these unfortunate persons met their violent death in the safe precincts of Chicago, and that some one caused them to be assassinated, but I have no proof that Scalise did it or caused it to be done.

"If I did know anything about it, I would do something about it immediately. But merely on suspicion by Mr. Hardy, I can do nothing."

Accounting Is Refused.

Judge Golden held that the suspension of the Hardys was legal under the union's constitution. The local's demand for an accounting of international funds cannot be granted, Golden ruled, because no provision is made in the constitution of the union.

"I think it would be a proper thing to have such a provision in the constitution," the court added, "but it isn't there."

Golden held that Meyer Lewis, representative of William Green, A. F. of L head, could not take possession of assets of the local unions involved.

Only Four Eligibles.

By removing Scalise and Burke from eligibility to sit as members of the executive board which will try the Hardys on charges of irregularities, Judge Golden left only four board members eligible, inasmuch as the senior Hardy, also a board member, could not sit in a case against himself.

Judge Golden commented on the extraordinary nature of the case and said he believed he was the first judge in American history to accept responsibility for investigating the fitness of a duly created union tribunal to suspend members, before a suspension hearing took place.

Urges Convention Action.

"If Scalise and Burke are what these San Francisco union officers say they are," Golden continued, "the international convention should remove them in May. It is the business of the delegates to the convention to take that action, not the business of the court."

The court ruled that a restraining order against interference by Scalise in affairs of the local union would remain in effect. Under the order the union may elect delegates to attend the organization's international convention in Chicago in May.

In an affirmative finding, Judge Golden said the executive board should not sit in Chicago in the case involving the Hardys, but in California, and preferably in San Francisco. A conference between attorneys was to be held later with Golden to determined how far the two sides wanted to go in embodying this and other affirmative findings in the court's order.

TWO N. Y. INDICTMENTS

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 29.—A general investigation into New York locals of the Building Service Employés' International union, headed by George

Scalise, was revealed today with the indictment of two officials. The indictment, obtained by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, charged conspiracy to shake down contractors.

The indicted pair were Louis Schwarz, president of local 32-J, which has charwomen, porters, and office cleaners as its members, and Izzy Schwarz, brother of Louis, business manager of the union and the local's representative in Scalise's international.

Izzy's Police Record.

Izzy has a police record including a conviction in 1920 for impairing the morals of a girl in a rape case and two subsequent arrests for assault and possessing a blackjack. He obtained discharges in the last two.

The brothers were arraigned today before Judge George L. Donnellan in General Sessions court and held in bond of $6,000 each shortly after the indictment was announced.

According to Milton Schilback, assistant district attorney, this indictment will be followed by another containing a number of specific extortion counts and the names of victims. It was said Dewey's office decided to indict the Schwarz brothers on conspiracy because word was received they planned to flee this jurisdiction.

Scalise an Ex-Convict.

Whether Dewey's investigation involves the operations of Scalise was not made known. Scalise, whose past record includes a four year prison term for pandering, is in the midst of a struggle to obtain control of local 32-B, the elevator operators' union in New York, headed at present by James J. Bambrick.

Reports have been coming from reliable sources that Scalise's state income tax payments are under scrutiny by Dewey's office, but the prosecutor and his assistants have refused to deny or confirm them. Local officials of the intelligence unit of the treasury have likewise declined to say yes or no.

Today's indictment presented the familiar picture of a New York racket, similar to extortion rings in the restaurant, poultry, and trucking fields, and policy games. It was the long line of successful prosecutions of the kingpins in these rackets that brought Dewey into national prominence and set him up as a potential Republican nominee for President.

RUSH RESPIRATOR TO AID WOMAN IN GREEN BAY, WIS.

The American Legion, police, a hospital, and a railroad coöperated yesterday to send an artificial respirator to Green Bay, Wis., in an effort to save the life of a young mother. She is Mrs. Loyal Donart, 23 years old, who is suffering from progressive paralysis of the respiratory system.

When her condition became worse yesterday Harold Lytle, a Wisconsin state representative, telephoned a Chicago friend, Elim P. Floren, a publishing company official, for help. Floren called upon Nate T. Felt, chairman of the 3d district, American Legion, whose members own a respirator.

Within a few minutes the machine was on its way. It was taken from the Englewood hospital and rushed by automobile under police escort to the North Western station, where railroad officials had delayed a Green Bay bound train for 10 minutes to take the respirator aboard. The respirator arrived in Green Bay about 9 p. m. Police there speeded it to St. Mary's hospital. Mrs. Donart was transferred quickly to the respirator in an effort to save her life.

Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. Seeks Divorce in Nevada

Reno, Nev., Feb. 29 [Special].—Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. filed suit for divorce at Carson City today against Helen Varner Vanderbilt charging three years' separation. They married at Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 5, 1935. Vanderbilt has had a Nevada residence since 1927. Vanderbilt was divorced from Rachael Littleton of Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1927 and from Mary Weir Logan of Chicago in 1931. His third wife was from Clarksburg, W. Va.

Voters Warned of March 11 Deadline for Registration

If you have recently become 21 years old or have moved into Chicago you must register to vote in the April primary. The board of election commissioners yesterday reminded voters that March 11 is the last day for registration. Registrations are being accepted at the board offices on the third floor of the city hall. Neighborhood registration offices also will be opened in all city fire stations tomorrow and will remain open daily until March 11.

Driver Hides Body

Map shows where Beverly Joan Frank was struck yesterday by an automobile; where the driver, Walter H. Brawshaw, left her body in his garage; where he was arrested, and the location of hospitals in the neighborhood where he might have taken her.

33 CHICAGO WARD COMMITTEEMEN TO BE UNOPPOSED

27 Are Democratic, 6 Republican.

Thirty-three ward committeemen, 27 Democratic and 6 Republican, were virtually assured of reëlection yesterday when no opposition had appeared against them by the deadline for filing petitions of candidacy for the April 9 election.

Only in the event of a ballot write-in campaign will there now be any opposition to those candidates unopposed in the filings.

28th Democrat Unopposed.

DEMOCRATS.

1. Michael Kenna	28. P. A. Nash
4. Joseph P. Geary	29. Martin J. O'Brien
7. James W. Ryan	30. Edward J. Upton
8. James J. Sullivan	34. Neal T. Kelley
9. Sheldon W. Govier	37. Roger J. Kiley
10. William A. Rowan	39. H. L. Brody
12. Frank V. Zintak	41. Thomas J. Bowler
14. J. J. McDermott	42. Wm. J. Connors
19. Thomas D. Nash	45. Charles H. Weber
20. Carmen Vacco	46. Joseph L. Gill
22. H. Sonnenschein	48. Frank Lyman
23. John Toman	49. Frank Keenan
24. Jacob M. Arvey	50. Louis Rixmann
25. James B. Bowler

REPUBLICANS.

8. A. C. Metzger	41. Jas. C. Moreland
15. Michael A. Buddy	43. James B. Waller
21. George F. Barrett	45. Charles J. Fleck

The county clerk's election department was jammed during the day as candidates sought to file late and get their names in last position on the ballot. In most instances regular organization candidates file the first day and obtain first position, and most politicians regard the last position as second best.

Deputies Keep Order.

Late in the afternoon Chief Clerk Carey called for 20 deputy sheriffs to maintain order. The crowd was composed largely of precinct captains and ward workers sent by their ward organizations to obtain last minute information on the filings.

A total of 89 petitions for Democratic committeemen and 27 for Republican were filed before the deadline.

News of ward committeeman campaigns will be published in Metropolitan sections of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

RAPS JACKSON ON CHARGES OF RED SYMPATHY

New York, Feb. 29 (AP).—Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.], member of the Dies committee, asserted today that United States Attorney General Robert Jackson's dismissal of recent indictments for Spanish war recruiting in Detroit was motivated by sympathy for communists. Thomas addressed the Women's National Republican club.

"On Aug. 4, 1938, the Daily Worker, official newspaper of the communist party, carried the following headline: 'Peace march is endorsed by Jackson.'

"We therefore have the astonishing spectacle of the present attorney general of the United States, having been one of the endorsers of the parade which was led by veterans of the Abraham Lincoln brigade."

EXPECT HORNER TO BE ON HAND FOR BALLOT HEARING

Decide Fate of Roosevelt Petition Tomorrow.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Reports from Springfield yesterday said Gov. Horner probably will be present tomorrow when the state primary certifying board meets to decide whether President Roosevelt's name will appear on the Democratic ballot April 9.

Physicians of the governor, who has been ill several months, still recommend quiet. But his vote as a member of the certifying board is considered of such importance that members of his staff have said he will be present unless it is impossible for him to make the trip from the executive mansion to the state house.

Can't Move Board Session.

There has been gossip in Springfield that the board session might be held in the governor's residence. But attorneys ruled that the primary law is so explicit in saying that the meeting shall be held "in the office of said secretary of state" that such a transfer might invalidate the entire primary election.

The urgency concerning the governor's participation is ascribed to the fact that the other two members of the board, Secretary of State E. J. Hughes and State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, are now on opposite sides of the Democratic primary fence. Some Democrats repeat the story that Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, now a candidate for governor, might walk into the meeting as acting governor if Horner is not there.

There have been no open predictions that Stelle and Barrett, now antimachine allies, would bar President Roosevelt's name from the ballot because the petition in his behalf did not include his signed certificate of candidacy. There have been louder rumors to the contrary—that they might "steal" the President for their own campaign by keeping him in Illinois contest.

May "Steal" President.

That there will be an opportunity for a disagreement was indicated yesterday when Charles E. Mason, state's attorney for Lake county, was assured by Secretary Hughes that Mason will be allowed to attend the meeting of the board. Mason's contention that the printing of Roosevelt's name on the ballot would be illegal has been sustained by 10 other Illinois state's attorneys.

A second objection, a petition, was filed by George S. Lavin, a former assistant attorney general running for Republican nomination for congressman at large. It was mailed to the board yesterday accompanied by a letter requesting a hearing for Lavin before the baord.

REP. LUND BEGINS DRIVE TO REMOVE FOOD SALES TAX

State Representative Arnold L. Lund [R., Riverside] a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, began the distribution yesterday of petitions to permit voters to record their opposition to the state sales tax. The petitions call for the removal of the tax on food and food products.

"My campaign against the sales tax on necessities of life has brought me countless letters asking that some means be provided to express opinion on the subject," Lund said. "The petition forms will permit voters to do this; they will provide an effective exhibit before the Illinois assembly."

APPEAL TO CANDIDATES TO ABIDE BY CITY LAWS ON USE OF BILLBOARDS

All candidates for public office in the April primary received a letter yesterday from the Woman's City club, urging them to abide by city ordinances which regulate the use of campaign advertising on billboards and in other public places.

"There are many flagrant violations of existing city ordinances concerning billboards in sections zoned for residence," said the letter, signed by Miss Eula W. Eaton, corresponding secretary.

"Among the posters on billboards and in other places, our members have noticed the advertising of many candidates. This letter is to ask you as a candidate for public office to see to it that your campaign advertising does not violate any city ordinance."

HOUSE REFUSES NEW LOCKS FOR PANAMA CANAL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29 (AP).—Funds for starting work on a new set of bomb-proof locks for the Panama canal were withheld today when the house passed and sent to the senate a $203,472,567 appropriation bill to finance nonmilitary functions of the war department.

The measure contained, however, $850,000 for preparation of plans for the locks, construction of which has been advocated by President Roosevelt as a national defense precaution.

The total of the bill represented a $16,609,134 reduction in President Roosevelt's budget estimates, due chiefly to elimination by the appropriations committee of a $15,000,000 item for commencing work on the canal's third set of locks. In approving the bill as the committee wrote it the house accepted this elimination.

These latest cuts brought the total of congressional reductions in presidential estimates this session to 290 million dollars.

PRECINCT HEADS HIT WARD CHIEF'S AID FOR GREEN

Sixty-two of the 80 Republican precinct captains in the 38th ward protested last night against the action of their ward committeeman, Frank M. Kalteux, in supporting the candidacy of Dwight H. Green for the G. O. P. nomination for governor. Kalteux is chairman of the halls and speakers committee for the Green organization.

The 62 captains said sentiment in the ward is for Richard J. Lyons, Green's opponent for the Republican nomination.

Their meeting was held in the Brooks-Lyons headquarters at 5232 Belmont avenue and was addressed by Patrick Sheridan Smith, Cook county campaign manager for Lyons, and Wayland Brooks, candidate for Republican senatorial nomination.

GREEN'S LEGION BUDDIES TO FETE HIM AT DINNER

A mess kit dinner will be given by the Board of Trade post of the American Legion for Dwight H. Green, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, in the La Salle hotel at 6 p. m. Monday. The dinner will precede the regular Monday night report meeting of the Green forces in Cook county, which will be held in the same hotel. Green, a world war aviator, is a member of the Board of Trade post.

APPLAUD BROOKS' PLEA TO RESIST ENTANGLING WAR

Teachers Hear Horror of European Conflict.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 29 [Special].—Wayland Brooks, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator in Illinois, addressed 3,000 members of the American Association of School administrators here today on the importance of keeping the United States out of foreign wars.

Failed Once to Save World.

"Enlist in the war to stay out of war," Brooks pleaded with the teachers. "We tried to save the world for democracy once and all we got was death and more death. This war will not be like the war of yesterday, but will be death and gas to the helpless, unlike anything in history. We can't stop them, apparently.

"We must have a strong army and navy and air force and a strong determination to stay out of war unless we are attacked. We must keep the kind of government we have, a blessed one of divided powers, all carefully written down in our constitution, and we must work to solve our economic problems intelligently."

U. S. Army in 114 Wars.

Judging from the applause that followed Brooks' address and the remarks of Dr. William F. Russell, dean of teachers' college, Columbia university, the teachers are of a like mind in this situation.

Dr. Russell, who has watched events in Europe, said that it seemed to him that the devil was loose in the world of today. His plea was for a strong armed preparedness on the part of this country. He gave a review of the wars of the world, showing that from 1496 to 1861 there were only 227 years of peace and that the United States has been engaged in what the army called 114 wars in its brief history.

CAMPBELL NAMES GROUP TO CONFER ON U. S. PROPERTY

United States Attorney William J. Campbell yesterday appointed a municipal coöperation committee as a new standing committee of the Federal Business association. Charles E. Miner, local head of the WPA, will be chairman of the group. Campbell is president of the business association, which comprises heads and assistant heads of various governmental agencies. The committee will coöperate with municipal authorities in matters relating to federal property.

Roosevelt Wants Hoover Picture in White House

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29 (AP).—President Roosevelt suggested to congress today that $2,500 be made available for an oil portrait of former President Herbert Hoover to be placed in the White House. Procurement of a painting was authorized by congress last August.

G. O. P. IS URGED TO AVOID SPLIT AND WIN VICTORY

Galesburg, Ill., Feb. 29 [Special].—Issues in the political campaign in Illinois in 1940 tower above personalities, Dwight H. Green, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, said in an address before a John Ericsson league dinner tonight: "With our Democratic opponents about to launch themselves into one of the most personal battles in their history, we Republicans must keep our eyes upon the goal: Victory in November, and not be lured into similar attacks.

"Perhaps our panic-stricken opposition is again seeking to divide our forces to better face the new strength and aroused spirit of the Republican party backed by the faith of the independent voters of Illinois," Green added.

"Every leader worthy of the name Republican should determine to so conduct himself during this campaign that when April 9 is past, the people will not have been diverted from the fundamental issues which affect them and their homes, and that the Republican party as a unit may march together toward victory on Nov. 5."

Mary Anderson to Become State NYA Director Today

Miss Mary Stuart Anderson will take up her duties today as Illinois state administrator for the National Youth administration. She succeeds United States Attorney William J. Campbell, who has been serving without pay since his appointment as federal prosecutor in November, 1938.

LYONS ASSAILS GREEN'S TACTICS IN CAMPAIGNING

Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for governor, struck back at his rival, Dwight H. Green, yesterday because of Green's numerous speeches accusing the Lyons forces of bipartisanship.

In addition to labeling this accusation an untruth, Lyons asserted that Green's present campaign was inspired and is being directed by Democrats and that it is being financed thru fees from federal receiverships and utility organizations.

Charges Kelly-Nash Tieup.

Lyons also said that Green's candidacy for mayor last year was approved by the Democratic machine to insure Mayor Kelly's renomination and that Green's attacks on State's Attorney Courtney during the primary campaign were made to keep the independent vote away from Courtney. The Kelly-Nash machine's purpose now, Lyons said, is to control candidates in both parties to insure their domination over utilities legislation.

Lyons' letter follows:

"Several months ago all Republican candidates for governor were appealed to by Mr. A. K. Stiles, chairman of the Illinois Republican state central committee, to conduct clean campaigns and to confine themselves to personal qualifications and to vital issues affecting our state and nation. You and I committed ourselves to those principles to insure party harmony in November.

"I have kept my pledge. I have traveled thru Illinois discussing unemployment, relief, taxation, taking the sales tax off food, balancing the budget, economy, and honesty in government, as well as my legislative experience, without ever referring to my opponents.

Accuses Green of Violations.

"You have violated your promise. You proceeded systematically and deliberately to vilify and try to tear down the Republican party by predicating your entire campaign upon a viciously false issue that all Republicans who oppose your candidacy are motivated by bipartisanship. Your principal objective seems to have been to intimidate and besmear Republican leaders and workers.

"You have never charged and do not dare to charge me with any bipartisan alliances. You merely insinuate that all who are supporting me—and, incidentally, 85 per cent of the duly elected Republican leaders have indorsed my candidacy—are bipartisan dealers. That is a deliberate untruth. It was suggested to you on numerous occasions that, for the good of the party, you desist from your baseless assaults upon thousands of conscientious Republican precinct workers who helped you in your mayoralty campaign. It is clear to every one that you are resorting to this mudslinging campaign because these same precinct workers now refuse to support your candidacy for governor.

Assails Traitors in Party.

"That there are traitors in our party cannot be denied and must not be defended. I was the victim of bipartisan treachery in Chicago in 1938, when I was the Republican nominee for the United States senate. I carried downstate and the country towns of Cook county by 159,000 votes, but enough votes were stolen in Chicago to give the certificate of election to the Democrats. However, the great majority of Republican leaders and workers are true to the core, as was evidenced by the 1,572,000 votes cast for me. In that election, with the help of thousands of fine Republican workers, I reduced the Democratic majority of 1936 from 712,000 to 95,000 votes.

"Those of us who struggled and sacrificed for 10 dark years to preserve the Republican party are not as ready as you are to turn our backs on the thousands of loyal workers who remained true to its ideals. While many of these conscientious Republican workers were hungry and homeless fighting to save America, you were consorting with New Deal Democrats in Washington and in Chicago, raking in huge fees in federal receiverships in your law office on La Salle street. I question your right to challenge their party loyalty, as you do at every political gathering and over the radio.

Calls Green a Mud-Slinger.

"Before you began your mud-slinging campaign, you should have remembered the doctrine you and I learned in law school, that he who seeks equity must come with clean hands. Wouldn't it be wiser and safer for you first to answer the charge made against you that your candidacy for mayor was approved by the Kelly-Nash machine to insure Mayor Kelly's renomination; and that you made your attacks upon State's Attorney Courtney in the Republican primary campaign to win the independent voters away from Courtney? I, too, was duped. I worked hard for you and addressed hundreds of meetings to help elect you so that Chicago might be rid of the Kelly-Nash machine.

"Should you not also explain why you personally paid Senator Dan Serritella $680 for use in his ward, over the objections of Republican National Treasurer Charles B. Goodspeed? Also, isn't it true that while you were publicly condemning bipartisan politics you were privately pleading with the so-called purged bipartisan ward committeemen to support your candidacy for governor? Isn't it true that you accuse others of bipartisanship in order to divert attention from the sponsors and managers of your own campaign?

"The above charges have been ignored by you entirely. If they are false, why haven't you denied them? Here are six new and more specific charges which demand your immediate reply:

"1. That your present campaign for governor was not only inspired but is now being directed and conducted by Kelly-Nash-Horner Democrats.

"2. That at least four of the six Republican ward committeemen who are supporting your candidacy are Kelly-Nash bipartisan dealers.

"3. That your office associate, William J. Froelich, a New Deal Kelly-Nash-Horner Democrat, who was imported from Nebraska by Walter J. Cummings, former treasurer of the Democratic national committee, is the attorney for large traction interests and other public utilities; and that your candidacy is being financed thru fees from federal receiverships and utility reorganizations.

"4. That your same associate, Mr. Froelich, received over $135,000 from the Utilities Power and Light corporation and from the Middle West Utilities company.

"5. That the pay roll of the Utilities Power and Light corporation discloses payment to you personally of $12,000 per year.

"6. That on the records of the public utility, Chicago and West Towns railway, which operates bus and car lines in 23 communities in Illinois, your name appears as its attorney.

"You cannot ignore or sidestep these six serious charges. I will meet you at any time and place you designate to discuss them with you and will present you with unimpeachable proof as to each of them.

"It is obvious that the Kelly-Nash-Horner Democrats now want to control candidates in both parties to insure their domination over utilities and traction legislation, just as they sought to engineer the election of a friendly mayor. The Republicans of this state are not willing to turn their party over to a Kelly-Nash-Horner selection, or to the utilities and traction interests.

"As one who has devoted a lifetime of service to the Republican party in this state, I welcome an intelligent campaign based on qualifications of candidates and constructive issues for the welfare of the people, but I resent fictitious charges of bipartisanship by you

Plans Further Discussion.

"I challenge you to discuss this bipartisan issue, as well as the bipartisan sponsorship of your candidacy for governor of Illinois, in any public forum, at any time or place you designate. I invite you to tune in on station WENR on the 7th day of March, 1940, at the hour of 8 p. m., at which time I will discuss this subject more frankly and in greater detail.

"It is with deep regret that I find myself obliged to even refer to your Democratic involvements during the course of this campaign; but if the Republican party is to have a new birth of freedom we must free it from all New Deal Democratic bipartisan entanglements, be it with Kelly, Nash, Horner, Courtney, Froelich, Cummings, or any other Democrat who would leave no stone unturned to wreck our chances for victory in November."

Sues for Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. RUTHELMA LOGAN.

Mrs. Ruthelma Stevens Logan, former stage and screen actress, filed suit for divorce in Superior court yesterday against Waldo Logan, wealthy explorer. The bill alleged that Logan, who is now on an expedition in Puerto Rico, deserted his wife Dec. 15, 1938.

The couple were married April 11, 1934, in Yuma, Ariz. Mrs. Logan, who lives at the Whitehall apartments, 105 East Delaware place, is 32 years old. Her husband, who is 40, is a son of Mrs. Frank G. Logan, 1150 Lake Shore drive, and the late Mr. Logan, capitalist. The divorce bill was drawn by Attorney William C. Boyden.

Reported Missing

GLORIA DICKSON.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 29 (AP).—Gloria Dickson, missing Hollywood actress, stopped here Wednesday night en route to the Pacific coast to visit with Cliff Edwards, who is making an appearance in a Lincoln theater, it was learned tonight. Her estranged husband, Perc Westmore, a film studio makeup expert, said in Los Angeles that he had not heard from her since Thursday, when she telephoned from New York saying she was ill and was leaving at once for Hollywood. In Lincoln, Miss Dickson explained that she stopped to visit with Edwards because "it would be nice to see a Hollywood face again."

LONDON, Feb. 29.—German coal en route to Italy in Italian ships will be seized as contraband by the British navy starting tomorrow, the government announced tonight. British-Italian relations, already somewhat delicate, were expected to become even more fragile under the pressure of this new policy.

The decision to seize the coal was said to have been based on the unsatisfactory progress of commercial treaty negotiations with Italy, which only a few days ago announced a new trade accord with Germany. This disclosure interrupted British-French negotiations with Italy and the return of the Italian ambassador to Rome a few days ago was regarded as highly significant. Tonight the London government announced that the trade negotiations had been suspended.

Refuses What British Want.

The British, during the negotiations, had allowed the coal shipments to continue in the hope that a satisfactory arrangement could be made whereby Italy would agree to take 3,000,000 tons of British coal in exchange for heavy industrial products. Italy, it was said, refused to deliver the supplies Britain wanted.

Now, the British declare, coal is clearly contraband and the government is well within its rights in preventing German export of it to Italy. The Italian answer is said to be that the coal is mined by Italians in Germany and represents only 25 per cent German ownership.

Newspapers admitted that strong protests from Italy might be expected. It was understood that Italy had been negotiating with American firms for the purchase of coal.

British-Belgian Deal.

Ronald H. Cross, minister of economic warfare, refused to deny a report that Britain, in a commercial treaty with Belgium, had agreed to the prewar volume of trade between Belgium and Germany in order that France might obtain the coke necessary to operate its Lorraine steel mills. Unless Germany agreed to deliver the coke to Belgium the latter would be unable to supply the coke in payment for 7,000,000 tons of iron ore from France.

Italy May Buy in America.

ROME, Feb. 29 (AP).—Italy, with the British navy standing between it and vital sources of coal in Germany, today was reported in commercial circles to be negotiating for the purchase of some 3,000,000 tons of bituminous coal in the United States to avert a fuel shortage.

Altho the negotiations were said to have been conducted by private interests, a government decision rejecting or approving the terms is considered likely within a few days.

Informed circles intimated that the coal deal, if consummated, might pave the way for revised trade relations between Italy and the United States. They indicated that Italy probably would seek tariff concessions on Italian wines, silks, fabrics, fiber, felt, and hats.

Inadequate Rail Facilities.

In addition to coal, Italy is interested in machinery for use in exploiting her own supplies of crude oil, scrap iron, and steel. Shipment of about 20,000 tons of American made steel plates was said to have been contracted for already for construction of four tankers ordered from Italy by a belligerent nation.

Commercial circles explained that limited rail facilities made it impossible to import sufficient coal from Germany by overland routes to meet Italian needs, and that the development of new sources was imperative.

Boon to American Mines.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 29 (AP).—A $13,500,000 piece of business would go to American mines and railroads if Italy carried out proposals to buy 3,000,000 tons of bituminous coal in the United States. Another $52,500,000, coal men said, would be required to move the coal across the Atlantic. A large portion of that sum, they estimated, would go to American owned shipping.

The figures they used were based on an estimated selling cost of $2.15 a ton for the coal itself, rail rates to Hampton Roads amounting to $2.35 and ocean freight rates of $17.50 a ton.

The unusually high ocean rates have been posted on the last two contracts for shipment of coal to Italy.

Italians Seek Coal

(Story in adjoining column.)

Private Italian sources are negotiating for the purchase of three million tons of American coal. That much coal would occupy the space filled by the Merchandise Mart, and would fill it a fifth again.

DENY REHEARING IN NEWSPAPER'S CONTEMPT CASE

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 29 [Special].—A petition for a rehearing of the Los Angeles Times case, in which the newspaper was held in contempt for publishing editorial comment on court cases before their final settlement, was denied today by the state Supreme court.

The conviction was upheld by the state Supreme court last Jan. 31. Two judges, Douglas L. Edmonds and Phil S. Gibson, who dissented in that decision also dissented in today's ruling. The denial exhausted the newspaper's resources in the state courts but its attorneys have said the case would be appealed to the United States Supreme court if necessary.

The Times was adjudged in contempt as a result of five editorials commenting on celebrated court cases. Superior Judge Emmet H. Wilson fined the Times company $400, Harry Chandler, president of the company, $200, and L. D. Hotchkiss, the paper's managing editor, $150. The Times, supported by the American Newspaper Publishers' association, opposed the contempt proceedings as an infringement of freedom of the press.

PARIS STUDENTS GATHER JUNK FOR MAKING OF GUNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 29.—The Latin quarter was combed today by a unique group of "junkmen"—1,000 university students who with pushcarts and one horse wagons made the rounds of private homes and shops collecting scrap iron to be melted down for armaments.

The day was "mi-careme," midlent, and it is traditionally celebrated by the students with confetti, champagne and high jinks in the streets. The war has put a damper on that, however. The Beaux Arts students who are usually the leading funmakers were foremost in the junk collecting brigade.

RUSSIANS REACH VIIPURI SUBURBS; CAPTURE 4 TOWNS

Red Bombers Rain Death on Inland Cities.

place, Finnish forces braced themselves on the Karelian isthmus front in what they said were stronger positions, massed artillery and mined the ice of Viipuri bay in a determined effort to prevent encirclement of Viipuri, the objective of the Russian invaders.

The Russians already have pounded their way up the western edge of the isthmus after taking Koivisto and other well fortified islands off the mainland.

The new Finnish defense precautions and the mining of the thick ice of Viipuri bay were aimed at preventing the Russians from using their newly won territory for a drive northwest across the frozen surface to a point to the west and rear of Viipuri.

Pay Dearly for Gains.

All noncombatants have been withdrawn from the village of Sakkijarvi, 25 miles west of Viipuri and from other villages on the west coast of the bay.

The Finnish high command's communique reported that the Red army, entering the fourth month of its great offensive, was forced to pay dearly for every inch of ground gained in the area south of Viipuri, while continued assaults on the eastern side of the isthmus were said to have been repulsed with heavy losses.

Elsewhere, the Finns said Russian attacks were thrown back northeast of Lake Ladoga, in the vicinity of Pitkaranta, and that more enemy strong points were captured at Kuhmo, in central Finland where some Russians are encircled.

Withstand Many Attacks.

The defenders, who have been withdrawing gradually to their more formidable positions between the Bay of Viipuri and the Vuoksi river, in the western part of the Karelian isthmus, yesterday withstood assaults by wave upon wave of Red troops. In addition to inflicting tremendous losses on these forces, the Finns said they smashed 14 soviet tanks.

At the eastern end of the Mannerheim line, in the Taipale area, the Russians ventured three mass attacks "in great force" which the Finns said ended in complete failure.

The Finns' isthmus line now runs roughly from Viipuri bay straight eastward to the Vuoksi river, which splits the heart of the isthmus. From there to Taipale the line follows the original first line of the Mannerheim defenses.

Farthest Advance 38 Miles.

Thus the Russians in three months of fighting have penetrated a distance ranging from about 38 miles on the western part of the isthmus to about 12 miles on the east, with most of their gains resulting from their furious and sustained February drive.

To bolster their efforts, the Russians were reported today to have hurled fresh troops—estimated in some quarters at fully 19 divisions, nearly 300,000 men—into the isthmus fighting.

Meanwhile, the Helsingfors newspaper Uusi Suomi reported that Moscow had broadened its demands on Estonia; and already has occupied the twin Pakri islands, near the soviet air base at Baltiski.

Russians Claim Capture of 4 Towns

BILL TO PROVIDE FINN LOAN GOES TO WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29 (AP).—The senate completed congressional action today on a bill to increase capital of the Export-Import bank, making possible additional loans to Finland and China.

The measure, which would double the existing $100,000,000 capital of the Export-Import bank, now goes to the White House.

The senate, which had passed the bill several days ago, today accepted house amendments permitting use of loan funds for financing commercial airplane purchases and forbidding extension of loans to nations in default on war debts.

Plan Portugal-Netherlands Air Link with U. S. Clippers

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 29 (AP).—Plans of the Netherlands K. L. M. Air Lines to establish regular service between Portugal and the Netherlands were disclosed today. The line hopes to establish its connections in time to carry passengers and mail from the Pan American Airways 100th Clipper crossing, probably the second week in March. Terminus of the line will be Oporto, Northern Portugal.

FINLAND CHARGES RED VIOLATIONS OF RULES OF WAR

Bombing of Open Towns Reported to League.

GENEVA, Feb. 29 (AP).—Finland today sent to the league of nations two notes accusing soviet Russia of violating the rules of war. One of the notes contained a long list of alleged Russian air bombardments of Finnish towns outside the war zone.

Rudolf Holsti, former Finnish foreign minister, who presented the notes to the league, said that his government desired only "that the story of Russian aggression against civilians be spread thru the civilized world."

Report 20,780 Bombs Dropped.

Russia has been expelled from the league after having been formally declared an aggressor against Finland.

"The soviet government," the first Finnish note declared, "has violated rules of warfare which habitually apply even to wars of this kind."

The note said that within two months of hostilities 20,780 bombs were dropped during 643 Russian air raids on 207 places behind the war zone.

Violate Neutral Islands.

The first seven pages of the memorandum were limited to describing what the Finns said were "open violations of all the rules of war" by soviet bombers and fighters.

The second note declared that Russia had violated, with at least five air bombardments, the neutrality of the Aaland Islands, which lie at the entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia between Finland and Sweden. Their neutrality was guaranteed by a 1921 international treaty sponsored by the league.

"Almost every day," the note said, "soviet planes bomb and machine-gun civil populations far behind the fighting zone."

FRANCE TO RATION FOOD; FINDS NEW BILLION FOR WAR

Sweeping Decrees Issued; Revalue Gold.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Paul Reynaud.

PARIS, Feb. 29.—France today put into effect a sweeping series of new decree laws to tighten its belt economically and financially to press the war against Germany, moved to the brink of food rationing and gained 50,000,000,000 francs [about $1,110,000,000] for its war chest by revaluation of its gold stocks and borrowing.

The French public tonight learned of the new measures thru a broadcast by Finance Minister Paul Reynaud, who said the economic measures adopted by the cabinet today would constitute a new economic charter for the country for the duration of the war. In addition to their rationing proposals, the decrees will close pastry shops three days weekly and provide aid for agriculture.

Plan Food Ration Cards.

Within a few days, Reynaud said, a census will begin preparatory to distribution of food ration cards. France already has three meatless days a week and on the other four days restaurants are forbidden to serve more than one meat dish per person. Other foods, however, have not been rationed, altho both Britain and Germany have rationed food for several months.

Beside curtailing consumption of bread and pastry—no small restriction for this bread eating people—the new régime will aim at resuscitation of war time economy by new plans for increasing agricultural and industrial production, stabilization of prices, reduction of imports, curtailing consumption of all goods and severer scrutiny of financing the country's expenses with respect to the outside world.

Revaluation of the gold stocks will give France a paper profit of about $660,000,000, while about $440,000,000 will be a loan without interest from the Bank of France.

Basis for Revaluation.

The decree said the Bank of France would revalue its gold stocks "on the basis of a weight of gold 23.34 milligrams, 900 thousandths fine, per franc."

The decree said the bank would carry out the revaluation in conditions foreseen by the tripower monetary accord of Sept. 25, 1936, by which the United States, Britain, and France would act together for the equilibrium of their respective monetary units.

The $660,000,000 revaluation profit will be used by France's exchange stabilization fund.

Reynaud explained that "for our domestic payments we have taken out part of the reserve which the treasury has at the Bank of France and which has resulted from the fact that in November, 1938, the gold stock was revalued at a price below its real value."

The new economic decree laws also will restrict the sale of liquors and considerably curtail train traffic for ordinary civilians.

War Economic to Date.

In his radio speech Reynaud emphasized that "up to the present it is an economic war which Germany is waging against us," and declared Adolf Hitler counted on indiscipline of Frenchmen and their unwillingness to make sacrifices to exhaust their resources and weaken their morale before he launched into full scale military action. Surveying the country's position after six months of war, Reynaud said bluntly:

"Financially we have held up. Economically, on the contrary, we have been slipping dangerously."

He attributed this "slipping" to the fact that production had dropped while consumption remained at peacetime levels and declared continuation of this would mean the danger of price rises and the "infernal circle" of inflation. It was to break out of this circle, he explained, that the decree laws were introduced.

Disappointment to Hitler.

"Rationing of the civil population is perhaps the thing for which we were least prepared," Reynaud admitted. "When the card system became general in Germany it was freely said here that that was a bad sign. Nobody enjoyed this state of mind among us more than M. Hitler."

Such unpleasant privations as restriction of the sale of alcohol and pastries three days a week were necessary to "disappoint Hitler's expectations," he explained. Restaurants as well as bakeries and pastry shops will be subject to the rationing restrictions.

One decree law lays down new measures for price control. Three others deal with increasing the agricultural output, especially providing more farm labor and equipment.

Provision also is made for greater employment of female labor. Already an estimated 280,000 women are working in French munition and aviation factories. The decrees also seek to prevent waste in civil and military administrations and to increase exports.

Reynaud asserted a commercial zone had been created for exchanges between Britain and France. "The Americans are not led astray by this arrangement," he added. "They understand that these monetary and economic accords are the germ of the future organization of Europe. Their sympathy is precious to us."

The French senate voted unanimously to eject from its membership Marcel Cachin, "the father of French communism," for failing to formally disavow communist allegiance. Sixty deputies who had not disavowed their allegiance to the communist party, outlawed in France after the outbreak of war, were voted out of their seats Feb. 20.

GEORGE T. SNYDER DIES.

Oregon, Ill., Feb. 29 [Special].—George T. Snyder, 55 years old, secretary of the Oregon High School Board of Education and former Ogle county farm adviser, died yesterday afternoon at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn. He was also a member of the Oregon library board. His wife and two sons survive.

AMERICA SENDS VAST SUPPLY OF COPPER TO REDS

New York, Feb. 29 [Special].—The extent of this country's wartime trade with Russia was further revealed today in figures relased by the department of commerce which showed that more than 55 million pounds of copper were shipped to the U. S. S. R. during January.

Disclosure of the record shipments, valued at $7,247,933, followed charges made recently in London that the soviet union, and possibly Germany, had a rich flow of supplies for war materials and guns moving from America across the Pacific to Vladivostok.

Pacific Blockade Feared.

Discovery of the source of the supplies raised the question of the extension of the British navy's contraband control to the Pacific ocean. The possibility of such a blockade in the Pacific, especially in view of the new trade statistics, will provide a new problem for American shipping officials and exporters.

The Pacific, expected to remain far from the scene of naval blockades, was not given combat area designations to exclude American ships or travelers when the new United States neutrality law was drawn up. The present disclosures, however, may result in the British government bringing pressure upon President Roosevelt to extend his combat area proclamation to include the Pacific ocean.

The Outgoing Ports.

The department of commerce figures show that of the more than 55 million pounds of copper exported to Russia in January, 53,205,785 pounds consisted of copper ingots produced in the United States. The shipments compare with 34,114,732 pounds of copper sent to Russia in December, 11,381,462 shipped in November, and the complete absence of any such shipments in October and September.

The statistics show that 38,464 pounds of the copper was shipped from New York and the remainder from other Atlantic ports and from Seattle and Tacoma, Wash. The Atlantic coast cargoes were routed first to Manzanillo, Mexico, for transshipment to Vladivostok.

During the same month of the record copper shipment, this country sent Russia $1,403,428 worth of foreign tin. The metal, which is not produced here, is highly necessary for the manufacture of war materials. These shipments were made despite the United States government's efforts to keep this valuable metal out of re-export channels.

It was further revealed that during January $11,313,000 worth of goods that included electrical machinery, brass, bronze, wheat, and molybdenum went westward to Russia. Molybdenum, produced in this country almost exclusively, is an important substance in the hardening of steel for war materials.

PREMIER ASSURES RUSSIANS TURKEY WILL NOT ATTACK

Spikes War Rumors; Calls Relations 'Good.'

Premier Saydam.

His broadcast address was interpreted immediately by diplomats, watching the near east for signs of spring military action, as notice to the British-French allies and Russia alike that Turkey is determined to stay out of the European war unless her own security is threatened.

Saydam denounced "evil intentioned propaganda" against Turkey's peace policy, and disavowed "aggressive intentions" by his country against Russia.

Recent national economy measures designed to prepare Turkey for any emergency, he insisted, had been interpreted falsely by "certain agencies" as meaning that Turkey wanted war.

Sees No Attack on Turkey.

"Has soviet Russia any intention of acting against us?" he asked. "Up to the present there have been no events or evidence to support such an intention."

He asserted all stories of any Russian-Turkish border incident were untrue. The premier did not mention Germany in his speech and declared that Turkey had undertaken no secret agreements.

"Turkey's policies always have been frank," Saydam declared. "Turkey never has yielded and never will yield to any combination contradictory to her own line of conduct."

Diplomatic circles took the view that that statement meant Turkey is ready to hold to her obligations as a nonbelligerent ally of Great Britain and France, but is not willing to be led by them into war before her own security is threatened.

Keep Fleets Out of Black Sea.

Saydam's remarks also were taken to mean that Turkey would refuse to permit the British and French fleet to enter the Black sea under any other terms than those agreed to under the Montreux agreement.

[Russia is a party to the Montreux agreement, ratified Nov. 9, 1936. It provides that the Dardanelles are closed to warships of belligerent nations unless those countries are carrying out instructions from the league of nations or providing aid for a victim of aggression under a mutual assistance pact concluded within the league structure.]

BOTH SIDES TELL OF BITTER FIGHTS ON WEST FRONT

PARIS, Feb. 29 (AP).—Bitter bursts of fighting on the western front were reported today by both the German and the French high commands.

The French said patrols were active west of the Vosges mountains and that there was firing from casements on both banks of the Rhine river.

HITLER DEMANDS DOMINATION OF CENTRAL EUROPE

Plans to Expound Theories to Welles Today.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 29. — When Adolf Hitler receives Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles as President Roosevelt's peace emissary, the Fuehrer will outline what his close collaborators have been describing as the "Monroe Doctrine of the German living space." The Germans assert this living space includes "the entire central European region in which the German people have done the constructive, economic, cultural, and civilizing work for centuries."

Welles will arrive in Berlin at 9:15 a. m. tomorrow. He left Zurich, Switzerland, this afternoon on his tour to find a basis for a sound and lasting peace in Europe.

During the undersecretary of state's conference with Hitler, the latter will expound his theories and demands for a regional reorganization of Europe in which the small nations must "agree to coöperate with their powerful neighbors."

Nazis Cite Conquests.

The beginning of the regional division of Europe, according to German plans, and "coöperation" by small nations with Germany has been made thru the incorporation of Austria into Germany and German control of Czech and Polish territories and populations.

Hitler, in his speech last Saturday, said Germany "does not want to oppress other nations." Nazis describe the resentment of Czechs and Poles against German rule as an outgrowth of "over-excited nationalism of certain small and middle size nations."

German statesmen will attempt to convince Welles that Polish and Czech patriotism has been fostered by England and France, whereas the Germans maintain that "for their own good these groups should coöperate with Germany."

The Boersenzeitung, organ of the German army, appeals to Germany's small neighbors to coöperate with her "for the sake of the holy law of peace and solidarity in the German living space."

German claims to "full living space in central Europe" is the revival of the dreams and plans of the German knights of the Teutonic order. They carried their rule far beyond the realm of the old German empire by sending their men into Russia, along the Baltic sea, into Scandinavia, to Hungary and, as the Germans claim, down to the Black sea.

For Welles' benefit, Nazi historians have worked out comparisons between what they consider the rôle of England in Europe today and England's rôle in America in the 18th century.

They assert that Hitler, by trying to gain control of German living space, "is doing the same as the Americans did when they fought for their independence under Washington."

Blame Britain for Civil War.

Germans liken their attempt to gain control of central Europe to America's Monroe Doctrine under which "America does not allow outsiders to mix in the affairs of Central and South America."

The Boerzenzeitung alleges that England fostered the American civil war "in an attempt to break up American unity."

If Welles seeks to escape the limelight and shun publicity during his visit to Berlin, he is getting what he wants. Few residents of the German capital know that he is coming.

Messages received in Berlin from Rome declare that "Welles is so stern and reserved that Germany's Italian friends were disappointed" in their conversations with him.

Boy, 11, Declines to Eat Corn Mush, Kills Himself

Kansas City, Kas., Feb. 29 (AP).—Harry Larsen, 11 years old, was discovered strangled to death in his home tonight a short time after his mother reported he ran from the kitchen screaming, "I won't eat any more corn meal mush." Dr. Lawrence E. Growney termed the death suicide. He said the boy's body was slumped on the bedroom floor, a rag bound tightly around his throat and the ends fastened to two door knobs. Mrs. Harry Larsen, widowed mother of seven, said she had been dependent upon part-time earnings of two older sons, food gifts of neighbors, and coal from a relief agency since her husband's death four years ago.

THIS, gentlemen, is a hawk's-eye view of Bond's Board of Directors. And to their lasting credit, notice that there's not a "Yes-Man" in the lot. Let's give them a big hand—they've just decided

BOND'S SPRING PRICES WILL NOT BE RAISED

Had you been listening, you'd have heard snatches like this . . . "Wool is way up" . . . "Many clothiers have already raised prices" . . . "What of it? Our big volume, both buying and selling, permits us to sit tight" . . . "Let's give Bond customers every possible edge, hold their business, make a lot of new friends" . . . "When it comes to raising prices, we want to be last, instead of among the first!" That clinched it.

And so, gentlemen, during the Spring months ahead, you'll continue to see the same friendly prices that have gladdened so many pocketbooks during the past 31 years. Backed up by the same sound, honest quality you've always found in Bond Clothes. America's largest clothier is taking no hasty advantage of "conditions"!

NO drop in quality, NO cut in service, NO boost in prices—that's your set-up in this man's store! Here's hoping it helps make your Spring a bit brighter.

PASS IT ON!

By CALEB

"ONE DOLLAR spent for a lunch lasts five hours; for a necktie, five weeks; a cap, five months; an auto, five years; for water power or water projects, five generations—but a dollar spent in the service of God lasts for eternity."

These words are Roger Babson's. At this time of the year, when charitable organizations are hard put to it to relieve even a small fraction of the distresses they see, they are good words to remember.

A stenographer in our store met an underprivileged little girl a winter or two ago. The little girl was frail, but bright. She had long, spindly legs, and beautiful blue eyes fringed with heavy, dark lashes. Her lot in life was a difficult one, as is always the case with a considerable percentage of the population at any time.

Last winter little Mildred was given a pretty doll for Christmas, together with things necessary—but not much more necessary—to her well-being in general.

This winter, the stenographer mentioned her little friend to several persons in the store. As a consequence, a good-sized box was made up of outgrown garments brought from several homes, and all this winter Mildred will be warmly dressed and comfortable.

What is more, appreciative of her good fortune, Mildred will pass along to some other little girl these comfortable garments of hers as soon as they are outgrown or have been replaced.

There is something tremendously impressive about the amount of good that snowballs from good turns passed on to others. There is a story of Benjamin Franklin's gift to a man in need. The recipient insisted it be a loan. Franklin in turn said in effect: "A loan, then, let it be. But don't pay me back. Pay it to someone whom you will find some day, needing it as you have needed it now. And be sure he pledges to pass it along later."

I have speculated many times on what Franklin's original loan may have done by now. A few dollars started in a good work and destined to be repeatedly employed in the same manner, can make widening circles of good influence that cover a surprising area.

There is an agreeable parallel to this multiplying of good things, in the way merchandising is taught to younger people in a business like ours. Marshall Field established precedents. In teaching the wisdom of his ways to others, traditions were born. They are kept alive because capable seniors pass their wisdom on to capable juniors, and the chain of well-being is made endless.

BRITAIN STICKS TO FUEHRER AS ITS ENEMY NO. 1

Writer Feels Full Impact of War in London.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 29.—You have got to come to London to get the full sensation that a real war is on. The effect is the result of an accumulation of impressions. You hear no guns and see no airplane battles, but somehow you feel the impact of the submarine attacks, the mine sinkings, and the naval patrol activity.

Too, you can visualize a great navy in action and realize what it means to a nation to be dependent upon that activity for its safety.

The Tribune correspondent has recently arrived in London from France. Paris newspapers devoted columns to Finland and only casually mentioned the war against Germany. But here no one has to be reminded that Britain is fighting Adolf Hitler, not Josef Stalin. Nor does one hear here, as often as in France, the expression "this funny war." One realizes immediately that this war is not funny for England or its people.

Little Mention of War.

In France people discussed the hardships caused by the war, but you could spend a whole evening with a French family and find the war itself hardly mentioned. There the ifs, buts, and maybes are exhausted and abandoned as academic. Here they are the chief topics of conversation.

Probably the traveler is initiated into this war mood by the secrecy and mystery in crossing the English channel. Leaving Paris the time of the train departure is known but not the time of arrival at the port of embarkation, nor when the boat leaves.

It is only 20 minutes before arrival at the port when the conductor, taking up the tickets, says: "You are stopping at the so and so hotel tonight." You are informed when customs officials will be on duty to check you out of France, but no announcement is made of the time of departure. Despite the French-British economic agreement you go thru the same formalities, even in declaring money, as tho going to a neutral country.

Preceded by Minesweepers.

Only 60 passengers board the boat but customs formalities require as much time as tho there were several hundred.

Preceded by minesweepers, the boat starts steaming across the channel. A special lookout man stands at the bow of the boat looking ahead for possible drifting mines. Before the boat clears the port all passengers are ordered to put on cork life belts. A shipping man warns: "If you must jump into the water with these belts go head first. This type of belt is being discarded. There have been a number of cases in which people jumping into the sea broke their necks. The cork strikes under the chin when the person goes into the water feet first."

Overhead planes patroled the course.

British Rules Are Rigid.

Passport regulations, customs and money control on the British side are unusually rigid. Even personal letters are scrutinized.

"How long do you intend to stay in London?" a passport control officer asks. You answer that it depends, because you would like to go where there is some action. "Well, maybe if you stay in London a while you will see some there," you are told. That phrase is echoed by others in London.

The boat train to London imparts a prewar atmosphere. Tea, toast, and cakes are served in the compartments.

So much has been said about the London blackout that it is surprising to discover that getting about is easier than anticipated. Tiny lights mark the streets and taxis, and pedestrians navigate by them as ships do at night between beacons and buoys.

ASSERTS BRITISH MERCHANT NAVY IS IN BAD SHAPE

LONDON, Feb. 29 (AP).—Sir Phillip Haldin, president of the chamber of shipping, told that organization today that British merchant shipping is in a far worse position than in the last war.

He blamed government "indifference." He said it is "as plain as a pikestaff" that Great Britain's shrunken mercantile marine will be inadequate at the end of the war without greater government aid.

"This country cannot exist without a strong mercantile marine," Halden warned.

Noting that Britain is paying higher rates for neutral tonnage than for British ships, thus enabling foreign ship owners to build reserves, he said increased government aid is imperative "now and in the future" or "our mercantile marine will sink to the level of a third rate power."

ASSERTS CZECHS FLED BESIEGED FRENCH LEGATION

Minister Doesn't End Hungarians' Vigil.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 29 (AP).—French Minister Pierre Guerlet said tonight that a group of Czecho-Slovak refugees had succeeded in slipping from their haven in his legation despite a line of Hungarian guards thrown around the building.

The police and detectives, apparently still believing that the refugees were inside the legation, maintained the virtual siege of the building, where they alleged there was a traffic in French passports for Czecho-Slovakians.

All strangers were halted on entering or leaving the legation and at least one American caller was followed into the legation hallway by a policeman who asked: "Are you a Czech?"

Minister Protests.

Guerlet protested to the Hungarian foreign office against "transgression of diplomatic immunity" by intrusion of the police into the legation.

There was some difference about the number of refugees. The police said 40 of them were harbored in the building. But Guerlet said:

"I do not know how many Czechs were here but I think it was 10 or 12. I have reason to believe they all escaped safely while I was with American Minister John F. Montgomery."

Accuses Germans.

The French minister said he thought "Germans are behind this trouble."

Germany was said to have held that most of the refugees are former army officers or reservists seeking to join the Czecho-Slovak legion in Paris to fight Germany for reconstitution of their dismembered republic.

CHINESE SCALE WALLS IN NIGHT; RECAPTURE CITY

HONGKONG, Feb. 29 (AP).—Scaling walls in a daring night attack and battling the Japanese garrison in furious street fighting, Chinese recaptured the Kwangtung province city of Tenghai, the central [Chinese] News agency reported today.

Tenghai, 12 miles northeast of Swatow on the South China coast, was occupied by the Japanese five months ago. Japanese officials said the Chinese had left 2,400 dead after fighting near the Kwangtung-Kwangsi border. They had reported Monday that about 30,000 Chinese were believed trapped on that front 60 miles south of Nanning.

Nicaragua Uncovers Red Plot; Arrests 13 Radicals

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 29.—Juan José Meza, reputed communist leader in Central America, and 12 other radicals—communists and fascists—were arrested today when the government discovered an alleged communistic plot and seized a printing press and subversive literature in a waterfront club in Managua.

7 Million Facing Starvation in Poland, Hoover Declares

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29.—Seven million inhabitants of conquered Poland will face starvation this spring unless $50,000,000 worth of foodstuffs are supplied them, former President Herbert Hoover, told the house foreign affairs committee today. The United States must provide 10 to 20 million dollars of this total, Mr. Hoover declared.

Herbert Hoover.

The committee is considering seven bills authorizing the appropriation of varying amounts up to $20,000,000 for aid to Polish war refugees.

The former President appeared before a congressional committee for the first time since he was secretary of commerce in the Coolidge administration. The crowd in the hearing room applauded him warmly when he took the witness chair.

Finland needs aid to the amount of $10,000,000 for food, Mr. Hoover said.

Denies Involvement Threat.

Asked by Chairman Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.] whether sending supplies to foreign nations might draw this nation into the European war, Mr. Hoover replied with emphasis:

"Such humanitarian assistance embraces no threat of involvement in Europe's wars. If we take a purely humanitarian attitude about it, we are not traveling in the direction that leads toward entanglement in war or anything else. As far as I'm concerned, I'm prepared to feed women and children and I don't care of what race they are."

The dismemberment of Poland by Germany and Russia has left the central section, that area which may be set up as a puppet state by Adolf Hitler, in a precarious situation, Mr. Hoover declared. The region, he said, has been crowded by the migration of Jews and Poles and some 12 to 14 million persons are now concentrated there.

Points to Difficulties.

Mr. Hoover discussed the difficulties involved in getting food to the people who actually need it in Poland.

"We as a people," he said, "are naturally not willing that food supplies at our cost shall be distributed in Poland unless they are distributed with justice to all races and to all parts of the population.

"The Germans, on the other hand, are naturally insistent that any group engaged in operations of this kind shall be completely neutral in their attitudes and not be engaged directly or indirectly in enterprises that might militate against the German cause.

"If the Poles are to be saved from sheer starvation, some sort of trusteeship that is agreeable to all of the nations concerned will have to be erected."

Favors Flexible Program.

Mr. Hoover said he thought it would be desirable, in formulating legislation, to leave to the President the determination of the organization to be charged with the task. The activities of the Red Cross, he said, are limited to medicines, medical supplies, and clothes.

Asked whether relief should be extended to other areas in the world, the former President said that Finland is now in need.

"I have no doubt that the whole of Europe will be an area of starvation when the war is over," he said.

INDIA WILL GET $136,000,000 TO ADD TO DEFENSES

LONDON, Feb. 29 (AP).—The British government today announced assistance amounting to $136,000,000 is being extended for modernizing Indian defense forces. One-fourth of the sum will be considered a five year loan. Britain considers that India should meet the costs of special defense measures undertaken for India's interests during the war, but will contribute toward maintenance of Indian troops outside India. Some now are stationed in Egypt. The annual Indian army grant remains at its 1939 level of $8,000,000. The defense program is to cover five years.

SWISS ARREST NUMBER 1 NAZI AS GERMAN SPY

SCHAFFHAUSEN, Switzerland, Feb. 29 (AP).—Switzerland's No. 1 Nazi, Robert Tobler, a Zurich lawyer and doctor, was arrested tonight and charged with espionage in behalf of Germany. Tobler is head of the Swiss National Front, a Nazi type party. He once was a member of parliament. Authorities said he transmitted military information to Germany. Lotte Gerlach, a woman secretary employed by his party's newspaper, which is published here, also was arrested for carrying military information to Germany.

ROOSEVELT ENDS CRUISE AT PORT IN FLORIDA TODAY

ABOARD U. S. S. LANG AT SEA, Feb. 29 (AP) [Via wireless].—President Roosevelt disclosed today he would end his southern cruise at Pensacola, Fla., at about noon tomorrow and would depart by train for Washington, arriving Saturday afternoon.

The President will complete a 15 day cruise covering 4,000 miles of saltwater journeying, a trip which provided an opportunity for a thoro inspection of Panama canal defenses.

The cruiser Tuscaloosa, escorted by the destroyers Lang and Jouett, is expected to bring the President and his aids into Pensacola bay shortly before noon.

The President will board a special train for Washington in midafternoon. The Tuscaloosa cruised leisurely across the placid Gulf of Mexico this afternoon and was about 300 miles out of Pensacola at noon today.

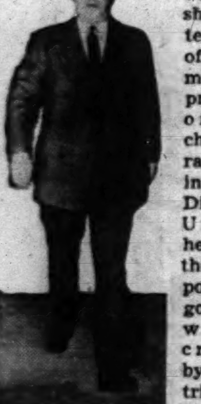
IGOE ON STAND IN FIXING TRIAL; TELLS OF 'FEUD'

Tilts Between Tax Agents and Prosecutors Bared.

Federal Judge Michael Igoe, who rose to his present position on the bench from the United States district attorneyship, testified yesterday in behalf of two of his former assistant prosecutors now on trial on charges of operating a case fixing ring in the District court. Under subpena he testified for the defense in opposition to the government and was vigorously cross examined by Assistant District Attorney Martin Ward, who also had served under him.



Michael Igoe.

The accused former prosecutors are Daniel D. Glasser and Norton I. Kretske. Co-defendants with them are Alfred Roth, attorney; Anthony Horton, colored, a bond runner, and Louis Kaplan, an alcohol peddler. Federal Judge Patrick Stone is presiding.

Session Is Dramatic.

Yesterday's session was one of the most dramatic since the start of the trial a month ago. A shift in the fortunes of legal warfare found Prosecutor Ward questioning his former boss in an effort to show why two of his former colleagues should be sent to the penitentiary for taking bribes to influence the outcome of bootleg cases.

On direct examination, Judge Igoe told of the old feud between the district attorney's office and the alcohol tax unit headed by the veteran administrator, E. C. Yellowley. The defense contends that the case fixing charges against Kretske and Glasser are outgrowths of this dispute and were instigated by the alcohol unit.

Constant Friction Charged.

There was constant friction between the two offices, the witness said. Often cases prepared by the agents were unsatisfactory, he asserted, and the testimony of witnesses was at variance with the agents' reports.

Judge Igoe also told of a special report on a ring of bootleggers which was prepared by Thomas Bailey, special alcohol agent sent here from Washington. He said he saw the report in January, 1938, and indicated from the stand that he did not think much of it.

Bailey, who is a retired lieutenant colonel in the army and a winner of the Distinguished Service medal, has previously testified that his report was not drafted until April of that year. It was during this period that Judge Igoe was campaigning futilely for the Democratic nomination for the United States senate.

Lay Suppression to Bribery.

The government charges that Glasser pigeonholed Bailey's report because he had already accepted bribe money from some of the bootleggers named in it.

On cross-examination Prosecutor Ward's strategy was plain, according to courtroom observers. He merely tried to get Judge Igoe to say he could not keep track of all the activities of his various assistants. But this Judge Igoe refused to admit in so many words.

He testified he personally decided on what was to be done about all cases involving the district attorney's office, holding two conferences daily for this purpose. After a long verbal duel with Ward Judge Igoe did agree, however, that he had relied on his assistants to keep him advised about the cases.

TRAPPED BY RAIL MISHAP, 2 ADMIT 30 BURGLARIES

Chicago Lawn police said yesterday that two young men arrested Wednesday night when their automobile stalled on a railroad track had confessed to more than a dozen burglaries in recent months. Those held are Robert A. Roberts, 22 years old, of 7729 Fielding avenue, and Noble H. Wood, 21, of 6424 Komensky avenue.

Their last effort was their most ambitious. On Wednesday evening they broke into a roller skating rink at 8129 South Halsted street and stole four pairs of roller skates, a chewing gum machine, a telephone coin box and a 400 pound drill press.

As they drove with their heavy loot on the Chicago Belt railroad right of way at 75th street and Kedzie avenue, their car stalled. An approaching freight train came to a stop only a few feet from them. By the time the train crew lifted the car from the tracks, the police had arrived.

Seized After Holdup

Mrs. Murray with her cigar in Town Hall station.

A cigar smoking bride, who police say drove a car for her alleged bandit husband, was seized with him by park police last night. She is Mrs. Mary Baker Murray, 22 years old, 225 West 65th street. Her husband is Thomas Murray, 30, an admitted ex-convict.

Thomas Murray.

According to police, Murray attempted to hold up James Peddie, 50, a traffic engineer for the park district, in front of Peddie's home at 4510 Magnolia avenue. Peddie took away his gun—a frontier type weapon, police said. Then Murray, according to police, got away in a car driven by Mrs. Murray.

They were seized shortly afterward by Park Policemen Phil Jeffers and Elmer Fredrich. Cartridges were found in Murray's pockets and Mrs. Murray's purse. In addition, a long bladed knife was found in her purse. At the Town Hall station she refused to talk until police gave her a cigar. Police said the two earlier had robbed Henry Taggart, 7212 Indiana avenue, near his home. They were in Taggart's car when arrested. The Murrays said they were married on Feb. 21.

NEW TRIAL DATE SET FOR 2 FREED BY FIXED JURY

Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court yesterday set April 2 as the trial date for Samuel Orlando, Democratic precinct captain, and Joseph Vinci, his assistant, charged with vote frauds in connection with the judicial election last June 5 in the 52d precinct of the 11th ward. Orlando and Vinci were acquitted of similar charges, but indicted on new ones when it was learned that the jury which acquitted them had been fixed.

Five other persons named in the original indictment and another indicted since, also will face trial with Orlando and Vinci.

Judge Prystalski set the trial date after overruling a motion to quash the new indictments against Vinci and Orlando. Both Orlando and Vinci also face bribery and conspiracy charges in connection with the jury fix.

TELLS OF FATAL HOLDUP SHOOTING IN WHICH 3 DIED

John Frjelich, 18 years old, testified yesterday in the trial of Anton Kaufman, 27, accused of participation in the fatal shooting of Lieut. Gene Iattoni of the Calumet City police. Iattoni was killed when he broke up the attempted holdup of a Calumet City tavern. Frjelich already has pleaded guilty to a murder charge.

Frjelich, testifying before Judge John F. Bolton and a Criminal court jury, described how he and Frank Hussar, 32, also slain in the holdup, entered the store and Kaufman remained outside in the car. Frjelich himself fired one shot, he said. He was hit seven times.

John Fusner of Hammond, Ind., bystander, also was killed in the fusillade of shots fired by bandits and police. The holdup attempt took place Sept. 23.

23 NAMED IN SUIT OVER BERWYN'S FUND SHORTAGE

Ask Accounting by Past and Present Officials.

Berwyn's special assessment fund scandal, involving an alleged shortage of more than $500,000, shifted yesterday from the suburban council chambers and the Criminal court to the Circuit court, where a suit for an accounting was filed against a total of 23 defendants.

The suit named Ernest W. Mau, Berwyn treasurer; Matthew A. Berg, former treasurer [two terms], and six other former treasurers; George Strnad, city controler, and four of his predecessors, including Treasurer Mau who once held that office, and 11 bonding companies.

Charge Funds Diversion.

The public officials and former office holders were accused of diverting to their own uses large sums which were collected for the special assessment fund since 1921. Just how much was taken is unknown, according to the suit.

The bill was filed in the name of Otto Dusek, a Berwyn taxpayer. It asks the court to demand an accounting so that the exact amount of the shortage can be ascertained.

The shortage was placed at $513,498 in the recent trial of Mau and Berg, who were accused of embezzling $3,726 from the special assessment fund. Their trial ended on Feb. 14 when the jury signed an instructed verdict of not guilty after the state announced that prosecution was being dropped because of remarks by Judge William J. Lindsay, the trial judge.

Books Reported in Muddle.

Attorneys for Mau and Berg, during the trial, introduced in evidence an audit showing a shortage of $513,498 from 1921 to July, 1938. The lawyers contended the municipal books were in such a muddle it was impossible to determine who was responsible for the alleged shortages. State prosecutors said all items, except those on which Mau and Berg were tried, had been barred from prosecution by the three year statute of limitations.

The defendants, who have held the treasurer's office, and their terms, are: Joseph Vistain, 1921-'23; Charles Zitnik, 1923-'25; Berg, 1925-'27; Herbert E. Blackwell, 1927-'29; Olaf K. Jorgenson, 1929-'31; John Hyman, 1931-'33; Leslie M. Moysey, 1933-'35; Berg, 1935-'37, and Mau, since 1937.

Those holding the controler's office were: Emil Straks, 1925-'31; Otto Pecha, 1931-'33; Albert Novotny, 1933-'34; Mau, 1934-'37, and Strnad, whose term expires in 1941.

SONSTEBY PICKS NINE MUNICIPAL COURT ADVISERS

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of Municipal court yesterday named the nine judges who will act as his advisory committee. They are Judges Frank M. Padden, Matthew D. Hartigan, Oscar S. Caplan, John V. McCormick, John Gutknecht, John J. Rooney, Stephen Adamowski, Edward S. Scheffler, and Lambert Hayes.

The first advice Justice Sonsteby will ask, he said, is on the city council proposal that summons be tied to the door handles of automobiles of parking law violators. The practice, in use in other cities, requires the recognition of the Municipal court that placing a ticket on the car in the absence of the driver constitutes legal service. The committee will meet to consider the question on Tuesday.

Justice Sonsteby said that, while the committee can have no executive function under the law, it is needed to provide a wider viewpoint on problems of public interest.

U. S. JURY INDICTS SKIDMORE AGAIN FOR TAX EVASION

Charge Total Now Due to Government $822,484.

William R. Skidmore, Chicago's most noted junk dealer, was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday for the second time on a charge of evading payment of income taxes.

William R. Skidmore.

The new indictment charges Skidmore, reputed "front" for the gambling syndicate, neglected to pay $295,648 due on a net income for 1938 of $409,210. By adding a 50 per cent penalty of $147,824 and interest of $17,739, the government arrives at a total due it of $461,212.

Skidmore was indicted last fall for failure to pay $210,118 in income taxes for the years 1933 to 1937, inclusive. This sum, together with interest and penalties of $151,154 and the $461,212 claimed for 1938, brings the total now demanded by the government to $822,484.

Skidmore's attorney, William Goldstein, was indicted early last month on a perjury charge in connection with the federal government's investigation into Skidmore's income. Andrew J. Creighton, manager of two south side gambling houses, was indicted Wednesday for failure to pay income taxes of $132,460 for the years 1936 thru 1938.

Charge False Return Filed.

According to yesterday's indictment Skidmore filed a false return in 1938 and paid a tax of only $1,446.

Attorney Goldstein and Julius [Lovin' Putty] Anixter, whose name is often coupled with Skidmore's when gambling is mentioned, appeared in the clerk's office shortly after the indictment was returned before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. Anixter posted $10,000 bond and signed as surety, giving his address as 113 North Homan avenue. Skidmore later signed the bond, which was approved by Federal Judge John P. Barnes.

The indictment, which states that Skidmore also used the names Frank Vase and Frank Bates, declares that his gross income for 1938 was $491,318. The breakdown, as given in the indictment follows:

Dividends	$ 20.00
Interest	500.00
Income from partnership	2,309.82
Rents	3,290.69
Income from junkyard	2,996.40
Gambling	31,300.00
Currency [expended]	167,733.58
Other income	303,000.00
Total	$511,150.49
Loss at farms	19,832.87
Gross income	$491,317.62

The government permitted a deduction of $1,108 for other taxes paid during the year, leaving a net income of $490,210 on which the total tax due was based.

Explain Loan to Police Captain.

Government agents, explaining Skidmore's income, said that the interest revenue was made up of two $250 payments made by Capt. Thomas Harrison of the Chicago avenue station on a $10,000 loan made to Harrison against the latter's home in the Sauganash district in the northwest part of the city.

Capt. Harrison declined last night to comment on this revelation, pointing out that he has been a grand jury witness, but several of his friends came forward with an explanation.

Capt. Harrison, they said, built his Sauganash home in 1935. The captain is a bricklayer by trade. He did much of the work himself. He was then a police sergeant. He did not have enough money, and one day he mentioned to Attorney Goldstein, an old friend, that he would have to give a $10,000 mortgage. Capt. Harrison and Goldstein have known each other 17 years. According to the friends Goldstein said: "I'm a lawyer; I'll arrange a mortgage." He did so. The interest rate was 5 per cent.

No Payments on Principal.

Capt. Harrison has paid the interest since in semi-annual installments of $250. He has paid nothing on the principal. When the loan was made, Harrison's friends say, Harrison had no reason to believe that the money came from Skidmore. All the papers and all the payments were made out to Attorney Goldstein.

The partnership income came from business done by the firm of Burnstein & Skidmore, dealers in "precious metals," as the junk trade refers to copper, brass, and lead.

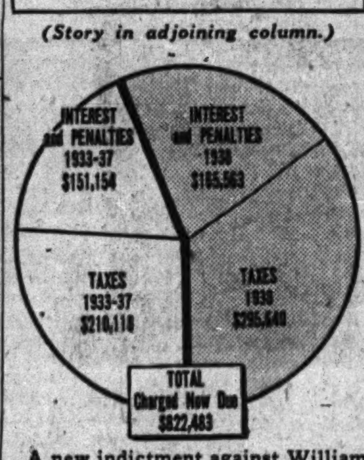
The $31,300 which Skidmore admitted having obtatined thru his gambling connections, was the result, he told governments agents, of having financed gamblers in return for 50 per cent of their wininngs. If they lost they paid back what Skidmore had advanced, he is said to have told federal authorities.

Skidmore's home, agents said, is at 3500 Lake Shore drive. The address for Skidmore's Lawndale Scrap Iron and Metal company is 2840 South Kedzie avenue.

United States Attorney William J. Campbell, who prepared the Skidmore case, said that further gambling indictments are in prospect.

Claimed for Taxes

(Story in adjoining column.)



A new indictment against William (Billy) Skidmore yesterday raised to $822,483 the amount the government claims in unpaid income taxes, interest, and penalties. Shaded portion covers share claimed in new indictment.

BODY OF MISSING COUNTY HOSPITAL PATIENT IS FOUND

The body of a woman patient who had been sought since last Saturday night when she disappeared from her bed in County hospital was found yesterday in a narrow balcony under a third floor window of the hospital. One of her legs was broken, but the cause of her death was not determined.

The woman was Mrs. Verna Dwyer, 50 years old, 2019 Melrose street, who entered the hospital Feb. 12. After she disappeared, clad only in a kimona, Dr. Ole C. Nelson, assistant warden of the hospital, ordered a search for her. But she was not found until yesterday when John Brejcha, a window washer working on the fifth floor level, glanced down and saw the body.

Dr. Nelson said she might have fallen from a fourth floor window, suffered the leg injury and remained unconscious, dying of exposure. He said the body was lying in the balcony in such a manner that it could not be seen, even by a person looking out of a third floor window.

FIND UNLICENSED BONDSMEN ACTED IN 1,600 CASES

See Lack of Co-ordination in City Court Mixup.

A lack of coördination between the Municipal court and the state insurance department in regulating professional bondsmen was disclosed yesterday, shortly after Assistant State's Attorney Melvin Rembe filed a petition in the Criminal court objecting to any approval of bonds made by the Victory Bonding company.

This company has on file before Judge James J. Fardy a request that it be issued a certificate of good character. The certificate is a necessary preliminary to the issuance of a state license, without which neither individuals nor corporations may legally go into the bail bond business in Illinois. Judge Fardy is to hear the matter next Tuesday.

Schedule 1,600 Bonds.

Rembe asserted in his answer that three of the four members of the firm had scheduled 1,600 bonds in the Municipal court since last Aug. 1, and that they had not had any license during that period. These members are Arthur Carroll, Gene Gary, and Ben Sockel. A fourth member of the firm, Rembe stated, is Julius Benvenuti. Last July Benvenuti was refused a character certificate after he admitted to Judge Michael L. McKinley that he was in the gambling business prior to 1928.

A spokesman for Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court said the company had been licensed prior to Aug. 1 and that the state insurance department had issued no notice of its failure to get a renewal in July, as required by law.

Authorize Own Bondsmen.

Sonsteby was quoted as saying that the Municipal court judges authorized their own bondsmen and that once a bondsman was found acceptable he kept that status until there was formal notice of his failure to qualify with the state. He indicated the lack of a working arrangement between the court and the insurance department with respect to notification on changes in the status of bondsmen.

The Municipal court was notified of the Victory company's present status by State's Attorney Courtney on Jan. 26. Sonsteby reported that its members are now under suspension as bondsmen and have not scheduled any bail bonds since Jan. 29.

INDIANA PRISON DOCTOR SEIZED AS DOPE SELLER

Arrest Spurs Drive on Big Ring.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 29 (AP).—The arrest of Dr. Elmer John Kalal, chief surgeon at the Indiana reformatory at Pendleton, on charges of violating the federal narcotics act, spurred investigators tonight in an inquiry to determine the extent of a narcotics ring operating in Indiana and Illinois.

Joseph V. Walsh, narcotics agent from the Chicago office, reported the 37 year old surgeon had purchased more narcotics within the last year "than all of the physicians in Indianapolis."

Walsh asserted that sales had been made to "wholesalers" for distribution to peddlers in Indianapolis, Chicago, and several northern Indiana cities.

Arrested at Office.

Dr. Kalal was arrested last night at his downtown Pendleton office by state and federal authorities who reported that he sold an undercover federal agent two ounces of cocaine and two bottles of powdered opium. A six week investigation prefaced the arrest.

Arraigned before United States Commissioner Fae W. Patrick here, Dr. Kalal waived examination and was remanded to Marion county jail in default of $10,000 bond.

As chief surgeon at the reformatory hospital, it was explained, Dr. Kalal was able to purchase narcotics without the usual license restrictions placed on private physicians.

Gene Ryan, state narcotics inspector, said the inquiry would be resumed tomorrow at Pendleton. Equipment and supplies in the surgeon's office have been impounded by federal authorities, he added.

Inmates Not-Involved.

Ryan and Gov. M. Clifford Townsend asserted it had been established that no sales had been made to inmates of the reformatory.

Dr. Kalal, who was dismissed immediately after his arrest, had been chief surgeon since Feb. 1, 1939 Before that he had been employed at the state school for the feeble-minded at Fort Wayne for about two years.

Both federal and state officers indicated additional arrests would be made.

Accused Rapist Whose Wife Killed Self Gets 3 Years

Charles J. Wolowicz, 4216 South Talman avenue, found guilty on a charge of raping a girl, 13 years old, was sentenced yesterday by Chief Justice Prystalski in Criminal court to three years in the penitentiary. Wolowicz's wife, Irene, committed suicide ten days ago, after he was accused of the crime. Wolowicz had denied the charge despite testimony given by the girl herself and by an eye-witness to the alleged attack.

TRUANT, 17, SHOT BY POLICEMAN DAD PUT ON TRAIL

Fights Duel with Pistol He Stole from Father.

Martin Erickson Jr., 17 years old, has been carried on school records as an incorrigible truant. Yesterday he graduated into serious criminal activity and, in a pistol duel with a policeman, was shot and seriously wounded.

Martin Erickson Jr.

An effort by the boy's father, Martin Erickson Sr., 7817 Marquette avenue, to keep his son from trouble with the law laid the groundwork for the shooting. On Monday the elder Erickson went to the South Chicago police and asked that his son be apprehended.

"He stole my pistol," said Martin Sr., who is 67 years old. "Get him before he tries violence with it."

Until yesterday the boy evaded searchers. Then, in the late afternoon, Detectives James Little and Timothy Dunn went to the Erickson home. In a passageway beside it Little met Martin Jr. Each had his pistol out.

"I'm a policeman," said Little. "Surrender. Don't make me shoot."

"If you try to stop me I'll shoot," declared young Erickson.

Then he fled. Little followed, unwilling to fire on a neighborhood boy he knew. The chase continued until they were near 79th street and Manistee avenue.

There, according to Little, the young man fired at him. The bullet zipped thru the hat of Little, who was in civilian clothing. The detective returned the fire. Erickson was struck four times, three bullets hitting him in the right side and one in the right thigh.

Even so, he distanced Little and got into a taxicab. He rode home. Other policemen were waiting for him there and he gave up, altho he had the pistol reloaded from a homemade bandolier he carried. He was taken to the Southtown hospital and later to the Bridewell hospital.

Martin Sr. said his son had been enrolled at the Washburn Trade school, but was persistently a truant.

TWO FEDERAL AGENTS IN CHICAGO RESIGN TO BEGIN LAW PRACTICE

Two federal agents resigned yesterday to resume private law practice in Chicago. They are David L. Bazelon, an assistant United States attorney in charge of civil tax cases since 1935, and Seymour Simon, for the last two years special assistant to the United States attorney general.

David L. Bazelon.

Bazelon will have offices at 231 South La Salle street. Simon will be located at 33 South Clark street.

HUNT IN ST. LOUIS FOR O'HARE CASH FINDS NONE OF IT

A safe deposit box of Edward J. O'Hare, Sportsman's Park race track head who was shot to death here by gangsters last Nov. 8, was opened in St. Louis, Mo., yesterday. It was reported that it contained nothing valuable.

The listed contents included 600 shares of worthless stock, copies of some old trust agreements and a promissory note of no value. O'Hare's estate, admitted to probate in Chicago, was estimated at $437,000. A son and two daughters were named heirs.

No clew to the killers of O'Hare has been found.

BRAND SNOOPING UNDER COVER OF CENSUS ILLEGAL

Senators Press Battle on Income Questions.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29.—Members of a senate commerce subcommittee investigating census snooping today indicated serious doubt as to the legality of questions relating to the private financial affairs of individuals which are included in the population schedule for the 1940 decennial census.

Senator J. W. Bailey.

The subcommittee is holding hearings on a resolution by Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] expressing the sense of the senate that two questions relating to income should be eliminated from the schedule.

Senator Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.], chairman of the full committee on commerce, was one of those who questioned the legality of the income inquiries. Senator Bailey warned officials of the census bureau that they were facing a serious legal question and said they might be defeated in the courts.

Urged Not to Answer.

"We have notice here from Senator Tobey that he's advising 4,000 persons not to answer these questions," said Chairman Bailey.

South Trimble Jr., solicitor of the commerce department, admitted that the census bureau is bound by the restrictions of the act of June 18, 1929, which provides that the "Fifteenth and subsequent censuses shall be restricted to inquiries relating to population, to agriculture, to irrigation, to drainage, to distribution, to unemployment, and to mines."

Trimble argued, however, that previous acts of congress had given the term "population" a comprehensiveness broad enough to embrace questions relating to income. In previous statutes, he declared, congress enumerated the questions to be asked, while the act of 1929 left the "number, form, and subdivision of the inquiries" to the census director and the secretary of commerce.

Calls Questions Legal.

Trimble admitted that the act of 1919, providing for the 1920 census, made no provision for a census of incomes, but cited still earlier laws directing inquiries relating to the financial status of individuals, such as the ownership of property and the amount of incumbrances thereon. From this premise, he argued that the census bureau had authority to include the questions relating to income.

Senator Bailey, however, said he did not understand how the census bureau could read the provisions of past acts into the 1929 law placing a restriction on future censuses.

It is Senator Tobey's contention that the questions relating to income are not only unauthorized by law, but would violate the constitutional right of citizens to privacy in their personal affairs.

Director Under Fire.

William L. Austin, director of the census, was confronted by Senator Tobey with his testimony before a congressional committee in 1928 when he deeclared that questions relating to personal indebtedness in a special farm census taken in 1925 had produced "very unsatisfactory results." Austin testified at that time that the farmers generally told the census enumerators "that's none of your business."

"I was opposed to those questions," Austin testified today. "We didn't want to ask them; they were forced upon us."

The census director, however, defended the income questions in the 1940 census schedule as being essential to an accurate survey of employment and unemployment—the adequacy as well as the extent of employment.

Enumerators Sent to Jail.

Austin said the census bureau had never found it necessary to send any one to jail for refusing to answer questions, altho many persons had been taken into court before consenting to answer.

"We've sent some of our own people to jail for violating the law," he testified, referring to census enumerators, supervisors, directors, etc.

Senator Tobey quoted Austin as saying in a radio address: "These are not our questions; they're your questions." He asked whether that was a fair statement.

"I'd say that statement was exaggerated," Austin replied.

Cathrine Curtis, national director of Women Investors in America, Inc., told the committee that American women would go to jail rather than answer the "burocratic snooping" questions.

Leap Year Day

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

August Barancani and bride of yesterday at county building. They will have only one wedding anniversary every four years. They will live at 228 East Huron street.

Mrs. Frances Murphy and baby born to her early yesterday in Lewis Memorial hospital.

February took its extra count on the calendar yesterday. Significant of the day that occurs but once in a cycle of four years were these events:

Nine couples proclaimed their "I do's" before Judge John J. Wallace in the Marriage court. Chief Sidney Summerfield issued 79 marriage licenses.

In both Aurora and Joliet women took over the city government for the day. The women aldermen at Aurora rushed thru an ordinance proclaiming the bachelor state a capital offense, while Joliet reported less rash goings on under its female officials.

The first baby reported in Chicago was a girl, born just after midnight in Lewis Memorial Maternity hospital to Mrs. Frances Murphy, 7211 Wabash avenue.

New York Lawyer Kills Self in East Side Apartment

New York, Feb. 29 (AP).—Wilton Lloyd Smith, 45 years old, lawyer and clubman, was found shot to death today in his penthouse apartment, and the police termed it a suicide. Mrs. Smith, the former Marjorie Fleming, was in another room of the apartment—which is in fashionable Grace Square, near the East river on the upper east side—when she heard the shot. Smith had been under treatment for a nervous disorder. Born at Elmira, N. Y., he was educated at Princeton and Harvard. He was an artillery captain in the world war.

FUNERAL IS HELD IN JACKSON FOR JAMES BENNETT

Veteran Reporter Buried Near His Parents.

Jackson, Mich., Feb. 29 [Special].—Funeral services for James O'Donnell Bennett, veteran Chicago reporter who had been a brilliant member of the staff of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for 25 years, were held this afternoon in this city, which was his birthplace.

St. Paul's Episcopal church, where he was baptized, was the scene of the services. Burial was in Mount Evergreen cemetery, 100 years old, where his parents are buried. The ritual of the Book of Common Prayer, about which Mr. Bennett wrote a chapter in his most widely read work, "Much Loved Books," was read by the Rev. Charles E. Ramsey. "According to the custom of the Episcopal church, there was no eulogy.

The funeral party from Chicago included three members of THE TRIBUNE's editorial staff, John Watts, Thornton Smith, and Charles Collins, friends of Bennett's for many years, who served as pallbearers, with three of his former associates at the University of Michigan, all residents of Jackson—Dr. G. H. Glover, A. C. Bloomfield, and Edwin Reynolds.

The editors of the Jackson-Citizen Patriot, for which Mr. Bennett did his first reporting, were among the congregation.

Mrs. Bennett, her sister, Miss Florence Hayward, and the others in the party from Chicago, returned there this evening.

FIND SUBSTANCE BELIEVED TO BE A NEW ELEMENT

Berkeley, Cal., Feb. 29 (AP).—The discovery of what appears to be one of the two elements long missing from the roster of chemical substances was made known today by the University of California in connection with the presentation of the Nobel physics prize to Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, father of the atom-smashing cyclotron, which was instrumental in the discovery.

The substance was tentatively called eka-iodine. It supposedly fits into a vacant space, number 85, in the periodic table, reserved for the missing relative of iodine, chlorine, bromine, and fluorine. Dr. Birge predicted the other missing element eventually would be found by atom smashers to complete the official roster of the 92 substances. Element number 61 still is listed as undiscovered.

Discovery of a form of carbon which remains radio active for a considerable period also was announced. It was thought that by using this form of carbon in the food of disease germs, the germs might be traced thru the body in study of diseases.

CHICAGO SUBMITS SUPERHIGHWAY PLANS TO STATE

Chicago's plan for the construction of a superhighway system eventually to cost $207,000,000 was filed yesterday with the state department of public works in Springfield. The city council last week ordered the filing of the plan before the March 1 deadline, altho on Feb. 21 the Illinois Supreme court held that the laws for the financing of the project were invalid.

City representatives explained that Chicago has asked for a rehearing of the Supreme court ruling, and that the plans were filed to protect the city in event the court decision is changed, or a new financing method is found.

Superhighway legislation, passed by the legislature, provided that the city and the county could build the highway system by pledging half their receipts from the state gasoline tax for the next 20 years. The law provided that a complete plan should be filed with the state by March 1. After the court held the tax plan unconstitutional, Clayton F. Smith, president of the Cook county board, announced that in November he will sponsor a referendum bond issue in an effort to raise the money should the rehearing attempt fail.

FIFTH GLOOMIEST FEBRUARY IN CITY RECORDS PASSES

The February just past was warmer, drier, and much gloomier than usual, according to the monthly weather summary of Forecaster C. A. Donnel. The summary covered only the first 28 days of the month.

Only 32 per cent of the maximum amount of sunshine was recorded, making the month the fifth darkest February in Chicago's history. Normal sunshine is 50 per cent, and 54 per cent was registered in 1939. The average daily temperature was 29.1 degrees, compared with a normal of 26.3. The maximum temperature was 42 on the 11th and the lowest 5 on the 25th. Twenty-six days had temperatures below freezing.

Total precipitation during the month was only .89 inch, compared with a normal of 2.14 inches. Snowfall, however, was 12.9 inches, or 4.3 inches above normal. There were 18 days with at least a trace of snow. The deficiency in precipitation since Jan. 1 now stands at 1.95 inches.

3 HELD TO JURY FOR ROBBERY.

Three young men were held to the grand jury on robbery charges yesterday by Judge Frank M. Padden. They are Charles Poehlman, 20 years old, 3740 Wilton avenue; George Brader, 18, of 3749 Wilton avenue and Leonard Sipari, 21, of 3627 Sheffield avenue.

BEER DRINKING DRIVER JAILED 60 DAYS FOR CRASH

Walter Sireika, an engineer, was sentenced to 60 days in the Bridewell yesterday by Judge J. M. Braude for reckless driving. Sireika was arrested Feb. 18 after his car hit another at Ohio and Orleans streets, injuring three persons, two of them children. He said he had slowed down for the caution light, then coasted across the intersection. He admitted he had had two glasses of beer. He added that when he once owned a tavern he often drank a quart of hard liquor in an afternoon without feeling it. He said he could drink beer all day.

Walter Sireika.

"Drink interferes with driving whether the driver knows it or not," Judge Braude informed Sireika. He fined the defendant $32 for not having a driver's, state or city license. Sireika gave both a Chicago and a Hammond, Ind., address.

5,000 HOMELESS IN CALIFORNIA'S FLOODS; 2 DROWN

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 29 (AP).—The Sacramento river, swollen by torrents from its many tributaries, poured yellow water thru broken dikes today, inundating villages and farmlands.

The breaching of the levees flooded three towns, with an aggregate population of 800, and created a threatening situation in the lower valley.

Altho the rising streams caused more than 5,000 persons to flee their homes, the death toll from the four days of flood still stood at two, and not more than a dozen persons were injured.

Nine breaks were forced in the levees, and the overflow isolated Butte City and its 400 residents, Princeton, and Codora. A hundred persons in Butte City were reported marooned, and relief agencies sought means of getting food and water into the town.

E. H. Fletcher, weather bureau meteorologist and river expert, said run-off of upper streams would be retarded by the cooler weather and that clearing conditions tended to alleviate the situation.

WORTHY FARMERS.

For several months it has been apparent to the naked eye that something has been happening to the Farm Credit administration. For one thing, the corporation which, as an autonomous agency, has invested billions of dollars in farm loans was recently placed under the thumb of the secretary of agriculture. For another, a considerable number of key men in the corporation have resigned because they could not stomach changes of policy recently introduced.

If there was ever any doubt about the meaning of these events, the statement made the other day by the new head of the agency, Mr. A. G. Black, removed them. Mr. Black says he has adopted what he chooses to call a broad social view. This is a fancy phrase and what it means is that farmers who have borrowed money on the government's easy terms and still are not paying it back will not be too seriously disturbed.

"In proper cases," says Mr. Black, "worthy but seriously delinquent borrowers" are to be protected against foreclosure. That can only mean that the taxpayers will take a much heavier loss than had been expected—from sour loans. Mr. Roosevelt's frequent assertion that the government has assets to cover a large share of its expenditures must be examined with this declaration in mind. More especially, now that the Farm Credit administration has issued what looks like an invitation to farmers to repudiate their debts, the value of the remaining assets may well be given a sharp downward revision.

Mr. Black's use of the word "worthy" and his reference to "proper cases" are interesting. Who is "worthy" and what is a "proper case?" Now that the Farm Credit administration has been incorporated within the Wallace political machine, the answer is fairly clear. A "worthy" farmer is one who does what Mr. Wallace wants him to do; and one of the things Mr. Wallace wants is support at the polls for the New Deal.

Tammany used to be a phenomenon of the cities. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Wallace have Tammanyized the rural regions far more thoroly than Tammany ever organized New York. The farmer who goes along, who votes right, and doesn't complain or oppose is taken care of. He gets his cash bonuses at election time and his special favors at other times. He can borrow from the treasury and so long as the money holds out and he remains a "proper case" and "worthy" he doesn't have to fear the consequences of not paying back his debt.

It is just possible that some of the farmers of the corn belt may have read Mr. Black's statement with pleasure at the prospect of getting something for nothing. If so, they ought to take a more careful look at the proposal. The farmers in this area are not particularly "worthy." They work too hard and are too successful. Most of Mr. Black's "worthy" farmers are men who are trying, but not too hard, nor too intelligently, to make a living on land which can't be successfully cultivated. They get a crop every once in a while, and when they do they knock the props from under the prices that farmers in this region might otherwise obtain.

Mr. Black's "worthy" farmers who are to be encouraged to remain in business are precisely the fellows who are in no small degree responsible for the troublesome surpluses which Mr. Wallace promised to remove from the market. It is no kindness to the "worthy" to encourage them to continue a hopeless struggle against nature, and certainly no kindness to the farmers of more favored regions to keep these competitors in production.

MR. LIPSKY'S BOOK.

Harry A. Lipsky, chairman of the Chicago board of election commissioners, has asked Police Commissioner Allman to instruct all policemen assigned to polling places on election day to inspect ballot boxes before the polls open, making sure that they are empty, and likewise to make sure that thereafter the box remains sealed.

The election commissioners recently published a 342 page manual of election law and procedure. Its perusal is recommended to any one interested in the conduct of honest elections in Chicago, and particularly to Mr. Lipsky.

After citing the section of the city election law that provides that it shall be the duty of all officers of the law present in a polling place to obey the orders of the judges of election, Mr. Lipsky's manual says: "Thus it is that the duty and responsibility for the conduct of elections falls upon the judges of election." The emphasis is supplied by the board.

If the character of the judges and clerks in Chicago elections is such that surveillance by a policeman is required to keep them honest, nobody should know it better than Mr. Lipsky and his colleagues on the election board. They appoint them.

There are only four people responsible for crooked elections in Chicago insofar as ballot thievery stems from the venality of precinct election officials or their failure to enforce the election laws. Those four people are the members of the board of election commissioners, who appoint the polls officials, and the County judge, who appoints the commissioners.

No amount of appeals to or denunciation of the police force, and no number of contempt of court citations after the election has been stolen, can distract attention from this primary, fundamental responsibility.

MR. HULL IS BUSY IN EUROPE.

Secretary of State Hull has revealed the details of more extensive activities in Europe than those in which Mr. Sumner Welles, his undersecretary, is now engaged. Mr. Hull says that representatives of the state department are dealing with foreign governments to influence the trade provisions of the peace when it comes. Mr. Hull is trying to break down some of the economic principles upon which the totalitarian governments are founded—principles which have been adopted also by the other countries at war.

When the nations began to prepare for war, Germany, particularly, applied the lessons of the other one and used the controls of production and finance to attain as high a degree of self-sufficiency as possible. Lloyd George, in his recent speech, told the British that the Germans had been wiser and more successful in this than they themselves had been. He said the Germans had learned their lesson and now depended on overseas trade for only 5 per cent of their food "while we are dependent for 60 per cent."

The Germans say that their attempt at self-sufficiency was forced upon them by British sea power and that so long as the empire can undertake to cut them off from essential supplies they must seek independence from foreign trade. It is evident that trade arrangements will not dominate other considerations in any peace treaty, especially after a long, severe war, but will themselves be determined by the political dispositions made by the winner. Nevertheless, our state department, pursuing ostensibly Mr. Hull's reciprocal program, is actively intervening in Europe altho we have been told—with the greatest emphasis by the British—that we shall have no concern with the peace unless we enter the negotiations as one of the actual belligerents. The proposed exclusion of the United States from the settlement of another war has seemed entirely satisfactory to sensible Americans.

Unless peace comes quickly there will be no way of previewing the terms and the effects of peace. If the fighting governments carry out their threats, there may be nothing left of the German reich. The material guarantees spoken of in French circles are assumed to include the breaking up of present-day Germany, not only by the release of the countries overrun, but by the separation of the older German states. That a European federation might come out of this is another thought. The simplest version of the French and British war aims is that there shall be no power equivalent to the nation Hitler now rules.

If Britain and France fail, there will be no British empire and British sea power will be destroyed. By no estimate of Hitler could it be anticipated that he would, if victorious in a war to the finish, permit England to keep its colonies, its navy, or any large proportion of its merchant fleet. Nor could it be imagined that France would remain a great empire or that in Europe it would retain all its present resources. If this war goes to another Versailles the map of the world will be changed again and more violently than ever before in modern times. Somewhere on that map there will be another Carthage.

Why, then, is Mr. Hull so busy trying to define certain terms of peace when nobody can possibly know the conditions which necessarily will govern those terms? Why does the Roosevelt administration push itself in when it has been told that the price of such participation in any peace is participation in the war which will determine what kind of a peace it is to be?

None of the governments as yet has instructed its foreign office to warn Mr. Roosevelt's agents off the premises but the ideas of the belligerents have been put across with great clarity. If the United States wants a bit of the peace it can take a bit of the war.

When Mr. Roosevelt and his political satellites face that alternative, the danger to the United States is very real. Their ambitions do not lead them to Germany, but the rewards which Great Britain and France can dangle before the eyes of America's aspiring executives, interested in world renown and acclaim, are fascinating when there is nothing to lose but men in uniform and money in bags.

As the foreign policy of the New Deal takes step after step, it more and more makes the United States a servant for foreign countries in order that New Dealers can receive commendation and rewards from Europeans.

Editorial of the Day

[Otsego (N.Y.) Farmer.]

What a country the United States is! This exclamation was forced to our lips by a small item that appears in the personal columns of the local newspapers this week. It refers to the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander E. Adamovitch to their new home in Oneonta, after living for five years in Cooperstown. That in itself is nothing remarkable. Many such changes take place. But in this particular instance it proves that this country is still the land of opportunity for all who have the right attitude toward themselves and their fellow men.

Mr. Adamovitch was once an officer in the Russian navy, but, like many other intelligent Russians, was forced to leave the country to escape from the bolsheviks. He traveled three years before being able to make his way to the United States and came here with no friends, no money, and no knowledge of the language. Since his arrival, however, he has mastered the language, managed to work his way thru college, married an American girl, and holds a responsible position with the New York Telephone company. While here he was manager of the local office and goes to Oneonta to become district plant manager.

We know personally of his career while he was working in this village. He spent no time bemoaning his lost rank as an officer or the passing of the régime of old Russia with which he was connected from birth. Instead, he worked faithfully at his calling, lived a normal American life with his family, and devoted himself in spare time to the interests of the community in which he came to hold a prominent place on the basis of his own worth. In these efforts he had the active coöperation of his wife. The community as a whole deeply regrets the departure of people of this caliber and will cordially welcome them back at any time. We congratulate the company upon having men of this type in its employ.

But to get back to the original theme of the editorial. Could such a thing ever have happened in Russia? No, it could not; either under the old régime or much less under the soviet. Neither could it have happened in any of the countries of Europe, for the old world spirit prevents, and even if the spirit were not a barrier the opportunity is absent. Nowhere but in America can such a thing take place. It is a glorious thing and one that is worth everything to keep alive, not only for those who come to these shores, like Mr. Adamovitch, but for our own sons and daughters.

IN MEMORY OF JIMMY.

Whenever we have been asked, "How did you become a drama critic?"—a question which haunted us for 30 years or more—we have thought of the late James O'Donnell Bennett. He was our school of journalism, our dean of the graduate school, our conferrer of the advanced degree.

The managing editor of the Record-Herald said: "Mr. Bennett would like to find a lively young fellow on the staff who can cover some of these secondary Monday night openings for him, and you seem to be elected. You can have Monday as your day off, because it will be more of a pleasure than a task."

And so we passed under the tutelage of the most gifted and studious drama critic of the period, which was the first decade of this century. Our first job for Jimmy was Dockstader's minstrel show, which had expanded itself into a sort of a revue, at the Grand Opera house. He invented a signature to go under our little article—"The Minstrel Boy." And so a long friendship began.

He was fond of printing on his Sunday page book lists for collateral reading about theatrical history and criticism, and we studied these works assiduously, some of which were hard to find. Many of them are still in our library.

James O'Donnell Bennett came closer to making newspaper work a literary career than any journalist of his time. His own library became a collection in English and American literature and history that would be worthy of any college. These, his much loved books, have been left to his colleagues, and so whenever we choose to go to a quiet browsing room in the Tribune Tower, we can still study under the silent direction of our first instructor.

SONG IN A SNOWSTORM.

I think I shall make this
A song about spring!—
The birds, bees,
And flowers—
And that sort of thing.
(I'll strictly avoid any mention of Kisses—
Those schemes and those dreams
That change "Miss" into "Mrs.")
I'll write of the green bannered trees
In the park.
(Young lovers will stroll there as soon as It's dark!)
I'll write of the stars in a crescent of moon—
(They tell me it's full in the third week Of June!)
I'll tell of the breezes
That blow o'er the sands—
(I'll simply ignore all this holding of hands!)
This is my spring song—
But heavens above!—
I fear it has changed to a
Song about love!

Meet Charlie Hazlitt, the King of France.

Readers of this column may remember that about a year ago it discovered Chicago's Lost Dauphin [Pierre Brosseau] and gave a full account of his claims to the title of Louis XVII. of France. Now we have another one for you:

In the autobiography of Frances M. Norton, written in 1900 and running back to 1834, still unpublished, this passage occurs:

"We finally took a large house on the corner of Wabash avenue and 12th street, formerly owned by Charles B. Farwell. . . . It was in this house that the young Prince Henri de Bourbon, the real Dauphin, a direct descendant of Marie Antoinette and Louis XVI., lived with us for two years under the assumed name of Charles Hazlitt. We always called him Charlie. . . . The Catholic prelate of Chicago, Bishop Feehan, used to entertain the prince at his own table every Sunday for dinner."

This episode is dated in 1887 or 1888. The author of this manuscript was the sister of Charles Guiteau, who assassinated President Garfield.

Tall Steeples on the West Side.

If you're looking for lofty churches, try Our Lady of Sorrows, at Jackson boulevard and Albany avenue, probably the highest on the west side. Its twin towers run up about 14 stories. . . . On the southwest side, the twin spires of St. Ada's, at Wood and 23d streets, are almost 10 stories high. . . . Then there is the spire of a Catholic church in Cicero, at 26th and Laramie, which is visible for miles.

RONDEAU OF FAIRY BELLS.
(For two modern children.)

You say there are no fairies. Mayhap so.
In matters so profound, our wits are slow.
Childhood, perhaps, its tale more wisely tells:
The source of mystic songs heard in sea shells;
Wee summer morning tunes, when dawn winds blow
And printless little feet skip to and fro
Across dew-diamonded grass, to show
Their skill. Yet spite of all these magic spells
You say there are no fairies!

Perchance my sweet illusion I'll forego.
But stay! When children laugh, all clear there swells
The tinkling chime of silver fairy bells!
How can you say, I'd like to know,
There are no fairies?

"As this item was written Wednesday afternoon the Kearney county bastille was empty, its last inmate, James Snapp, leaving today for his home in Iowa. He had been incarcerated on charges of defrauding an innkeeper and for a no-fund check. He is said to have received money from home and paid up his bills."

CAN HORMONES BANISH MENTAL FOG?

ARE we on the verge of new discoveries concerning mental disorders? This would be too good to be true. Many of us have known of cases wherein restoration has occurred under a well organized hygienic régime. But all too frequently we have looked upon the condition with ultra-conservatism—even fatalism. If the patient is able to snap out of his difficulties—with assistance—well and good. If he fails to do so we are all sorry, assuming that there is nothing further that can be offered in the way of treatment.

What is mental disease? Some take the attitude that aberrations of thought classify themselves within the realms of the supernatural. Altho we can understand how tuberculosis may destroy lung tissue or bone, the one who is suffering from complexes or delusions will not show the slightest change in the brain structure. We cannot blame an abscess. Nevertheless we recognize that the victim is ill and is living in a strange, unsocial environment.

Now comes the suggestion of Arthur Guirdham that—in some instances, at least—psychoses may be relieved markedly by injections of the male sex hormone. The implication, of course, is that the basic trouble is a deficiency phenomenon and that supplying the lacking chemicals may restore sanity—with the power of logical thinking. This authority reports the case of a man of 53 who entered a sanitarium at Bath, England, with a record of previous hospitalization in another infirmary. His mother had been an inmate of an institution and his father was a neurotic.

When first seen the individual manifested an acute anxiety state with obsessions. He believed that he was being held in the "home" as a punishment because he had offended his relatives. No attempt was made to use psychotherapy as this had been tried previously without effect. Deterioration continued to increase and the outlook admittedly was bad.

With the thought that hormones might be helpful, the patient was given five milligrams daily for 20 successive days. Gradual improvement was observed—which continued after the drug was stopped. Within a few weeks he was able to transact routine business with accuracy. Commenting upon the case, Guirdham remarked: "I have never seen a paranoid tendency to such a degree . . . which cleared so rapidly."

Another subject—a 74 year old man—was afflicted with acute melancholia. He was convinced that he faced financial ruin and, in addition, that an obstruction had formed to the passage of food down the tube [esophagus] which leads to the stomach. He kept a basin near by into which he was constantly depositing saliva, claiming that it was part of the meal which had been unable to reach the gastric organ. To complicate the problem, he was in bad physical shape, exhibiting sugar in the urine and a severely damaged circulation.

Here again the injections brought striking improvement. He became cheerful and alert and his physical status was bettered. While he now looks back upon his derangement with chagrin, he can recall vividly his fears of failure and the obstacle to swallowing—all of which have vanished. Later his wife described his depression as "all gone."

In two additional cases—one aged 26 and the other 24—in which the outlook appeared hopeless—recovery came.

Once more we may ask ourselves, is it possible that we have stumbled upon a key that will open the doorway to a new life for some of these victims? While it has long been held that the nervous system reacts profoundly to the state of the general health—as well as to the output of the glands of internal secretion—it may be that gland therapy hitherto tried has failed due to poor or impure extracts. The preparations employed today are far more potent and active chemically.

We must regard these examples, however, as mere straws—startling as they seem to be. It now becomes the duty of all physicians to extend our knowledge in this direction without delay.

HEAT THERAPY.

O. C. writes:

1. Are heat treatments recognized as beneficial?

2. In what diseases are they employed?

REPLY.

1. Yes.

2. Chiefly in some of the late manifestations of syphilis, such as dementia paralytica, or paresis. Certain chronic infections, such as arthritis, may be benefited.

HEART TEST.

J. S. writes: What is an E. K. G. test?

REPLY.

An electrocardiogram—a graphic picture of the heart action recorded on a photographic film. Should an abnormal condition exist it probably will be shown.

VITAMIN TABLETS.

M. writes: May a person with high blood pressure take concentrated vitamin tablets without harmful effects?

REPLY.

Yes. Be sure they are needed, however.

"WEAK" ANKLES.

Y. T. writes: What causes an ankle to "turn over" persistently?

REPLY.

GOVERNMENT INSURANCE.

Peru, Ind., Feb. 25.—The temporary national economic committee is investigating the large life insurance companies, apparently with the undisclosed purpose of trying to convince the public that the government should control and operate these companies.

Not every one is aware of the fact that the government is now in the life insurance business, writing insurance on the members and ex-members of the military forces of the country. I happen to have two policies of government life insurance.

The ordinary time from date of mailing a premium until date of receiving a receipt is about two weeks. My last premium was mailed on Feb. 10. Today, Feb. 25, I have not yet received my premium receipt. The usual time for receiving my premium receipt from a private company is three or four days.

Times without number I have received notice of a government premium due, a premium for which I already held a receipt. This has never happened with the private company.

In 1931 the government rejected me for additional insurance as a result of looking up the files of my application for a pension, which they had not granted. In applying for a pension, according to the government, I was in excellent physical condition, but had one foot in the grave when applying for life insurance. The same day I was rejected for additional government life insurance, I took my letter of rejection to the medical examiner of a private company and they wrote a four thousand dollar policy without exchanging words. Only yesterday another private company delivered a policy to me.

All of which goes to prove that the government could and would operate the life insurance companies much more efficiently than private management does. Yes, and so does two and two make five.

NEWS FROM ARKANSAS.

Blue Mountain, Ark., Feb. 24.—In 1933 we had a neighbor who drew around $700 from the government for plowing up cotton. The government's representative charged with inspecting and measuring the land never went to see it.

Another neighbor recently drew $55 from the AAA for soil conservation practices which were nothing more than about one half day's work by two men and a small tractor, erecting terraces on land that has not been farmed in years and probably will never be farmed again.

In 1934 another neighbor with a fat calf that he was keeping for home beef took the calf to a government cattle killing, had it appraised, had the government shoot it, and then he dressed it for beef and took the meat home, after which the government paid him the appraisal value of the calf.

It all adds up to this: The whole New Deal farm program is making crooks of honest men; it is robbing the farmer of initiative and robbing his children of the liberty to plan their lives. It is undermining democracy with a treasury check as both the argument and the weapon.

WHEN WE CENSORED THE MAILS.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 24.—Before we allow our emotions to get the better of us over the censorship of German mail, would it not be well to recognize the fact that we did exactly the same thing when we entered the last world war and would undoubtedly have to do the same thing again in the next?

It seems to be forgotten by some that, in 1918, Secretary of State Lansing informed the government of Cuba that "all mail in transit between Mexico and Spain, and Spain and other countries which is not subject to the censorship of our allies, is taken, held, and examined by the censorship of the United States when vessels carrying mail touch at any of our ports."

Secretary Lansing also informed the government of Cuba that it adopted the arguments of the British government in this matter, and proceeded to remind Cuba that the mails were extensively used for the transmission of merchandise, including money, checks, negotiable instruments, stocks, bonds, and other contraband articles. Pointing out that contraband was liable to seizure, Mr. Lansing added that "there is ample ground for the inspection by one belligerent of mails passing between neutrals in this hemisphere and Germany, or countries contiguous to Germany, so long as these neutral countries do not take steps to keep contraband and noxious dispatches out of government mail."

CARIBBEAN POLITICS.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Permit me to disagree with the editorial, "West Indian Mystery." In pointing out that "As long as the islands remain in foreign possession they constitute a potential threat to our security," you make a very broad statement.

Whatever are the ultimate aims for which the British government has appropriated 80 million dollars to be spent during the next 20 years, there appears to be a parallel between its desire to improve the welfare of the British West Indies and our efforts in our own Caribbean possessions. For the last several years Washington has been spending many millions of dollars on the economic rehabilitation of Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, altho the former's entire customs revenues are paid into the insular treasury instead of being remitted to the national treasury.

From the point of view of national defense, notwithstanding your fears about the Panama canal, I believe it is safe from attack by an enemy power if Great Britain is free to use her West Indian bases, so that in the event a conflict involving a potential aggressor we would have a valuable ally in Caribbean waters.

SORRY. THIS IS A NEWSPAPER.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—I and millions of others agree with your editorial policy which advocates our keeping out of all European alliances and entanglements, yet your headlines from time to time scream out references to the war in Europe, thus keeping the minds of the readers on the war, and you feature long articles on the first page describing battles and war news. Don't you think it more in line with your policy to print all war news on an inside page—possibly under the heading "Foreign News"? Those interested could turn there and read to their heart's content.

ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATE.

Lansing, Michigan, Feb. 21 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. I was the executrix of my mother's will, which left to my two sisters and me [among other things] real estate in Wisconsin.

2. The estate is now closed, I have received my discharge, and the property has been transferred to us on Wisconsin records.

3. Without any specific agreement on the subject I have continued to collect rents, pay bills, and handle all correspondence with the tenants and others in regard to this property. Have made a determined effort to sell with no results to date. Taxes are due again next month and both sisters have written me not to pay them, and both refuse to give anything to such end. There is not enough money on hand from rentals to meet the taxes. For my part I wish to pay, but want to know.

4. Can I use what money I have received from rentals and banked in my name for this purpose without their consent—or could they force me to make it up to them?

5. What protection would I have if I use my own money to make up the difference?

6. What is the Wisconsin law concerning redemption if taxes are not paid?

B. E.

1. An executrix as such does not necessarily have anything to do with the real estate. Your rights depend largely on the wording of the will under which you acted.

2. This means presumably that your powers as an executor were at an end.

3. It seems possible that the conduct of the parties may be sufficient to show some authorization for you to meet the necessary expenses.

4. It seems probable, as a practical matter, that you would be protected in making necessary payments.

5. Presumably you will be allowed to collect out of proceeds of a future partition sale, but in general we would advise you to start the partition first.

6. In our opinion the Wisconsin law and procedure as to tax deeds render it unsafe for a nonresident to own Wisconsin land unless he is prepared to employ a local representative to guard his interest. We base this opinion on the following three respects in which the protection usual here is not extended to the fee owner there. First, there is no uniform practice of mailing notice to the previous taxpayer that the property is being sold for taxes. Second, the fact that the property has been sold for taxes is not noted on his subsequent tax bills during the time allowed for redemption. Third, the courts sustain a tax deed as defeating the fee. As a result it is possible [and sometimes actually happens] that the fee owner's title is taken away from him without notice for no other fault than overlooking one year's tax payment.

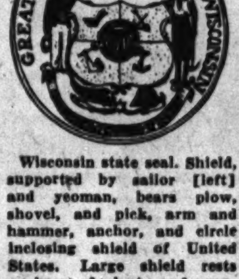
How Our States Got Their Names

47. WISCONSIN.

The name Wisconsin was taken by the state from the Wisconsin river. The word is an Indian one, but historians say that the meaning is unknown. In early instances of its uses many spellings were used. One suggestion, which most historians think unwarranted, is that the word meant "gathering of the waters." Wisconsin became a state on May 29, 1848



Wisconsin state seal. Shield, supported by sailor [left] and yeoman, bears plow, shovel, and pick, arm and hammer, anchor, and circle inclosing shield of United States. Large shield rests on horn of plenty and pyramid of pig lead, and is surmounted by a badger and state motto in scroll. In scroll at bottom are 13 stars.

Wisconsin is known as the Badger state. The Badger nickname was given from the fact that early lead miners used to dig into the hillside like the burrowing badger, and live in the cave they made. The Wisconsin motto is "Forward," the state flower is the violet, and the state bird the robin.

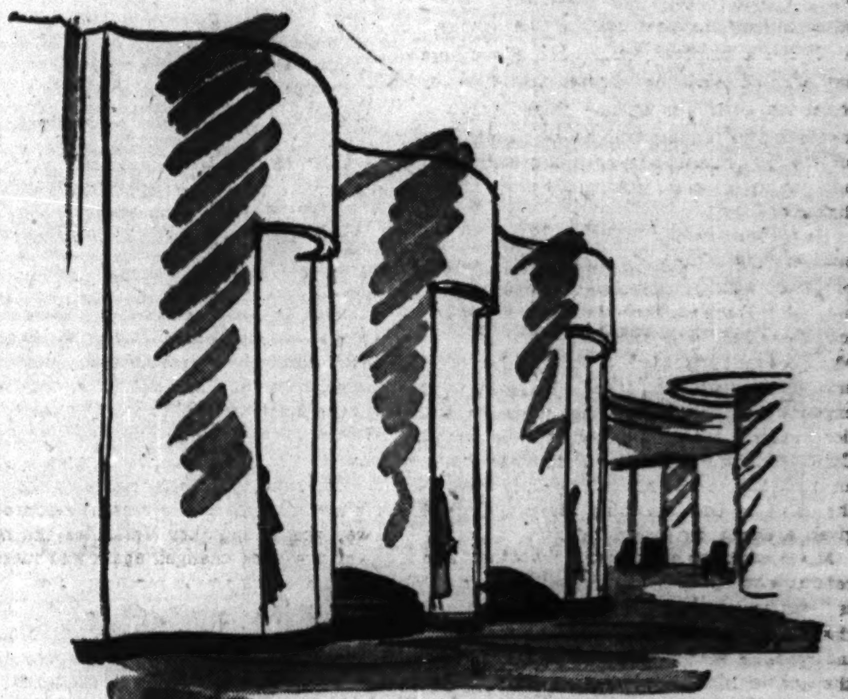
The Most Fun we've had in Years

Marshall Field & Company

In every family, in every home, once in a long time, something happens that keys all the folks to a fever pitch. Maybe it's a marriage, or a golden wedding, a baby, or a new house . . . maybe it's the remodeling of the old home you've all loved and lived in for years.

That's just what happened to us. Months ago we set ourselves the task of creating, out of the traditions of four well-known Sixth Floor sections, four new shops: the Young Chicago Shop, the Misses' Dress Shop, the Woman's Dress Shop and the Maternity Shop. We wanted them to be as modern as architects and engineers could build them, beautiful as decorators and artists could make them.

We've talked, studied, planned; matched and contrasted colors, fabrics, woods, metals; weighed and compared ideas, thought again and finally made all the decisions. It's been the most fun we've had in years.

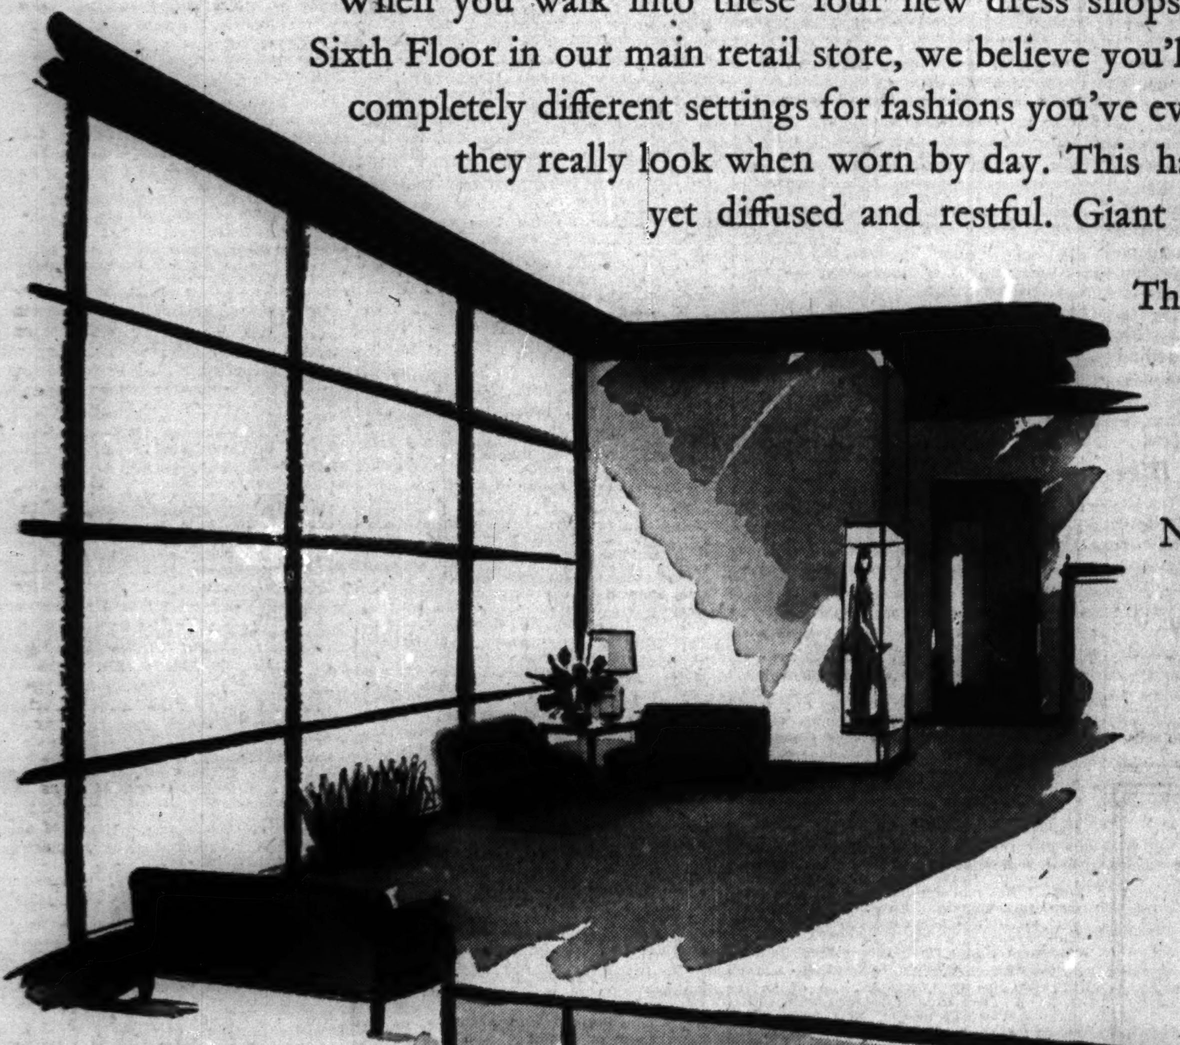


Modern facade of huge curved glass windows, with a glimpse of the fashions to be found inside, seen as you approach the four new shops from South, State, elevators and escalator

When you walk into these four new dress shops, which open today on the State Street side of the Sixth Floor in our main retail store, we believe you'll agree that they're the most beautiful, comfortable, completely different settings for fashions you've ever seen. You've told us that you want to see daytime clothes as they really look when worn by day. This has been made possible by fluorescent lighting, almost as powerful as daylight, yet diffused and restful. Giant windows of corrugated glass admit sunlight and still give you privacy.

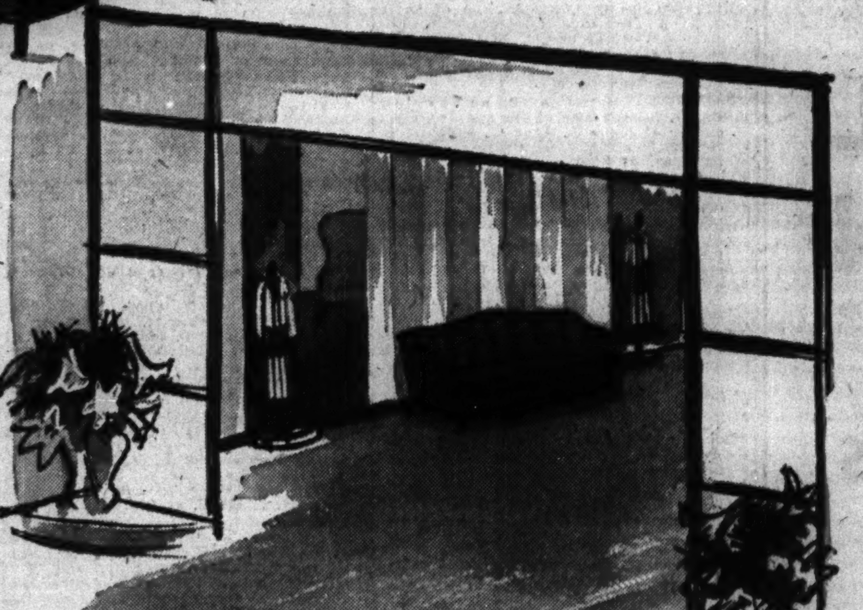
There is every physical comfort; a wealth of sofas and luxurious chairs to help you relax while you decide which dresses you want. There are plenty of fitting rooms, with mirrors that repeat your reflection endlessly from all angles. Walls, ceilings, carpets and other decorations are in soft, feminine colors, beautifully modulated into backgrounds which lead you pleasantly from one shop to another.

Now the results of all this exciting activity are ready for you to enjoy. We hope you'll like these shops as much as we do, that you'll have as much fun shopping in them as we've had building them. Let us show them to you today.



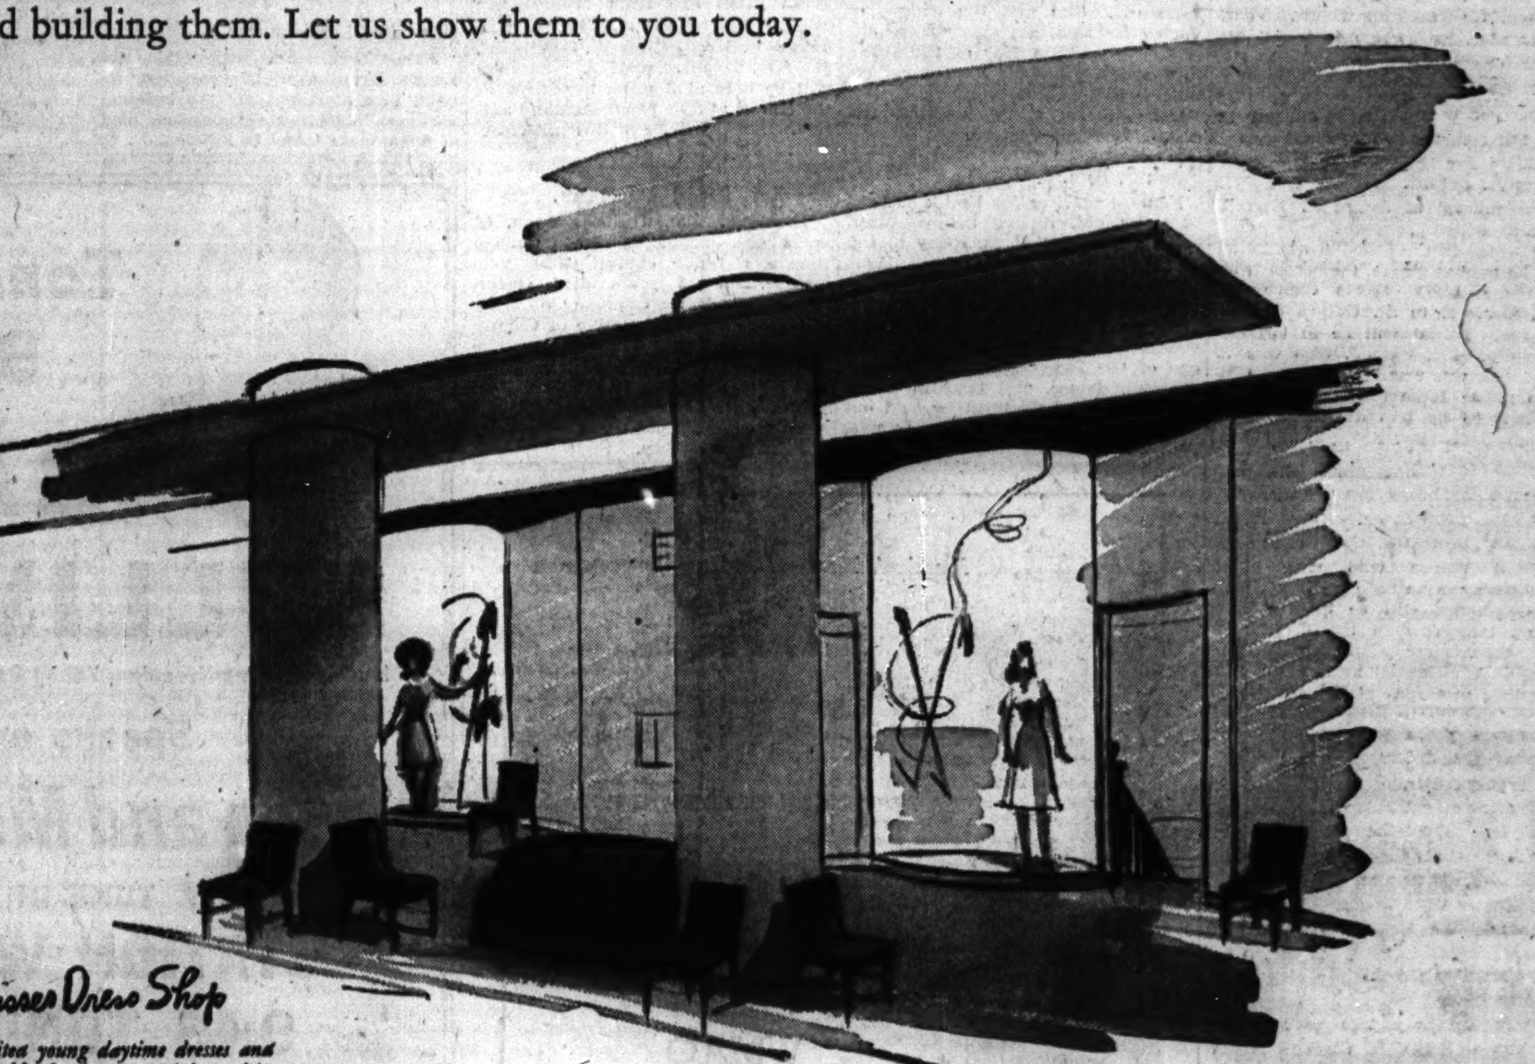
Woman's Dress Shop

Gracious, youthful dresses and costumes for sizes 33 to 44, 16½ to 26½, 42½ to 52½. Priced from $15 to $40



Maternity Shop

Gay young fashions to keep you going places and doing things in spite of the stork. 12-20. $10.95 to $40



Misses Dress Shop

Spirited young daytime dresses and ensembles for sizes 10 to 20. $10 to $40

N. J. EVANS DIES; TRIBUNE EDITOR OF WIRE NEWS

Varied Career Ended at 58 by Heart Attack.

Nelson James Evans, telegraph editor of THE TRIBUNE, died suddenly of a heart attack early today in his home at 2321 Bryant avenue, Evanston. He had appeared to be in normal health yesterday. He was 58 years old.

N. J. Evans, in major's uniform during maneuvers in August, 1936.

Mr. Evans, who was known as Jim to his associates—he used his first name only on formal occasions—had a colorful career, even for a veteran newspaper man. He was at one time or another stagecoach driver, bronco rider, lawyer, school superintendent, champion college debater, wartime soldier, and editor.

His newspaper career started in 1907 after a brief fling at courtroom law in Montana and Iowa. For nearly 15 years he had been a member of the Tribune editorial staff.

Stage Driver in Yellowstone.

Mr. Evans was born in Boscobel, Wis., the son of the Rev. Thomas Martin Evans, a Methodist clergyman noted in Iowa. He was educated in Iowa schools and at Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., where for two years he captained its champion debating team. After his graduation from Cornell he went west, drove stages in Yellowstone national park, and became a skilled horseman. He was regarded as an authority on western lore.

He left the far west to teach, specializing in physical science. He served as superintendent of schools in Osage, Ia., and as high school principal in Anoka, Minn., and Hudson, Wis. Then he studied law at the University of Minnesota, getting his law degree in 1906.

Quits Law for News Job.

He practiced law for a time in Roundup, Mont., and in Clinton, Ia. In Clinton he gave up law for journalism, joining the staff of the Clinton Herald. He later worked on papers in Denver, Colo., and in Des Moines and Council Bluffs, Ia. He came to Chicago in 1912.

Mr. Evans interrupted his newspaper career to enter the army in 1917. He served as a lieutenant overseas with the 82d division, and saw active service in numerous major engagements, including Château Thierry. He emerged, after 18 months of service overseas, with the rank of captain. At his death he was a major in the United States army reserves.

Surviving Mr. Evans are his widow, the former Miss Esther Carlson; a son, Thomas Martin, and a daughter, Nancy Ellen; his mother, Mrs. Ella J. Evans of Alhambra, Cal.; two brothers, the Rev. John Evans, religious editor of THE TRIBUNE, and Thomas E. Evans of Grundy Center, Ia., and a sister, Mrs. Irma Evans Gates of Los Angeles, Cal.

Mr. Evans was a member of the First Baptist church of Evanston and of St. Cecilia Masonic lodge.

UTILITY TO FIGHT NLRB ORDER TO DISSOLVE UNION

Plans Court Action to Block Ruling.

Attorneys for the Indiana and Michigan Electric company announced yesterday that the company will appeal for aid to the courts from an order of the National Labor Relations board, issued earlier in the day, requiring the company to sever all relations with a so-called independent union.

The union, known as the Michiana Electrical Utility Workers' association, claims 800 members from the more than 1,000 company employés. The company was ordered to disestablish the union, withhold recognition as a bargaining agent from it, and to desist from "dominating and interfering" with its administration.

Finding Made in 1938.

This action by the board was taken upon recommendation of Tilford Dudley, the trial examiner. Dudley on Aug. 3, 1938, made his recommendation after hearing the complaint of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, local B-9, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

John A. Marks of Long Beach, Ind., an assistant business agent of B-9, was arrested Feb. 7 at South Bend, Ind. He was charged with being the "brains" of a conspiracy to sabotage company power lines and substations by a campaign of destruction and terrorism, which included eight bombings.

Marks is at liberty on a total of $80,000 bonds, arranged thru a surety company by the electrical workers' international, of which Michael J. Boyle, czar of the Chicago workers, is vice president.

Four others were arrested with Marks. Two of them, Parrish E. Freeman of Joliet, an ex-convict, and Frank S. Lung of South Bend, pleaded guilty to state and federal charges.

Named As Plot Chief.

They named Marks as originator of a conspiracy to wage a campaign of destruction in an effort to force the company to withdraw from the NLRB case and to make its employés join the A. F. of L. union.

"We will not comply with the board's order," said Eli F. Seebirt, attorney for the utility, which operates thru northern Indiana and southern Michigan. "We will appeal to the courts.

"We will not desist from doing what we never had a hand in establishing [organizing the union]."

George Holmes, safety engineer for the company and president of the Michiana union, denied yesterday that the company dominated its affairs.

"We organized in May, 1937, and obtained a contract with the company in September of that year," he said. "Members flocked in to us in an effort to save themselves from the A. F. of L and the Congress of Industrial Organizations."

Easter Outfit

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt wearing Easter outfit.

Close Inquiry Into Death of Nude Youth in Quarry

The mystery of the death of George E. Zeiss, 17 years old, whose nude body was found in a stone quarry in McCook on Feb. 18, was left unsolved yesterday by a coroner's jury. The jury reported that Zeiss was temporarily insane, but it was unable to determine the cause of death. Zeiss, a junior college student, was last seen when he left his mother and sister in the loop the day before his body was found. The family home is at 7649 Emerald avenue.

Toledo, O., Feb. 29 [Special].—Weapons ranging in variety from iron cuspidors to fragile eggs were used by C. I. O. members today in forcibly ejecting 19 members of a rival A. F. of L. union from the Electric Auto-Lite company plant here.

The disturbance, a continuation of disorders which started yesterday, brought an immediate injunction from Judge Lee N. Murlin. His order restrained the C. I. O. branch of the United Automobile Workers of America from further violence against members of the A. F. of L. faction of the union.

"It is the law of this land that every man has a right to work for anybody who will employ him," Judge Murlin said in issuing the injunction. "The right to work is a constitutional right guaranteed to every citizen."

Two Killed in 1934 Strike.

The Auto-Lite plant was the scene of a disastrous strike in 1934 in which two men were killed and many persons were wounded in fighting between National Guardsmen and strikers. Mobs ranging up to 10,000 strikers, sympathizers, and spectators held 1,500 employés prisoner in the plant at one time.

The present trouble began on Feb. 1 when A. F. of L. employés asserted they were intimidated and coerced by the much larger number of C. I. O. members during a dues book inspection the latter group was making.

The A. F. of L. men said the rival unionists unlawfully determined to bar them from work unless they joined the C. I. O., and subsequently shot pieces of metal at them, despoiled their food, and called them rats.

Yesterday the trouble started anew with minor attacks being made on A. F. of L. men and one department being tied up for two hours by a C. I. O. sitdown.

Drag Workers from Plant.

Today the C. I. O. members began ejecting the handful of A. F. of L. employés. Some were pushed, others were dragged, and one was carried bodily out of the plant. Robert Jensen said he was beaten and dragged from his work by a C. I. O. group of between 0 and 100 persons.

When police reached the scene all except one A. F. of L. employé had been forcibly ejected. Three policemen stood guard over him while he worked during the rest of the day.

A spokesman for the A. F. of L. group said its members would return to work tomorrow under the court injunction.

MRS. ROSE SCHWERMER.

Mrs. Rose Schwermer, 30 years old, intended to ask for alimony when she appeared yesterday before Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington. But her attorney came in with an alternative proposal for Mrs. Schwermer's husband, Eric, 40, who is being sued for divorce on grounds of cruelty and drunkenness.

Mrs. Schwermer, said the lawyer, would waive all alimony if Schwermer would move out peacefully from their home at 67 West Burton place, where Mrs. Schwermer also operates a massage parlor. And if he does, the attorney said, Mrs. Schwermer is willing to give her husband half of their $2,000 bank account.

Schwermer agreed and the court approved. But later, in an anteroom, the Schwermers became embroiled in another property dispute. Who was to take the family Pekingese dog? Mrs. Schwermer won without any concessions.

$500,000 Fire Destroys 7 Stages in French Movie Lot

PARIS, Feb. 29 (AP).—Fire today destroyed seven sound stages in the Pathe movie studios southeast of Paris, where a film version of "Hitler Told Me," by Herman Rauschning, former Nazi chieftain in Danzig, was being made. Damage was estimated at $500,000. Pathe officials said the fire undoubtedly was due to a technical accident.

Candy Factory Burns.

LONDON, Feb. 29 (AP).—Sugar rationed for candy making fed 50 foot flames early today in a factory fire which endangered the homes of 100 families, forcing them to flee. It was London's biggest fire since the wartime blackout was started.

DEMANDS FACTS ON U. S. LOSS OF FARM MARKETS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29.—Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] demanded in the senate today that officials of the Roosevelt administration tell the American farmers what plans, if any, they have for combatting British and French discriminations against American agricultural products.

Sen. R. R. Reynolds.

Senator Reynolds prefaced his remarks with the reading of a Chicago Tribune Press service report of the testimony of Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, and Henry F. Grady, assistant secretary of state, before the senate finance committee.

The article explained that these officials hinted at the possibility of economic reprisals, the nature of which they refused to discuss, against Great Britain and France for discriminating against American cotton, tobacco, apples, wheat, and other farm products.

While Senator Reynolds was speaking several hundred boxes of apples from the orchards of Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] were distributed in the senate office building and the press gallery, the gift of the senator. The apples had been packed for export to France, but after the passage of the neutrality act France and Great Britain stopped buying American apples and other farm products.

POLICE TO PROBE BAKER'S PICKET TERROR CHARGE

Sergt. George Barnes, head of the police labor racket squad, today will question officials of the Hebrew Master Bakers' association, the Jewish Bakers' union, local 237, and Joseph Migdal, owner of the Royal Bakery, 1240 South Kedzie avenue, over Migdal's complaint to police last night that union pickets were pushing customers away from his shop.

Capt. Louis Klatzco of the Fillmore street police said detectives reported there was no trouble at the shop. Migdal said the picketing started when he dismissed four union bakers after a union business agent told him to hire a fifth. The agent appeared at his shop, Migdal said, soon after he had a dispute with the bakers' association.

SABOTAGE OF FEDERAL POWER PROJECT IS DENIED BY TWO MEN

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 29 [Special].—Two East St. Louis men pleaded not guilty to a contempt of court citation when they were arraigned today before Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle in connection with the destruction of $4,500 worth of equipment on the rural electrification line in Madison county.

Woodrow Couch and L. J. Day, were remanded to the custody of the United States marshal until they schedule bonds of $2,500 each. No date was set for their hearing.

The men were arrested Monday night, 24 hours after they are said to have destroyed three REA transformers with a volley of bullets from rifles. They were charged with violating a federal injunction issued last Dec. 13 protecting the line from interference after work on it had been interrupted several times by acts of vandalism believed to have been inspired by union troubles.

Hoboes Are Finger Printed; 6,600 Take the Bum's Rush

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 29 (AP).—Hoboes arent' riding the rods of Missouri Pacific trains much now because the railroad is fingerprinting its uninvited guests. This practice, in effect for a year, has resulted in a reduction of these riders by more than 6,600. The railroad's special agents said many of those arrested and fingerprinted were found to have criminal records.

Highland Park Policeman for 22 Years Asks Pension

Sergt. John S. Sullivan of Highland Park, a well known policeman on the north shore, filed application for retirement on pension yesterday. The application was given to Mayor Frank Ronan and will be passed on by the pension board Monday. Sergt. Sullivan has been on the Highland Park police force for 22 years. He is 60 years old, and a native of Canada. He plans to retire with his wife, Mildred, to their home north of Spooner, Wis.

BECAUSE

Beauty softens sorrow

It is human to wish to comfort those who bear the burden of grief. That is why we send flowers to funerals—to tell the living that our thoughts and sympathies are with them. Beauty softens sorrow. A rose can speak more comfort than a thousand words.

ADD A YORKSHIRE PUDDING TO BEEF ROAST, AND—AH!

The mere mention of tender, juicy roast beef makes you want to begin eating. This is especially true when it is served with old fashioned Yorkshire pudding.

If repeated attempts have failed to produce a light, fluffy pudding, perhaps a suggestion would be helpful: To prevent a soggy, unappetizing mixture be sure that the beef drippings are hot. If the pudding is to be baked in the roasting pan, set the roast to one side and pour off all but one-quarter cup of the fat. If a separate pan is used for the pudding, preheat it for several minutes with the drippings.

YORKSHIRE PUDDING.

1 cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 eggs
¼ cup beef drippings

Combine flour and salt and add milk gradually, stirring to form a smooth paste. Then add eggs and beat for two minutes with rotary beater. Pour into beef drippings to a depth of about one-half inch. Put in hot oven [450 degrees] and bake for 20 to 30 minutes. Cut into squares and serve with the roast beef.

Butter Pecan Ice Cream

Butter pecan ice cream may be made the quick way in the refrigerator. To serve six, blend 2/3 cup sweetened condensed milk with 2 tablespoons melted butter, add ½ cup water and ⅛ teaspoon vanilla. Chill. Whip 1 cup cream and fold it into the chilled mixture. Freeze in refrigerator tray. When half frozen, scrape mixture from sides and bottom of tray, beat until smooth, but do not allow to melt. Add ½ cup finely chopped pecans. Freeze until firm.

WANT VITAMINS? THE INSIDE MEATS ARE RICH SOURCE

Also Provide Minerals and Good Eating.

Rich in good eating and rich in vitamins and minerals, the meats from the inside are worth serving oftener. What man's mouth wouldn't water at the prospect of a wine-flavored kidney stew, sautéed brain cutlets, stuffed beef heart, or broiled sweetbreads.

These meats aren't so difficult to prepare as you might think, and the following recipes will prove it.

KIDNEY STEW.
[Serves 6.]

3 beef kidneys
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
1¾ cups water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 small onion minced
⅔ cup red wine

Split kidneys; remove core, skin, and hard membrane and cut into sections. Cover with cold, salted water and soak for 1 hour; drain. Sauté in butter until lightly browned; add flour and cook 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Add water, onion, and seasonings and simmer 15 minutes, stirring until thickened. Add wine, heat to serving temperature and serve immediately.

BRAIN CUTLETS.

1 calf's brains
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 eggs beaten
Salt and pepper
Dry, fine bread crumbs
Butter

Cover brains with cold water and wash, removing all membrane possible. Rinse and soak in cold water for 1 hour. Drop into simmering salted water, to which vinegar has been added and simmer for 30 minutes. Remove with skimmer and plunge into cold water. Cut in slices and roll in crumbs, seasoned beaten eggs and then again in crumbs. Brown in butter, cover skillet and cook over very low heat until firm, about 10 minutes. Serve with crisp bacon.

BROILED SWEETBREADS.

Cover one pair of sweetbreads with boiling acidulated water [1 tablespoon vinegar per quart of water] and simmer, covered, for 20 minutes; drain and cover with cold water. When cool enough to handle remove membrane and tubes. Break into large pieces and sprinkle with salt and paprika and roll in flour. Wrap in bacon and secure with woodpick. Dot tops with butter and broil in hot broiler. Baste with drippings. Broil about 10 minutes and serve immediately with lemon butter.

MOCHA PRUNE CAKE, WITH PLENTY OF SPICE, IS A BAKING TRIUMPH

Plenty of spices, fruit, and a fluffy coffee flavored frosting all combine to make this luscious mocha prune cake a real baking triumph. What's more, it tastes just as good as it looks.

MOCHA PRUNE CAKE.
[Two 9-Inch Layers.]

2¼ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter or other shortening
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup cooked prunes, seeded and coarsely cut
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, salt, and spices, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and prune pulp. Add flour mixture alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating well after each addition. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in moderately hot oven [375 degrees] 25 to 30 minutes. Spread Fluffy Mocha Frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake.

FLUFFY MOCHA FROSTING.

2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
3 tablespoons cocoa
¼ teaspoon salt
1-6 cup strong coffee
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup broken nutmeats, toasted

Cream butter. Sift sugar, cocoa, and salt together. Add part of sugar mixture gradually to butter, blending after each addition. Add remaining sugar mixture, alternately with coffee, until of right consistency to spread. Add vanilla, beat until smooth, and spread on cake. Sprinkle top of cake with nuts.

Try Mushrooms and Green Beans for Meatless Meal

An attractive combination of vegetables can make a meatless meal a pleasant change from the usual fare. Such a dish is mushrooms with buttered green beans, prepared this way: Melt three tablespoons of butter in a saucepan. Drain one No. 1 can of sliced mushrooms and brown slightly in the butter. Add one No. 2½ can of drained green string beans or two pounds of fresh cooked beans and salt and pepper. Cook over low heat until well heated. Remove from the heat, dot generously with butter, and serve immediately.

WINTER FRUITS ARE AVAILABLE FOR ZIPPY SALAD

They Go Well with Heavy Cold Weather Menus.

With oranges, grapefruit, apples, and other wintertime fruits ready and waiting to take a dip in the salad dressing, there's little excuse for thinking of fruit salads as a summer specialty.

Tart winter fruits make zippy salads that go well with heavier cold weather menus. You'll like most of these salads best with French dressing, preferably made with lemon juice.

ORANGE BANANA SALAD
[Serves 6]

4 large oranges
3 bananas
Peanut butter
Lettuce
Honey French dressing

Pare oranges, cutting away all white membrane; cut into segments. Peel bananas and split in half lengthwise. Brush with orange juice. Spread peanut butter between halves and put together again. Cut bananas into crosswise slices about three-eighths of an inch thick. Arrange six to eight overlapping slices of banana in center of each lettuce bed. Place orange segments on either side of banana slices. Serve with honey French dressing.

HONEY FRENCH DRESSING

1 cup salad oil
6 tablespoons honey
½ cup cider vinegar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons catsup
1 tablespoon paprika
1 tablespoon salt

Beat all ingredients together until smooth and well blended. Shake well before using.

AVOCADO RING SALAD
[Serves 6]

Cut two avocados in half, remove seed, and peel thinly. Moisten cream cheese with a little milk and flavor with minced chives or onion juice. Fill seed cavity with cheese mixture and press halves together again. Wrap in waxed paper and chill. Slice rather thinly. Arrange two or three slices in lettuce cup. Serve with French dressing.

APPLE, CARROT, AND RAISIN SALAD
[Serves 6]

1 cup diced unpeeled raw apple
1 cup shredded carrot
½ cup steamed raisins
Cooked dressing

GRAPEFRUIT AND ONION SALAD
[Serves 6]

Pare two large solid grapefruit, removing all white membrane. Cut in one-quarter inch slices. Peel and cut two large Spanish onions in paper thin slices. Top each grapefruit slice with slice of onion and arrange three or four of each on each salad plate. Garnish with chicory and serve with French dressing.

ORANGE PRUNE SALAD

Peel and cut oranges into segments. Dip in thin French dressing and sprinkle with mint leaves. Stuff large steamed and pitted prunes with cottage cheese. Arrange several orange segments and one or two prunes on bed of chicory on each salad plate. Serve with French dressing.

Peanut Butter and Honey Sandwiches Are Healthful

POTATO PANCAKE PROVIDES WHOLE MEAL IN ITSELF

Recipes for old fashioned potato pancakes are many and varied, but here is one that's bound to be a favorite. It makes a light, fluffy pancake that is a meal in itself when topped with apple sauce or jelly.

POTATO PANCAKES.
[One Dozen.]

3 large potatoes
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup hot milk

Peel potatoes and grate them, tipping the bowl so water will run off. Add the well beaten eggs, sifted dry ingredients, and hot milk to the grated potatoes. Drop batter by tablespoonfuls onto a hot, greased griddle and brown on both sides. Serve hot with butter and apple sauce or jelly.

LENTEN SPECIAL: CHEESE AND EGGS WITH ASPARAGUS

Cheese and eggs are standbys in Lenten menus. Combine them with buttered asparagus and you have achieved something new in one dish meals.

CHEESE RISSOLO.

½ pound packaged processed cheese
⅓ cup milk
3 hard cooked eggs, sliced
¾ teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon chopped onions
Hot buttered asparagus
Toast

Slowly heat the cheese and milk in the top of a double boiler. Stir occasionally until cheese is melted. Add seasonings and sliced hard cooked eggs. For each serving place several stalks of hot buttered asparagus on fresh toast, and pour over it a generous amount of the hot cheese sauce.

WE WANT YOU... TO SETTLE... A BET ABOUT... Treet

"Tasty says: the reason you all are servin' so much Treet these days is 'cause it's so doggone fine-tastin' flavorful!

"He says that he sees to it that Treet's made only from the best table meats, an' that it's seasoned just right so they're at their most temptin'!"

"Now, Hasty here claims you're usin' Treet more 'n' more mainly 'cause it's so easy to fix...that you're just naturally going to serve a lot of a meat that's so versatile...that's ready to serve in minutes, hot or cold, in a hundred different ways!"

"An' Thrifty swears up an' down that Treet's such a favorite 'cause it's so economical . . . 'cause one can serves four hungry people well. . . Now, which one's right . . . or are all of 'em? Try Treet tonight and decide for yourself!"

"Now that's what I call good coffee"

How pleasant it is to listen to the compliments of your departing guests . . . remarks which recall their enthusiastic approval at dinner when one of them exclaimed . . . "NOW THAT'S WHAT I CALL GOOD COFFEE!"

"Talk about success . . . I've used Hills Bros. Coffee in several types of coffee-makers and always get delicious results because The Correct Grind is exactly right. I never have Hills Bros. Coffee reground. When you do that you lose aroma, flavor, and freshness."

IMPORTANT: Carefully observe timing for each method. Measure 2 level tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water. Vary amount of water slightly for exact strength desired and be sure to keep the coffee-maker clean.

WHEN USING THE DRIP METHOD: 6 to 8 minutes preferred. If less than 2/3 capacity is made, water will drip too fast, giving weak coffee.

WHEN USING A GLASS VACUUM-MAKER: Put upper bowl on after water boils. The coffee and water should be in contact 5 to 7 minutes.

Write to Hills Bros. Coffee, Inc., San Francisco, for a free copy of "The Art of Coffee-Making."

WHEN USING A PERCOLATOR: Start with cold or hot water. Percolate slowly 7 to 10 minutes after steady pumping starts.

WHEN USING A COFFEEPOT: Bring coffee to boiling. Stir. Remove from fire. Add a little cold water and let stand 5 minutes to settle.

WHEN USING THE STEEPING METHOD: Pour boiling water on coffee. Stir well. Stir again in 5 minutes. Steep for a total of 10 to 15 minutes.

Hint of the week

If your coffee-maker is one that requires a cloth filter, be sure after each using to thoroughly wash the filter in cold water—never with soap. Do not let the cloth dry out—keep it in a glass of cold water when not in use.

HERE'S ACTUAL PROOF THAT FAST-ACTING BAB-O DISSOLVES GREASE THAT MAKES DIRT STICK—SAVES WORK!

Your Own Eyes Tell You Why BAB-O Acts So Fast!

1. Scour one half of dirty pan with ordinary "lazy" cleanser. Notice how hard you work—how slowly dirt disappears.

2. Now try Bab-O. See how it dissolves grease so dirt gently wipes away, leaving pan clean, shiny, with far less work.

Why Scrape and Scour With Ordinary "Sluggish" Cleansers that Make Work Hard? Read How Bab-O Dissolves Grease So Dirt Just Wipes Away!

● Yes...it's not just dirt that makes cleaning so hard—it's grease! And that doesn't mean just pots and pans alone! It's also grease that makes dirt stick to bathroom fixtures, sinks, refrigerators—and actually causes 90% of all your scouring!

But how to get rid of that greasy binder? Ordinary "lazy" cleansers depend mainly on grit and arm-work. Bab-O, working on a different principle, was perfected especially to get rid of grease! Bab-O contains an active, special ingredient that quickly dissolves grease so dirt quickly wipes off. So Bab-O works faster, more effectively, with far less effort. A little does more cleaning. You save time, work, money too. Get Bab-O today.

NOTE: Bab-O is white—stays white even when wet—because it contains only pure cleaning ingredients.

LET'S TAKE A TRIP WITH MRS. C. (FOR CLEVER) SHOPPER

She Knows Way Around Bargain Counters.

BY MARY MEADE.

Let the big game hunters talk of the thrills of the African wilds, any homemaker who does her own grocery shopping gets just as much fun out of running down an elusive bargain. And the bargain quarry is plentiful this week-end.

If you offer to help tote bundles home, Mrs. Clever Shopper may let you go along when she sallies forth, armed with an ample market basket. She does her shopping in person to make sure that she gets the most value for the least money; finds out what is in season [and therefore at peak quality and rock bottom price]; learns about new items on the market, and can plan her meals to take advantage of the specials she finds.

Ready to Stock Her Pantry.

Since it's the week-end, she's all set to stock her pantry with the staples that are being featured. She buys coffee, fats [including vegetable shortenings, lard, margarine and butter], flour, sugar, and all her other baking supplies to last for a week or two. It not only saves money to buy at sale prices, it also saves shopping time.

She'll make a mental note to bake a sponge cake or two and feed the family lots of eggs for breakfast and in puddings, when she sees the reasonable price of eggs. If her family is observing Lent, she'll be putting in a supply of spaghetti, rice, and macaroni as well as the usual breakfast cereals.

Canned Goods, Too.

Because she's thrifty, this smart shopper will have a budget flexible enough to permit the buying of sale priced canned goods in quantity. You'll not find her cupboard bare—last minute buying is too expensive.

Vegetables she's sure to carry home will be carrots, cabbage, celery, lettuce, and cauliflower. She'll inspect that head of cabbage carefully before she buys it, because there is a wide range in the quality of cabbage right now, and it wouldn't do to get a loose or damaged head in an effort to save a couple of pennies.

If she feels like splurging a little, our bargain-wise buyer may buy broccoli or peas or spinach, all of which are getting down to a normal price level.

Unless she can find no other substitute, she'll not be interested in high priced cucumbers, green peppers, radishes, and beets. Nor will she be taken in by the fact that the luxury priced tomato is a little cheaper this week. If she buys Nebraska triumphs she'll buy them because they're good potatoes and not because she's mistaken them for new potatoes which are none too plentiful right now.

Oranges a Little Cheaper.

She'll be interested to note that oranges are all a little cheaper this week-end, that grapefruit prices haven't changed. She'll likely tuck a few stalks of that fine looking hot-house rhubarb in her market basket, too.

Some kind of pork, smoked or fresh, may well go home in her market basket. And she'll vary the pork diet with a rib roast of beef, a steak from the loin or round, or a pot roast. Chicken, and leg of veal, also featured in some markets, will merit her consideration, too.

Finally, before she trudges wearily but happily home, there'll be a stop at the frozen foods counter for the ready-to-cook vegetables, fish fillets, and prepared fruits that make Sunday dinner preparation easy.

Try Curry Powder on Crackers with Soup

Here is a new one. Spread crackers with butter, lightly sprinkle a little curry powder over the tops [just a few grains per cracker], toast until light brown and serve hot with soup.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Hot and Cold

TEN OTHER WAYS TO MAKE USE OF JAMS, PRESERVES

The old time notion that jams and preserves were fit only to top off slices of buttered bread is out of date. Many a tasty snack and beverage can be invented in a jiffy, if there's a plentiful supply of fruity spreads on the pantry shelf.

Try using these ideas next time you're opening a jar of preserves:

1. Add a third-cup preserves and some chopped green pepper to a cup of highly seasoned French dressing for a new salad discovery. Apricot, black raspberry, currant, grape, or red raspberry are good preserves for this.

2. Drop a teaspoon of apricot, blueberry, cherry, gooseberry, or peach preserves on top each muffin before baking.

3. Spread orange marmalade or red raspberry preserves over any plain or cheese omelet just before folding it.

4. Combine strawberry preserves and finely crumbled cooked bacon for a good snack or sandwich filling.

5. Serve grape jam with veal, gooseberry preserves with goose, youngberry jam with ham.

6. Make a refreshing fruit drink by beating together an egg white, a dash of salt, and a half cup of strawberry preserves until stiff and creamy. Add two cups of strong, unsweetened lemonade; shake with two cups finely crushed ice, and serve in tall glasses.

7. Spread any thick preserve between layers and on top of a cake and sprinkle with chopped nuts. No other frosting is necessary.

8. For an attractive and tasty dessert fill the cavity of a pear half with black raspberry jam and top with whipped cream.

9. Griddle cakes, waffles, or French toast are twice as good when they're served with a spread made of butter and jam or preserves. Heat a half cup of preserves with a fourth-cup of butter; add a dash of salt and serve hot.

10. To make spicy grape jam cupcakes, fold one-half cup grape jam into the batter for standard spice cake, and a new dessert is ready to top the menu.

You CAN Make Good Quick Loaf Bread—in a Jiffy!

If there was any doubt that a quick loaf bread could be made in a hurry, recent experiments settled the point. Once the ingredients have been carefully measured, the mixture may be practically thrown together with good results. The batter may be mixed in a jiffy and popped into the oven. If the oven is in use no harm is done by letting the batter stand a while before baking. In either case the final products show comparatively little difference in flavor, texture, or size.

Winter Care of Skin Plays Important Role in Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

You can be perfectly groomed from the top of your well coiffed head to the tips of your well pedicured toes, but if you have overlooked winter care of your skin you have failed to complete your grooming job.

Winter skin care means that you must protect it against chapping by constant use of a cream or a lotion. The skin gets much abuse from the cold and wind, it needs to be supplied with the lubrication which the winter elements tend to dry out of the fat glands.

You are all familier with our oft repeated advice to use a hand lotion or cream after each handwashing to keep the hands soft and white. Now we want to point out that the hands are not the only parts of the body that need care. Legs, arms [especially elbows], neck, and face, when they are exposed to wind and cold often become so chapped that a little gentle rubbing flakes off a white, fine "dust." If the chapped skin is not painful you may not be aware of the fact that your skin has this dusty look.

So to prevent chapped skin, or to heal it, we recommend that you keep your favorite brand of cream or lotion handy where you can grab it quickly and "slither" it over your body immediately after you've bathed. Rub gently until every trace of the cream or lotion has been absorbed into the pores. If you want a good old-fashioned skin softening lotion ask your druggist to mix you one of glycerin and rose water.

Should the water be hard where you live, the hardness may be uncomfortable to your skin. In this case make small cheescloth bags for the wash basin, larger ones for the tub, and fill with almond meal or oatmeal. Squeeze them into the water until it is quite milky. Add finely shaved soap to the contents of the bag.

Rid your hair of surplus oil with salt treatments, as described in Antoinette Donnelly's booklet, "Bring Out the Beauty in Your Hair." On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. Postpaid, 7 cents.

Two Piece Fashion Factor

WOMAN'S AND MISS' TWO PIECE FROCK.

The establishment of the two piece, "sculptured" costume as a fashion factor began during the southern resort season. Now this type of costume is a "must" for summer wear. We suggest that you get busy with the needle now, so that warm weather will not find you unprepared.

Collarless or collared, the snug, small jacket with ingenious paneling is fashion-wise. And below the nipped-in waistline and molded hip the skirt flares beautifully. Both plain and figured washable silks, cottons, and linens make up effectively. It's a costume you'll wear all season long.

Style No. 3210 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting for collar and cuffs.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Horowitz, Back After 5 Years, Wins Ovation

BY EDWARD BARRY.

In Orchestra hall last night Vladimir Horowitz, Russian pianist, made his first appearance with the Chicago Symphony orchestra in five years. Frederick Stock conducted. Mr. Horowitz played the solo part of the third Rachmaninoff concerto and received an ovation at the end.

But there was something wrong with the ovation. True, it was compounded of rapid fire applause, great open mouthed shouts, and even a whistle or two, but a certain forced quality made itself unmistakably felt. It was as if the audience was applauding Horowitz because he had returned after so long an interval, because he was known to be a great pianist and therefore entitled on general principles to an ovation, or because expectation of this event had charged numerous bosoms with emotions that absolutely demanded an outlet. There was certainly no impression that the grandeur of the music or of the performance had itself set off the demonstration.

The applause died too quickly; there was not enough insistence on an encore. The audience broke up too readily—with what amounted almost to alacrity—when it became apparent that no encore was to be given.

Responsible for all this was a performance which, altho admirable and even superlative in spots, seemed in general the work of a tired man. The concerto pleased, but it did not inflame; it made its points adequately, but these points lacked their ultimate punch. The pianist's tone, to pick out something specific, fell short, by the smallest measure, of that effortlessness and fullness and free flowingness which represents a legitimate ideal in the performance of climactic passages in such highly romantic music. And his phrasing lacked that grip that can hold an audience on tenterhooks and make it beg for the next note.

To stress the good rather than the not so good for a moment, Mr. Horowitz's astounding dexterity and the lightness and facility of his quieter passages were as admirable as ever. And the modesty of his personal and musical demeanor is still a standing reproach to those virtuosi who love to make a display of their own personalities.

The pre-Horowitz part of the evening was a miniature Bach festival. There were the third Brandenburg concerto, the B minor string suite, and Mr. Stock's transcription of the "St. Anne's" prelude and fugue for organ.

In the first two works, especially, were a sunniness, a healthfulness, and an unforced delight which were due in some small part, at least, to the obvious joyfulness which the performers brought to their task. In the suite Ernest Liegl's flute playing had a morning-of-the-world freshness and spontaneity—plus a completely sophisticated sureness and accuracy.

Snow Chasers Say Come On, Skiing's Fine

BY JUDITH CASS.

GOOD skiing everywhere around Chicago with a possibility of more snow is the forecast for this week-end of the Snow Chase club, which keeps tab on snow conditions hereabouts. By telephoning headquarters this morning members will hear the latest news of Wilmot, Houghton, Iron Mountain, Wausau, La Crosse, and Ironwood, all popular ski centers no farther than an overnight run from Chicago.

In one of its most cheerful bulletins of the winter the club asks its members if they ever have tried skiing on spring snow, or corn snow, as it is called. Many experienced skiers like it best of all, for the days are long, the sun is warm, and sports lovers get their first summer's sunburn.

Excellent Skiing Thru March at Houghton.

"All thru March there should be excellent skiing up at Houghton, where you can spend a week-end for about $25," the bulletin says. "The snow drifts across a plateau into the hollows where a tow has been built." The club also is urging its members to go to Sun Valley for the "corn" snow season, after March 25, when there will be plenty of rooms, smaller instruction classes, and no waiting for the tows at the famed resort.

Probably no skier in Chicago is more disappointed than Mrs. Montgomery Orr, who for over a year has been looking forward to a trip to Sun Valley. She and Mr. Orr had planned to leave yesterday, but Mrs. Orr broke her foot last Sunday at Wilmot, and will not be able to ski until the first part of April.

Corwith Hamill is leaving tonight for Sun Valley to join his wife, who went out a week ago. Mrs. Lawrence Denman is going west today, too, to be joined later by her husband. Mrs. Ray C. Johns and her daughter, Miss Ray Johns, are others who live in Wayne who are at the resort. Mr. Johns will join them later.

Stewart Boals Leave for Ranch in West.

Stewart Boal, one of the Snow Chase committee, and Mrs. Boal left last night for Denver to spend a long week-end skiing at the Drowsy Water ranch. The Orrs will leave for Sun Valley April 1, and after three weeks at the resort will go to their ranch in Cameron, Mont., and to visit his mother, Mrs. Arthur Orr, at her ranch in Bear Creek, Mont. Miss Alice Orr, who is in Arizona, probably will be in Bear Creek then.

Another Wilmot casualty is Daggett Harvey, who safely negotiated the slopes at Sun Valley earlier this winter. He broke his ankle at Wilmot a week or so ago.

Junior Prom Tonight at Princeton University.

Nassau gymnasium at Princeton university is being turned into a Mexican fiesta scene for the annual junior prom to be held tonight. Over 800 couples will dance in a setting of tropical palms under a ceiling done in golden tones, tinged with deepening shades of blue. Brilliant panels of Aztec design flank the boxes to which the couples will return after each program dance.

In the crowd of youthful dancers as guests of Chicago students will be young women from as far away as London and Istanbul, Turkey. "It makes it seem as if we were 'all sewn up' with whatever girl we invite when the newspapers couple our names" was the complaint of one young Princetonian after reading a description of last year's party. At the risk of making romantic implications, however, it is interesting to note that Oden Meeker is to escort the Londoner, Miss Valerie Cole, and that Allan Horton will play host to Miss Alice Shepard of Istanbul.

It is natural that a student should want to ask a favorite dancing partner to the prom, but sometimes the host sees but little of the young woman he has invited, so elastic are the convention sat today's dancing parties. Miss Barbara White, Miss Pats Blackett, Miss Edith Cowles, Miss Sydney Meeker, and Miss Edith Porter, debutantes of the winter; Miss Margaret McGrath, Miss Betty Keator, and Miss Carol Letts are to be some of the feminine guests from Chicago.

An Autograph and a Coincidence.

Last summer a Chicago book expert did a fine job of binding a copy of Mutiny on the Bounty for a Chicago book collector whom we shall call Mr. Blank. About that time a story about Pitcairn Island, which had been sent to the outside world by Lucy Christian, great-granddaughter of Fletcher Christian, head mutineer on H. M. S. Bounty, appeared in the newspapers, and it occurred to the book expert that it would be nice to have her autograph in the book he had bound so beautifully for his client. He wrote to her, on the happy chance that she might receive his letter and comply with his request.

The other day he received a letter from Lucy Christian. She told about the island, described how her great-grandfather had been murdered, commented that the moving picture had never been shown on the island (something overlooked, surely, by the film company in its publicity campaign). She inclosed her autograph:

"For Mr. Blank, signed by Lucy Christian, great-granddaughter of Fletcher Christian."

Then she appended a postscript. "I wonder," she wrote, "if Mr. Blank could be any relation to Capt. Blank who used to run a whaling ship in these waters and who was an old friend."

The book expert showed Mr. Blank Lucy Christian's letter.

"Certainly. The Capt. Blank who sailed a whaling ship in those seas was my grandfather," he said.

New Chicago Publication.

The newest Chicago publication to make its bow is The Tattler, a monthly that the editor, Paul Hugo Little, says will be a "mirror of Chicago artistic, social, and night life." The first issue, out this week, contains a story with a Chicago background by Louis Zara, author of This Land of Ours. Other departments: Sports, theater, records, chatter, and fashions.

The editor, Mr. Little, is a chess player. Last Saturday evening when Reuben Fine, American open champion, played 34 games—two of them blindfolded—at the Covenant club, of which he won 27, lost one, and drew five, Mr. Little obtained a draw with him in one of the two blindfold games.

Wonder if the picture, Swiss Family Robinson, has influenced the sale of the book. First editions of the novel sometimes bring as much as $500 and there is a demand for them, so you better look thru your old books and see if you've got one. The English edition was first published in 1820; the German one earlier.

Good Morning!

The Palace proudly plays host this week to the "world première" of two pictures—"The House of Seven Gables" and "Black Friday," and yesterday was presenting in person at four shows two visiting players featured in the productions—Bela Lugosi and Vincent Price [Nice chaps!]

Mr. Lugosi has a prominent rôle in "Black Friday," tho Boris Karloff and Stanley Ridges play the main rôles. Mr. Price is the noble brother in "The House of Seven Gables," while George Sanders portrays with ominous éclat the Pyncheon brother whose heart is black as night.

The latter picture is an adaptation of the story by Nathaniel Hawthorne about an old New England house supposed to have a curse upon it. . . . In the 17th century it had been built upon land wrongfully acquired by a Pyncheon who, to secure it, had succeeded in getting its lawful owner hung for witchcraft. As Matthew Maule stood on the scaffold he had cried, "You and yours shall drink blood. . . ."

Which brings us up to the time of the picture when the house is about to be sold for bankruptcy. The younger son is all for it, but Gerald, the father, and Jaffrey, the elder brother who believes a legend that a deed to a million acres of rich land AND half a million in gold are secreted in the old walls, oppose the sale. Hepzibah, a cousin, in love with Clifford, who also lives in the house, sides with her beloved. . . .

Gerald dies in a fit of rage and Clifford is accused by Jaffrey of murder. He's sentenced to life imprisonment. . . . Hepzibah becomes a recluse. . . . But strange things are to occur and Jaffrey is to find himself trapped almost exactly as he had trapped Clifford.

Quite an effective movie—excellently acted.

It's no easy job to play nursemaid to a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde personality, which becomes the task of Boris Karloff in "Black Friday"!

As Dr. Sovac, famous surgeon, and his daughter, Jean, are taking their friend, Prof. George Kingsley, and his wife, Margaret, to a railway station, they get mixed up in a gangster killing. . . . Kingsley, as he alights, is run into by the car of Red Cannon, gangster chief, who has been shot by his enemies. . . . The doctor means to save Cannon, but when he finds that, without a certain—and illegal—operation, Kingsley will die from a skull injury, he transplants part of the Cannon brain in the Kingsley cranium. . . . Cannon dies. . . . Kingsley lives—to be part of the time Kingsley and part of the time a man terrifyingly his opposite. . . . The doc, who knows Cannon had vast funds hidden somewhere, attaches himself to the patient like a barnacle. . . . Perhaps in a Cannon interval he will discover the hiding place and become the possessor of enough money to finance a new laboratory he craves. . . .

PLENTY happens! And it's all interesting, too!

Stanley Ridges does an impressive job of personality switching. He certainly can look like two different persons. I did think, tho, that having the color of his hair change from gray to black and back again was going a bit too far. . . . Karloff makes a believable medical man, and Lugosi plays a very tough egg as he so well knows how. . . .

Do you like the gruesome? If so, DO run over to the Palace and get a platterful!

Angna Enters' Water Colors Rate Four Stars

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A delightful exhibit in town just now is that of water colors and drawings by Angna Enters in the Marshall Field galleries. Angna Enters is a brilliant person, gifted in many ways. She writes, she paints, and she dances. Her dancing is more than dancing—it is pantomine, theater and dance combined. The same beauty of vision and understanding which underlies this ability of hers underlies her painting, too. The sketches are fresh, colorful, spirited, original, and deeply personal. It is a four star exhibit, despite its size.

Another interesting little exhibition is found at Gallery House, 17 East Elm street. Here are portraits and studies by Robert Long and sculpture by Charles Umlauf. Several of the portraits are very fine. Mr. Long has a decided flair for yellow and paints it beautifully. A few of the canvases are less likable in their sketchy undress.

Charles Umlauf has made something of a name for himself in his sculpture. He has won prizes and been given several honors. His work is flowing in line and harmonious in content. There is a gentle touch to the various groups which is worth noticing.

Members of the jury for painting and sculpture for the 44th annual exhibition by artists of Chicago and vicinity are meeting this week at the Art institute. A change has been made in the jury for painting. George Biddle was unable to be present and the jury now stands Louis Betts, Alexander Brook, and Morris Kantor, who was fourth on the list of favorites, winning 209 votes from Chicago artists.

"What Picasso Means to Me" is the subject to be discussed this evening at 8 o'clock at the Chicago Society of Artists' American Fore gallery, 830 Rush street. L. Moholy-Nagy and Kathleen Blackshear will hold the floor against Irwin St. John Tucker. The public is invited.

Paintings by John Beaver are on view in the school lobby of the Art institute. Mr. Beaver won the John Quincy Adams traveling fellowship in 1938 and in the fall of that year went to Europe. He came home last May and died unexpectedly two weeks later. This exhibit is a memorial exhibition of his paintings, drawings, and water colors.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

"Nail styling" is the latest contribution to the pursuit of glamor. It's the idea—undoubtedly copyrighted—of a house that makes quite fine polishes and several other hand beautifiers.

We're not being facetious when we say we think they have rather a good idea there. As you all know, there are many different types of hands and the idea of shaping all nails the same way isn't sound—any more than the notion of shaping all mouths [with lipstick] the same way.

This house is trying to teach women how to recognize or type their own hands and then have their nails done in a manner that is appropriate and attractive to their hands.

For simplification they break hands down into five types. There's the creative hand, a bit on the square side. The "executive hand" is almost as square, but a firm rather than fragile tapering distinguishes the finger tips. The "patrician" hand is moderately slim and long of finger, and perfectly proportioned. The artistic hand you all know. Sensitivity is written all over its somewhat nervous looking contour. The exotic hand is extravagantly long and slim—almost strange looking.

The idea is to shape the nails in a suitable fashion; we applaud it because we think too many women adopt the exotic nail outline. And their hands don't quite carry it off.

For the creative hand these experts suggest nails kept short, following the natural oval shape of the finger tips. Nails on the executive hand can be a bit longer and narrower. Those for the patrician hand are supposed to be in the shape of a modified oval, with a hairline tip and the natural moon left uncovered.

With the exotic hand, of course, you can go the limit in nail shaping. Long, exaggerated points and no moons or tips showing give the nails a chic they—and only they—can get away with. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Super Comfort Emphasized in New Felt Hats

BY REA SEEGER.

When a veteran dress designer decides to whip up hats the results either are significantly different or else the equal of the clothes in wearability and general makeup. Such a new collection now ready for appreciative shoppers emphasizes fit with felt. They are the supercomfortable toppers that every one hunts for and usually wears out considerable shoe leather finding. Here they are with price marks around $5, brilliant examples of head streamlining with reason; felts of fine quality, expertly fashioned, with brims.

These brims flatter the eyeline, curve softly in any angle, and you will find them cut shallow, medium, and wide. Crowns have been as skillfully cut and outlined in various interesting shapes, also high, low, and medium. Tricky stitching and fancy seaming are the only "dressmaker" details. Another model similar to a brimmed sailor has plenty of swank and the high straight crown is swathed in striped jersey with two fishtail ends at the side.

Felt classics like these new arrivals are the sort of hats that women wear for country, for travel, for shopping in town with their smartly tailored thin wool suits or tweed ensembles. Because of the range of colors this dressmaker collection rates special shopping note. The copper browns are warm and vital, there are dull blacks, several shades of gray, a good strong flattering navy blue, and high colors with pastels. For the modest price mark these town and country felts can't be beat.

Child Should Avoid Offense to Adult, Too

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Dear Mrs. Bevans," begins a letter from what I call an "interested observer." "Will you be good enough to write a pointed article in your paper in regard to the following subject?

"My friend has two girls, and whenever I visit her I vow never to return as I am so annoyed with their bad manners. Can you tell me by what name or how children should address friends of their mother? They call me by my first name and always have, and when they do happen to call me 'Aunt Helen,' the smallest one, who is 8 years old and terribly spoiled, corrects herself by saying in a sarcastic way 'you are not my aunt' and it infuriates me to see her mother grin as tho she had spoken some brilliant line.

"Can you understand some parents? I have other friends who teach their children to call all their old friends by some courtesy name, and one friend in particular explains to her little boy that some are relatives and the others are his 'courtesy aunts.' I don't want to break off a friendship of long standing, but as time goes by I try to see less and less of her as I am disgusted with her way of raising her children in general, but especially in that respect. She reads your column every day so will you be good enough to print something on that subject?"

Sooner or later most mothers have to settle this sort of thing with their children, and not only with their children, but to the satisfaction of their adult friends. Some women object to being called "aunt" by all their friends' children. Some like to be called "aunt" by the children of very dear friends, but not by others.

What then shall they be called? That is something that has to be worked out, "Mrs. W——" and "Miss M——" are logical; or if those sound too formal, some "little name" can be invented. Often a special name just sprouts, as when a small child tries to pronounce a difficult name and ends up with an amusing or attractive version of it. Among my own friends I notice that some like to be called "aunt," some accept Mrs., and some prefer to be called simply by their first name, in the same way that I speak to them.

The mother in this letter is, however, doing more to her child than allowing her to be guilty of a momentary discourtesy. She may "grin" and think the child's correction smart, but in a few years that smile will disappear, for she will begin to find that such "smartness" is not cute. She will find, too, that friends are likely to draw away from a home in which the children are allowed to be objectionable. But more serious than that, she will have to face the fact that her children are suffering for being spoiled and unmannerly.

We don't have to make a fetish of manners, but simple courtesy and moderate considerateness can be learned without strain. Obedience, and the lack of self-consciousness that comes with a sensible attitude toward one's children, redound to a child's benefit, and tend to make grown people accept and like him. And we must not forget, in all this talk about "social adjustment," that a child needs to learn to get along with adults as well as with other children.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Column on Crawford.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 29.—Joan Crawford is the most common phenomenon we have out here in Hollywood, the child of divorced parents, and I think that all and any of these youngsters who have been cut off from a father or a mother because the parents messed up their lives is entitled to and must be accorded special consideration. . . . If environment means as much as it's cracked up to mean, a kid deprived of one or the other parent gets all the worst of it, particularly a girl. . . . So in considering the case of Joan Crawford you've got to keep that in mind. . . . Against that background her tremendous success is all the more remarkable.

I say tremendous success, and that is a fair summation because she's been making pictures at Metro since 1925, and I think "Pretty Ladies" was her first assignment at that studio. . . . In the ensuing years, when she boosted herself to stardom, it is safe to say that Joan Crawford made more dough for M.-G.-M. stockholders than any player on that lot. . . . She typified young America in those early days, and young and old broke down theater doors to watch her in such flickers as "Dancing Lady," "Today We Live," "Dancing Daughters," "Possessed," and others that gave her a chance to exhibit a formful chassis plus a wide-eyed stare and a wide-mouthed style. . . . She antedated the jitterbug of a later generation, and she was what the Benny Goodman devotees would describe as a "solid sender."

It has been advanced against her that she married Douglas Fairbanks Jr. because he was a link to movie royalty and offered open sesame to Pickfair. . . . This is so silly that it is hardly worth dignifying. . . . Every girl in town had her cap tilted for young Doug and those who failed where Joan succeeded thereafter rapped the daylights out of her because she beat them to it. . . . No one ever has suggested that Joan ever was anything but a grand wife in both of her marriages. . . . She worked to make a success of marriage just as strenuously as she has attempted to make a success of anything else she put her hand to.

In battling for the success which she has attained no one will deny that the former Lucille Le Sueur has never spared herself. . . . Doubt and indecision assailed her only once. . . . She was dancing in the Winter Garden chorus of a Shubert show when Al Altman, M.-G.-M. talent scout, decided that the vivacious, plump youngster had what it takes on the screen. . . . He sent for her to make a test. . . . Joan told N. T. Granlund, for whom she was working in a night club, about the offer and said gayly that she wasn't going over for the screen test. . . . "Why not?" asked Granlund. "O, it's silly," she said. . . . He cuffed her on one ear and told her that if she wanted to work all her life as a chorus girl she was pursuing the proper imbecilic course. . . . "If you want to amount to something," he warned, "take that screen test."

It is incredible that any one ever should have had to insist that Joan "amount to something," because she has kept that thought in the foreground ever since she learned the Hollywood ropes. . . . She has studied, she has dieted, she has observed people, she has rehearsed endlessly—whatever she has won in the way of success has been well merited. . . . If at times she has dished it out, as the saying goes, by the same token she has demonstrated that she can take it.

The Girl in the Shadows

By Roy Vickers

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

On the eve of her marriage to Michael Alloway, Cynthia is wrongly sentenced to prison, the scapegoat of Rory Clarke. Michael knows nothing about it, as Cynthia has given the name of Clara Brown when arrested as Clarke's accomplice in a roadhouse robbery and murder. At prison, Bessie, Cynthia's friend, is wardress and changes places with her so she can marry Michael without him knowing of her disgrace. After the honeymoon Michael returns to his job in Malta and leaves her with his mother and sister, whereupon Cynthia returns to prison, but soon discovers she is going to have a baby. She escapes from prison and goes back to Michael's family. Clarke blackmails her, and Scotland Yard gets suspicious and arrests her as she attempts to fly to Malta to join Michael. Her marriage date, when Clara Brown was supposed to be in prison, clears her, but Marion, Michael's sister, becomes suspicious when she discovers that Bessie [who has left the employment of the prison to work for Marion], has sent a message of warning to Cynthia. Bessie is forced to explain to Marion. Clarke attempts to blackmail Marion while she is staying in Cynthia's London flat. The police trail him to her flat, but he escapes, using Marion as a shield. Cynthia and Michael return to London with their newborn son and Clarke attempts to blackmail her again. Michael, feeling sure it is mistaken identity, notifies Scotland Yards, who hope to trap Cynthia as well as Clarke. Clarke kidnaps Marion, but lets her return home after she promises to meet him the next day with money enough to escape England and not bother Cynthia and her any more. She meets him with the money, only to find on her return home that he has broken his agreement and has extorted money from Cynthia on threat of kidnaping her baby. Furious over being tricked by Clarke, Marion takes Bessie with her and goes to his home, having remembered his address when she was kidnaped by him. The detectives trail them. Michael is in a dilemma when Scotland Yard attempts to question Bessie.

INSTALMENT XLVII.
PROMISED IDENTIFICATION.

"Well, it's telling you nothing you can't find out for yourself," the inspector replied. She was a wardress at Honebyker and was in charge of Clara Brown at the time when you and Mrs. Alloway were being married. In the circumstances, it was just possible for the wardress and the convict to change places for a fortnight."

"O-h!" Michael gave vent to a laugh of relief. "I'm getting it. As Bessie won't say where she was on her holiday and as my wife doesn't remember where she was, you put two and two together—and make 400?"

"Of course, it seems ridiculous to you, Mr. Alloway. But there it is. We can't take account of individual cases. And by the rules of the department, Mrs. Alloway has not completely proved her identity. And that Miss Stockley is having a game with us."

"Now look here, Mr. Rason—I'll call a family pow-wow," said Michael, as if the whole trouble were virtually settled. "I'll see if I can help my wife remember. Not tonight—we've had enough for one day. And I think I can promise you that——"

He broke off as a man approached Rason, a young well dressed man who was not obviously a plain clothes policeman.

After a minute's confabulation the young man hurried away and Rason turned back to Michael.

"I'd have that pow-wow as soon as possible, Mr. Alloway. We've just got a line on Clarke—the best we've had, and it's thanks to those marked notes which Mrs. Alloway planted on him for us."

"Then, if she has helped you to catch him, what about your theory of her being an accomplice," grinned Michael.

"It was never my theory," said Rason unblushingly, and added: "If we get Clarke alive we may have to ask Mrs. Alloway to see him—so that he can identify her. Or not, as the case may be. And now I must bolt for it."

Thirty-three of the marked pounds had been handed to the police by a Chinese storekeeper. They had been paid to him in settlement of a debt, he said, by a Greek skipper named Andropoulides, of the Greek tramp Leukos, which was sailing from the Port of London while the Chinese was laying his information.

Within an hour and a half of leaving the Gulverbury, Detective-Inspector Rason, with five of his own men, was aboard a river police boat. They had so easily beaten the slow moving tramp on its progress down river that they chugged upstream for 10 minutes.

"That's the Leukos," announced the police skipper. "We'll give 'em the signal. And when we've run you alongside you'll do your stuff; and we're glad it's you and not us."

On board the tramp the telegraph rang as the pilot pushed the lever to "Stop."

"Police," grunted the pilot to the skipper. "If you've got any stuff you oughtn't to have, you're going to be unlucky."

The skipper slipped into his cabin where Clarke, made up as the dingiest of Greek deck hands, was sipping an execrable Greek wine.

"Pol-is!" hissed the Greek. "You say you no get me trouble; you no get me it quick."

"Okay, Socrates!" drawled Clarke. "How far is it to the bank?"

"A quarter kilometer—that side. You sweem? Yes, quick!"

He looked over the side while the crew lowered the companion.

It was a difficult shot from the deck. He steadied the muzzle of his revolver in the crook of his elbow and took aim at the searchlight, as if with a rifle.

With the bank he heard a "ping" which told him that he had hit the metal and missed the glass.

Another shot. Missed again. A third, and then the splintering of glass. He had settled the searchlight.

The police did not know that he was aiming at the searchlight. They believed him mad enough to attempt to kill them all and seize the motor launch.

As Clarke swung over the rail a police bullet struck him. He dived well and came up. Then he felt a sharp pain in his side and knew that he was going to faint in the water.

He came to consciousness the following morning in St. Seiriol's hospital. The police were taking no risks this time. They had engaged a large private room with barred windows. There was a police guard inside the room and two armed men in the corridor—this, altho the doctors had expressed little hope of the patient's recovery.

"Can you understand me, Clarke?" asked Rason.

"Listen—will you identify Clara Brown if we bring her here?"

"And why, my good Rason, should I bother to do you a favor?"

"Because we can still make things hard or soft for you—during the next few weeks. You can have everything you want in reason—your clothes, newspapers and the rest of it—or we can stick to the book of the rules."

Clarke was silent, struggling to hold consciousness.

"I must have the newspapers," he muttered feebly. "All right—bring her along. I'll identify her."

"I don't see that it will prove anything," said Cynthia desperately. "The man has already mistaken me for another woman. No doubt he will do so again."

With Michael and Marion she was in a taxi that was taking them to the hospital.

"I admit I can't see their point of view," grunted Michael. "But Rason made it clear that if we didn't come they would have to arrest you—formally, of course. So I gave my parole that we'd turn up. No use talking about it.

"I don't believe Clarke would be so base," muttered Marion. "I don't believe it, I tell you." She was in a highly nervous state and had insisted on coming with them, ignoring all attempts to dissuade her.

At the hospital Rason was awaiting for them in the entrance hall. And then came another maddening delay.

They were cooped up in the waiting room for 20 minutes before a junior house surgeon spoke to Rason.

"All ready," said Rason. "This way, please."

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Few players realize the value of sacrifice bidding. It is correct to overbid deliberately when you think your loss will be less than if the opponents are permitted to play the hand. Another advantage is that the opponents may decide to continue with their own bidding and maybe set themselves instead of setting you.

In today's hand West was guilty of a major bidding error when he failed to sacrifice at five hearts. His loss would have been only 200 points. As it was, the opponents scored a game worth about 400 points.

East, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 diamond	1 spade	2 hearts	2 spades
3 hearts	4 spades	Pass	Pass
Pass

South's jump to four spades was well chosen to give the impression of strength. He was by no means confident of making his contract, but was sure West would go to four hearts over three spades. Then he would have to bid four spades and the opponents might be in a better position to choose between doubling and continuing with hearts. But by bidding four spades at once he might intimidate West and prevent him from arriving at the correct decision.

West was intimidated, altho for no discernible reason. He should have gone to five hearts with some hope of making the contract.

Against four spades, West opened the deuce of diamonds. This was obviously a singleton and declarer lost no time in putting up dummy's ace. He ruffed a heart in his hand and got back to dummy with a trump. Another heart was ruffed and dummy entered with a second high trump for a final heart ruff.

At this point South stopped to count out the hand. West had led a singleton diamond and had showed up with only one spade. He therefore had started with eleven cards in hearts and clubs. These were six hearts and five clubs, since with a seven card heart suit he undoubtedly would have bid again, and with a six card club suit, which would have to be headed by the K-Q-J, he would have risked a five club bid over four spades. East was therefore marked with a singleton club, and South saw a way to avoid losing the expected two diamonds and two clubs.

South simply cashed the ace of clubs and led a diamond. East cashed his two diamond tricks, but then had to lead a red card, permitting South to ruff while North discarded a losing club.

On the House

Built-in shelves can do wonders for that malformed wall which has been a problem. . . . And in case you decide this spring that your books are getting out of hand it may be that built-in shelves in those spaces between your windows can change the face of a room. . . . And if you are lucky enough to boast an old-fashioned alcove in your home, carefully built-in shelves can transform it into a cozy library nook.

Women Propose Campaign to Amend Eight Hour Law

Women's organizations in Illinois will be invited to attend a rally in Springfield to organize a campaign to amend the state eight hour law for women, Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, president of the Alliance of Business and Professional Women of Chicago, said yesterday. The date for the conference will be announced within a week. Members of the alliance believe the law is discriminatory against women in business. They seek to exempt office workers, executives and supervisors from its provisions.

Snow Chasers Say Come On, Skiing's Fine

Mrs. C. Morse Ely and Mrs. Nina Bingham will join them.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Pierce are leaving tomorrow for Pasadena. They will be away for about six weeks and will visit Mrs. Pierce's sisters, Mrs. J. Findlay Torrence and Mrs. D. Herbert Hosttetter Jr.

Mrs. Francis Beidler and her son, Francis, are leaving on Sunday for Palm Beach, where they will spend the remainder of the season.

The Robert Cartons, Mrs. Beidler's son-in-law and daughter, are planning to move into their new home on Onwentsia road at the end of April.

Mrs. Frank Hibbard and Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall have gone to Florida to join their husbands, who have been touring the state in Mr. Marshall's trailer. Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard met in Key West. Mr. Marshall took the trailer to Asheville, N. C., to pick up Mrs. Marshall and their daughter, Mrs. Richard W. Simmons, who stopped off to see the David R. Falls [Elizabeth Marshall Fleming] en route south.

Mr. Simmons may go south to visit his mother, Mrs. George W. Simmons, of St. Louis, at her winter home in Hobe Sound, and return with his wife in two weeks. The Hibbards will return to Chicago about March 10.

Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift expects to have recovered sufficiently from an attack of "flu", by tomorrow to join Mr. Swift in Florida. Mr. Swift left last week for Miami. He and Mrs. Swift plan to be away for about six weeks, during which time they will visit Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Hodges have gone to Winter Park, Fla., to spend about 10 days with his brother-in-law and sister, the Ernest George Gilbert Kilroes.

Twin Girls Born to Mr. and Mrs. Bolster

Their many Chicago friends will be interested to hear that Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Bolster of Winchester, Mass., became the parents of twin daughters yesterday. Mrs. Bolster is the former Betty Warren of Evanston, one of the prettiest of the debutantes of the 1928 season here. The babies, who will not celebrate their birthday for four years, have a little sister, Barbara, who is 3.

Mrs. Malcolm J. Odell and her baby son, Malcolm Jr., arrived last Sunday from Mendham, N. J., to spend a month with the baby's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Odell, in Winnetka.

Miss Helen Flint, leading lady of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," has taken an apartment at 229 Lake Shore drive for the duration of the play.

Arranging flowers for a living room will be discussed by Marc Leeds at 11 o'clock this morning in the Chicago Junior league clubrooms in the Drake. Those attending the lecture are asked to bring their own containers. Flowers will be supplied. Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., Mrs. G. Amsden Gooch, and Mrs. Ferre C. Watkins are among those experimenting with arrangements. A class on flower arrangements will be included in the league's art show to be held May 7 at the Arts club.

Delta Tau Delta.

HAROLD TEEN—HELLO THERE

Lent Day by Day

Edited by the Rev. John Evans

LOOP SERVICES.

[At 12:10 unless otherwise indicated.]

Harris theater: The Rev. Dr. Charles W. Sheerin of New York.

CATHOLIC MASSES.

Holy Name cathedral, 730 North State street.

St. Patrick's church, Adams and Des Plaines streets.

St. Mary's church, 910 South Wabash avenue.

Assumption church, 325 West Illinois street.

EPISCOPAL EUCHARIST.

Cathedral Shelter, Washington boulevard and Peoria street.

"Has it ever puzzled you how any one could be angry at Christ? The very thought that he could have enemies seems so shocking. Actually, the reason for opposition to Christ was then as it is, alas, today. It arose from Christ's transcendent claims—that he is the Truth, and that he is God. That is the claim that has always made unbelievers fume the most.

"When the crowd lashed out at him, he calmly replied, 'Before Abraham was, I Am,' and that 'I Am' was no less than the awesome name of Jehovah himself. At the shock of it, there was no choice but to take up the stones that the law prescribed for blasphemy, or to bend the knee!"

Fraternity Will Honor Tennessee U. President

James D. Hoskins, president of the University of Tennessee, will be given the annual distinguished service award of the Chicago alumni of Pi Kappa Alpha, his fraternity, at the founder's day banquet tonight in the Hotel Chicagoan. Lynn Waldorf, head football coach at Northwestern university, who received the 1937 award, will be toastmaster. Attorney John L. Packer of Pittsburgh, Pa., national counsel of the fraternity, will deliver the main address.

Paris Women Form New Clubs to Cure Boredom of War

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 29.—Paris women have discovered a surefire cure for this "war of nerves." While their husbands are mobilized they are fighting boredom by joining numerous women's clubs which recently have sprung up.

Near the Champs Elysees is a smart club which already boasts 3,000 members. Mme. Paule Carette, the red headed vice president, said, "We organize hiking, skiing, and swimming parties. Many women of 30 and 35 years of age have joined since the war started."

The membership fee in this club is $2 yearly. Every member helps in the administration to keep down the expenses.

Fine Arts Forum.

Arturo Fallico will speak on "Pablo Picasso, His Contribution to Present Day Living," at the Fine Arts forum this afternoon in the Chicago galleries, 215 North Michigan avenue. Mrs. Marco Adrogna will review Agnes Newton Keith's "Land Below the Wind."

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

March 1, 1940.

Universally March ought to be a great improvement on last month, and the first day is a splendid one for starting off on the right foot by clearing out all the things which piled up since the first of the year. If this is your birthday, be prepared to do a little mental housecleaning, and discard ideas that didn't work out during the last nine years, and also friends who didn't prove to be friends. Make a break with the past.

Would you like to know what kind of a year 1940 will be for you? Send for your personal yearly, monthly, and daily guide.

Girl Admitting Past Deserves Boy's Regard

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 28. She is 23. We are engaged and plan to be married in May. I once heard a rumor about her and asked her about it. She said there was no truth in the rumor. The other night she was crying and said that she lied to me. She admitted that the rumor was true, and wanted to give me back my ring. I refused to take it back, because I love her and want to marry anyway. I am still going with her. Am I doing right, or should I try to forget her? PUZZLED."

Don't forget her. Forget, instead, that you ever heard the rumor, and that she admitted it was true. Marry her and never again refer to her "past," even in your angriest moments! She was woman enough not to want to admit the truth of the rumor for fear of losing your love. She was also woman enough not to want to marry you under a "cloud," so you should be man enough to forgive and forget, and appreciate the fact that her love for you transcends all other things—even at the risk of losing your love. She has courage.

And while we're praising her, we want to praise you, too. We admire you for not assuming a "holier than thou" attitude, as some men may have done. After all, the important thing is that you are both sorry for whatever she did that caused the gossipy rumor to reach your ears, and that your love is deep enough to overlook such a rumor. Few men nowadays can look back on their "past" without some twinges of conscience. Are you an exception, Puzzled? Even if you are, you thought enough of her to ask her to be your wife. Keep on loving her and being her protector.

SPAGHETTI ITALIENNE
(WITH TOMATO MUSHROOM SAUCE)

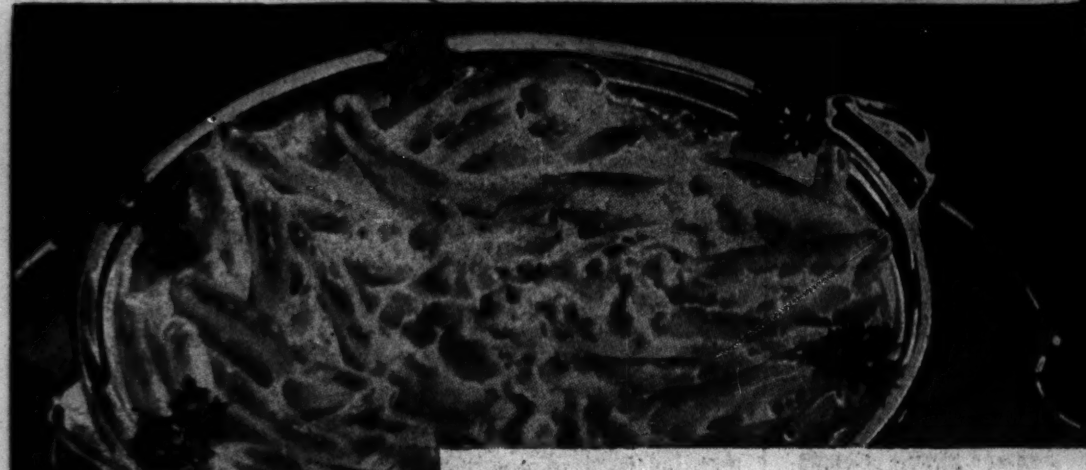
SERVES 6 FOR LESS THAN 9¢ PER SERVING!*

Cook 8-oz. pkg. FOULDS' Spaghetti as directed; drain and heap on hot serving platter. Pour hot sauce over hot spaghetti. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese.

★

TOMATO MUSHROOM SAUCE—Heat ½ cup olive oil slowly; add 2 sliced onions; fry until light yellow. Add ½ cup chopped parsley, ⅔ cup chopped green pepper, 1 cup chopped celery, and 1 small bay leaf; continue to fry slowly until tender. Add 6-oz. can Italian tomato paste; 3 cups canned tomatoes; 1 cup hot water; blend well. Let simmer until sauce is thick and glossy (1½ to 2 hrs.). Half an hour before serving, add 4 oz. can sliced mushrooms (or stems and pieces) and mushroom liquid. Season. Serve bubbling hot.

*As little as 5¢ per serving if you use a good quality canned mushroom sauce.



MACARONI AND CHEESE FAMILY STYLE

COSTS ONLY 27¢

- 1 8-oz. pkg. FOULDS' MACARONI (or FOULDS' ELBO MACARONI)
- 1½ cups grated soft, sharp cheese
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 cups milk

Break macaroni; cook; drain. Fill greased baking dish with alternate layers of macaroni and cheese, sprinkling cheese with flour. Begin with macaroni; end with cheese. Add salt to milk; pour over ingredients in dish. Bake (350° F.) 25 to 30 minutes.

*Baking time extra.
Approximate.

FOULDS' NOODLE RING

SERVES 6—COSTS ONLY 31¢*

- 5-oz. package FOULDS' broad egg noodles
- 1 cup grated soft cheese
- 4 eggs, beaten
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
- 2-2½ cups milk

Cook noodles; drain. Butter ten-inch ring mould; fill with alternate layers of cooked noodles and cheese, cheese on top. Combine eggs, seasonings, milk. Pour over mixture in mould. (Milk should moisten not "float" noodles.) Bake (at 350° F.) like custard until firm. Let stand 5 minutes; unmould.

Fill ring with vegetable, mushrooms, or fish.

COMISKEYS WIN IN COURT; KEEP WHITE SOX

32 GOLDEN GLOVES SURVIVORS PREPARE FOR FINALS

Three Chicago Boys Fight Wednesday.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Golden Gloves boxers who had assembled from 43 cities to fight for three nights in the Tournament of Champions, dispersed yesterday and headed for their distant homes. Tho most of them had failed in the quest on which they had set out so hopefully, they went away with the knowledge that they'd made a good battle of it while it lasted. To a select few, however, Chicago had been the scene of victory rather than defeat—and these boys will return next week to try for further triumphs in the semifinals and finals, which will be fought in the Stadium Wednesday night.

Richard Menchaca, Morris Corona, and Tom Attra, the Fort Worth, Tex., boxers who qualified for the semi-finals, decided that they were too far away from home to make a round trip between now and next week so they remained in the Illinois Athletic club, where they will continue training. Two of them came all the way from Port Arthur, which is on the Gulf of Mexico.

Kinney Sticks Around, Too.

Ragon Kinney of Fort Smith, Ark., also chose to remain in town so he joined the Texas boys at the I. A. C. Kinney, who was a member of last season's international team, qualified for the semi-finals by his victory Wednesday night over Shelton Bell, who was runner-up to Jimmy Reeves for the 1939 light heavyweight title.

The field in the recently concluded Tournament of Champions was so well balanced that 21 cities are represented among the 32 fighters who will return for the semi-finals. Detroit, which won two of the eight championships last year, again showed considerable strength, four of its fighters being still unbeaten. This representation tops the list of survivors, Chicago and Fort Worth being next best with three each.

Only Two Champions Left.

Only two former champions remain in the battle for 1940 Golden Gloves and both of them are competing in heavier classes than those in which they took their titles. These boys are Tony Ancona of Detroit, last season's featherweight champion, who now is fighting as a lightweight, and Cornelius Young, who was king of the middleweights in 1938. Young now is a heavyweight.

The competition is so tough this year that Vic Saccoia of Detroit, defending flyweight champion, failed to survive the quarter-finals. He was knocked out by Sam Stinson of Peoria early in the first round of their bout on Wednesday night.

Chicago fans are well pleased with the showing the city's representatives made during the three nights of the Tournament of Champions. In addition to Young, Savior Canadeo and Harold Dade remain in the running. After a splendid exhibition of fighting on Monday night, Eddie O'Connell, Chicago's lightweight, was unable to return Wednesday because of an attack of appendicitis. The other local boys—Ray Brown, Joe Dupont, Louis Angelucci, and Hezzie Williams—went out on close decisions.

Young Stands Alone.

Thus far in the tournament, no heavyweight has been able to menace Young. He has shown as much hitting power as any of his opponents and has been far superior to them in boxing skill. Canadeo encountered extremely powerful opposition in his quarter-final fight with Anthony Jones of Springfield, but he came thru splendidly under pressure. Dade has displayed such speed and polish that he has been able to pile up clean cut margins over all of his opponents. All three of these boys will continue training in the C. Y. O. gymnasium for their engagements next week.

Tho all of the $3.30 and $1.65 seats for the finals have been sold, tickets at $2.20 and $1.10 are available in The Tribune Public Service offices.

THE GREATEST CAST

in amateur boxing has been filled with the completion of the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions. Thirty-two boys, the best punchers from 44 cities and 23 states, reached the final stage of the sports biggest show. They'll show you how championships are won in the 1940 finals in the Chicago Stadium next Wednesday. Don't miss these battles between the lads who have come over boxing's hardest road.

THE TICKET PRICE SCALE:

They Shall Have Music.

When Joe and Arturo meet again,
As meet they undoubtedly will,
I'd suggest an innovation
Which I'm sure the fans would thrill;
They say that Artie's a dancing whiz,
While Joe is some shagger, too,
So, why not a musical background
For the next brawl betwixt these two?

Playing for one round Arturo's choice
And favoring Joe the next,
Can't you just hear Godoy cry "goodie!"
At a rhumba's rhythmic text?
Efface Joe's dead-pan frown
When the band strikes up "I Hates to See That Evenin' Sun Go Down"?

A tango's tempo would pep up Godoy
To flay with main and might,
While something slow like "Moanin' Low"
Would preface Joe's deadly right;
And should Arturo fail to duck
Joe's flashing lethal surprise,
The band could stand at attention and play:
"The Smoke Got in My Eyes!"

Time Marches On.

We read of the ancient people
Who dwelled in a rocky cliff;
They had to climb to get in or out,
Or stay put when old limbs were stiff.

How we pity this ancient fellow
Who had no lawn of his own;
Who lived life out in the stratosphere,

New York, Feb. 29 (AP).—The Chicago Blackhawks, backed by the fine goal tending of Paul Goodman, gave the Rangers a 2 to 1 beating before 9,000 fans tonight and pulled the New Yorkers down into a tie for the National Hockey league leadership with the Boston Bruins. A late second period goal by Mush March, culminating a pretty play by Bill Carse, who faked the Ranger defense out of position, set the Rangers down for the sixth time in their last eleven games.

The Hawks, who, as the result of tonight's game, have been beaten only once in their last 11 times out—by Boston Tuesday night—meet the Rangers Sunday night in the Chicago Stadium for the last time this season in a regularly scheduled game. The Hawks now hold a margin in victories of 4 to 3. Before going to Chicago the Rangers drop in at Toronto for a game with the Maple Leafs Saturday night.

Thoms Starts It.

The Hawks never were behind, Bill Thoms giving them the lead in 4:29 of the first period with a 30 foot shot past Dave Kerr, and March winning the game at 16:28 of the second period after Neil Colville had tied the score three minutes earlier. Colville whacked the puck behind Goodman on Ott Heller's long forward pass thru the Hawk defense.

Goodman was especially good in the late stages of the second period and all the third, when the Rangers passed hard. Nine penalties marked the battle, including a major to Kilby MacDonald for slashing late in the game. MacDonald's stick cut Bill Allen's head.

Colville Misses Twice.

The Rangers opened the attack, but Neil Colville's shot from 10 feet out, after he had taken a pass from brother Mac, hit the post. On the Hawks' return rush Earl Seibert and Johnny Chad carried the puck into Ranger territory where Chad turned it over to Thoms. Bill whizzed a shot over Dave Kerr's left foot.

Neil Colville missed again in the second period after taking a long pass from Alf Pike that Goodman attempted to stop, the shot being inches wide. On the next try Neil took a pass from Heller in the goal mouth and jammed the puck past Goodman. The time was 13:30.

Carse Takes Pass.

Bill Carse paved the way for the Hawk goal that clinched the game at 16:28 of the period. He broke, with Seibert flanking him on the left wing. Faking a pass to Seibert, Carse flipped the puck to March on the other side and Mush skated in and blasted a shot thru Kerr from 10 feet out.

His Honor Hits a Homer for the White Sox

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 29 (AP).—Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong apparently is in top shape to attempt a feat never recorded in prize fight history.

Once ruler of three divisions, now the king of the world's 147 pound ranks, Henry is confident he will annex a share in a fourth title tomorrow night against heavier, hard hitting Ceferino Garcia, claimant of the middleweight crown. The Filipino's title may be a clouded one, and a victory by Armstrong would further befuddle the situation, but there will be action, excitement, and drama in this battle.

Henry Beat Him Once.

In 1938 these two waged a furious 15 round struggle before a roaring crowd in New York, with Armstrong successfully defending his welterweight championship. The rematch finds Garcia at his natural weight and defending the crown he blasted away from Freddie Apostoli in New York last October. Tomorrow night's throng, a turnout expected to top 35,000, will be watching two fighters who began their climb to fame in this, their home town.

Betting still is 50-50 and take your pick. Garcia probably will have a weight advantage of 12 to 14 pounds, ringside.

May Add to Muddle.

The 10 round angle is what promises added confusion to the title aspects of the match. Garcia is recognized as the 160 pound ruler in New York and California, but Al Hostak of Seattle is the National Boxing association champion. But New York would hardly recognize an Armstrong victory because it insists a championship bout be no less than 15 rounds.

SAVOLD FIGHT OFF

New York, Feb. 29 (AP).—The 12 round heavyweight fight between Bob Pastor and Lee Savold, scheduled for tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden, was postponed indefinitely today when an examination showed Savold suffering from an attack of influenza.

The Des Moines boxer was taken to a hospital last night with a temperature and while he was much better this morning, his doctor forbade him to go ahead with the bout. Savold was advised to stay in the hospital for another 48 hours.

Mrs. Grace Comiskey, widow of late owner, was overjoyed by the decision that the club should remain in charge of the family of its founder.

Galan, Leiber Join Dizzy as Cub Holdouts

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wilmington, Cal., Feb. 29 — The Cubs now have three bona fide holdouts where only one bloomed before. Outfielders Augie Galan and Hank Leiber joined Dizzy Dean today on the official holdout list. Dominic Dallessandro, also an outfielder, missed the boat for Avalon, and his whereabouts was unknown until this afternoon. He flew over on a late plane.

Frankie Demaree, who balked past reporting time in 1936, previously was the only holdout under the régime of P. K. Wrigley. The last before Frankie, insofar as attachés of the club could recall, was Vic Aldridge, who made a prolonged stand about 20 years ago. No one can remember when there were three holdouts past any official reporting date.

Augie Stands Firm.

Galan, who lives in northern California, where they currently are having cloudbursts and floods, this morning met the second squad on its arival in Los Angeles. He drove Front Man Clarence Rowland to the docks here. Clarence had Augie's rejected contract in his pocket when the ride began and he still had it there when the boat sailed for Catalina Island. Augie said he would remain in Los Angeles until tomorrow night, then would drive to his home in Berkeley, unless his demands were met.

Rowland said the Cubs had made their highest offer to Augie, as well as to Leiber and Dean, and stated there could be no renewal of negotiations except on the basis of terms originally offered.

They're on the Spot.

Other preliminary balkers are said to have signed after being told all offers were final, and for that reason it was felt that the Cub office could not yield to any holdouts without breaking faith with those who signed when told of this year's take it or leave it policy.

Front Man Rowland said the Chicago offices of the Cubs had not been in touch with Leiber for three weeks. In his last letter Hank got around to quoting the demand of $17,500, about which the Cubs had learned previously indirectly.

JUDGE DENIES BANK'S PLEA TO SELL BALL CLUB

O'Connell Praises Late Owner.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The names Comiskey and White Sox, synonymous with Chicago baseball for 40 years, are going to remain that way, probably for many years to come.

This became definite yesterday when Probate Judge John F. O'Connell denied the petition of the First National bank to solicit bids for the sale of the White Sox club in its entirety. Judge O'Connell's ruling was made after a two hour discussion before him by attorneys for the bank, as executors of the estate of the late J. Louis Comiskey, and by counsel for Mrs. Grace Reidy Comiskey, his widow.

Two Other Pleas Pending.

The bank's petition was the only one of three which have been filed before the court since Jan. 18 on which any ruling was made. The petition filed by Mrs. Comiskey on Feb. 21, renouncing her rights in the will and asking for her dower rights of one-third of the estate outright, was not acted upon, but will be the subject of a discussion among the attorneys in the near future. The third petition, made by Dorothy Comiskey, 23 year old daughter of Mrs. Comiskey, and treasurer of the White Sox, for 413 8-9 shares of Sox stock, was continued generally.

Mrs. Comiskey expressed her pleasure over the decision last night.

The Judge Keeps 'Em Guessing.

Judge O'Connell, in making his ruling, displayed a remarkable change of pace before reaching a conclusion. The spectators in the crowded court room, who did not include any of the heirs—Mrs. Comiskey, her daughters, Dorothy and Gracie Lou, and her son, Charles II.—were kept in suspense until the finish. At the outset of his ruling, it appeared the court was headed for a decision in favor of the bank, but in closing, the judge fired several verbal curves which settled the case for the Comiskeys.

Paul F. Godehn, of the firm of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt, represented the bank, while Thomas J. Sheehan and Roy J. Egan were counsel for the Comiskeys.

Judge Praises Comiskey.

"The decedent," Judge O'Connell said, rising from his chair, "displayed the highest confidence it is possible for an individual to place in an institution when he named the First National bank executor of his will in 1932. This action charged the bank with a most serious obligation, particularly to Charles Comiskey II. [Charles II. is now 14 years old.] This obligation included the preservation of the assets and income of the estate.

"It is the legal obligation of the bank to watch for dangers to the estate. In any matter such as this today, it devolved upon the bank to present a definite plan directed toward preventing such dangers. In one part of his will J. Louis Comiskey expressed a desire that there should be no sale of the stock of the White Sox until his son reached the age of 35. But in still another clause he indicated that, if circumstances should arise, the bank, as trustee, should sell the property in whole or in part. The First National bank is now the executor of the estate, not the trustee.

Places Value on Name.

"The court is not unmindful of the bank's duty, for trust estates have a sacredness not distinguished by ordinary estates. They should insure an income for minor heirs commensurate with present values. It is difficult to estimate what the future values of the White Sox stock would be if it were to be sold to strangers now.

"The White Sox have been and are a definite part of the fiber of Chicago life. Charles A. Comiskey was a national figure. The Sox are recognized as a Comiskey property, and his grandson, Charles II., bears his name. If this asset [the Sox property] can be conserved in its entirety and the Comiskey name continues to be associated with it down the years, it may be of even greater value than it is at present.

"The will, in effect, has been changed by the widow's renunciation of its one-half bequest to her for the dower one-third. The court feels that, even tho bids for the property were solicited, that they would be futile and would not mean a sale. Therefore, the court denies the bank's petition to solicit bids for the sale of the White Sox."

Mrs. Comiskey Answers.

The First National bank had filed on Jan. 18 the petition for permission to seek bids on the grounds that the operation of a major league baseball club was a hazardous enterprise. Mrs. Comiskey, in an answer to that petition, contended that the bank, as executor of her husband's will, had violated its trust and disregarded his wishes.

Judge O'Connell, in the course of

CLEAR WEATHER PREDICTED FOR $100,000 RACE

BuddyHaas Puts Kayak II. Thru Gallop.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 29 (AP).—Predictions of clear weather and a fast racing strip on Saturday brought cheer today to owners of candidates in the $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap, but it will take more than mere forecasts to ease their anxiety.

A downpour last night drenched the track, and it was muddy when workouts were held this morning, but Dr. Irving Krick, the track's official weather man, declared there would be no rain tomorrow. His forecast did not go into Saturday's possibilities. Horsemen figured if they could escape damp weather for two days the third would take care of itself.

Jockey Leon [Buddy] Haas, brought here from Florida by C. S. Howard to ride Kayak II., winner of the 1939 Santa Anita handicap, got acquainted with the horse for the first time this morning. He took him for a gallop, but did not ask for a real test.

Probable Field Remains Same.

Howard's other star, Seabiscuit, surprised the clockers with a nice workout in the mud. Seabiscuit did five-eighths in 1:00 2-5 which is good traveling for the 7 year old on such a track.

The probable lineup for the big race remains about the same. The Binglin stable may send Ra II. postward with Don Mike, altho some horsemen believe the stable's new Argentine importation is not ready for the big race.

The field, as figured today, probably will include the two Howard candidates, the two Binglin horses, Whichcee, Specify, Heelfly, Can't Wait, War Plumage, Wedding Call, Royal Crusader, Kantan and possibly one or two others.

EXPECT RECORD HANDLE.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP).—Altho there isn't an outstanding horse in the $50,000 added Widener cup race Saturday, Hialeah Park is looking forward to its first million dollar pari-mutuel handle since the boom days.

The track's modern single day record has been broken the last two week-ends and reached $905,412 for the Flamingo Stakes last Saturday.

There isn't a horse in the barns to approach last year's attractions such as Stagehand and War Admiral, yet the top daily amount last season was $744,046.

Among 16 possible starters in the Widener, experts favor Leo J. Marks' Many Stings, but most of them concede it's a wide open race. Many Stings beat several other Widener candidates in winning the $10,000 McLennan Memorial two weeks ago, but that was the 5 year old gelding's first stake triumph in 38 starts. The Chief, owned by Maxwell Howard and trained by Earl Sande, probably has the best record of the lot and has been gaining support.

NAGURSKI AND MARSHALL MEET ON MAT TONIGHT

Bout Heads Program in Coliseum.

Bronko Nagurski and Everett Marshall, two of the best heavyweight wrestlers in the business, will meet in an hour and a half bout heading the card in the Coliseum, 15th street and Wabash avenue, tonight. Ralph [Ruffy] Silverstein, heavyweight protégé of Ed White, is paired with Eddie Virag in a secondary feature, set for 30 minutes. Preliminary matches will bring together Jim Morgan, giant blacksmith of Texas, and Lou Thesz, St. Louis; Jack [Tiger] Moore and Hans Schnabel, and Charley [Gorilla] Grubmyer and Jack Conley.

Quentin [Babe] Breese, Milwaukee junior welterweight, will meet Sammy Angott of Louisville in a 10 round match topping the Finnish relief fund boxing show in the Auditorium, Milwaukee, tonight. A 10 round secondary feature will involve Billy Marquart, Jack Hurley's 140 pound puncher from Winnipeg, Man., and Joey Silva of Los Angeles. Tommy Pallatin, St. Joseph, Mich., welterweight, will be Milo Theodorescu's opponent in an additional 10 round event. Theodorescu originally was scheduled to meet Tony Cianciola, but the latter was unable to go thru with the assignment because of a shoulder injury suffered in his losing effort against Louis [Kid] Cocoa recently. Jack Dempsey, who stopped off in the loop last night, will be referee for some of the encounters.

Johnny Behr will referee a series of intercollegiate bouts between Wisconsin and Miami in the university fieldhouse in Madison tonight. . . . Stanley Stockings, lightweight from Heniff's gymnasium, will meet Beltin Littlefield of East St. Louis in a five round amateur contest in Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street, tonight. . . . Another amateur program will be held tonight in the Chicago Towers club, 505 North Michigan avenue. Stanley Murczek, 124th Field Artillery armory welterweight, will meet a suitable foe in a five round headliner.

DYKES FINDS SOX ROOKIE INFIELD SNAPPY QUARTET

Toughening Up Process On in Earnest.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 29.—The wheels of baseball progress, spring training variety, turned speedily today as the White Sox early birds took their first full lesson in conditioning under the direction of Manager James Dykes.

The manager, what with his periodical stomach distress and his 42 years, wasn't feeling especially hot physically, so he wasn't at all severe on his pupils. He nevertheless accomplished enough to launch the process of toughening up flabby arms and set under way the melting of excess poundage. The weight figures indicate plenty of the latter.

But the most important development, considering that the camp opened only yesterday with a limited drill, was that Dykes gave attention to a rookie infield from which he hopes to extract, eventually, at least one worthy performer.

It's a Snappy Quartet.

Dykes dug up an infield featuring Lew Leiter, a left hand first baseman who was at Jonesboro, Ark., last season; Second Baseman Don Kolloway, purchased from Oklahoma City; Shortstop Frank Metha, the base burglar from Fort Worth, Tex., and Third Baseman Bob Kennedy, who was brought up from Shreveport late last summer, but played in only two games before chipping an ankle bone. This quartet took turns picking up nasty grounders which Coach Jim Austin sent their way, and they not only did a lot of nice picking, but also threw so generously that Dykes had to remind them that training has just started.

Dykes might have need in the near future for either a third or second baseman. So his immediate interest undoubtedly is in Kennedy and Kolloway. Both are of the loose, six foot type of which there are no better possibilities, regardless of position. Various other big league clubs would delight in ownership of the two youngsters. However, it is not going to be easy to nose out Eric McNair either at second or third, and there still is a slim possibility that Jackie Hayes of ailing knee fame can win back his old second base post. But Dykes can use utility help, and this is where the infield rookies will be given consideration even if they are driven off as regulars by McNair and Hayes.

Plenty of Heavyweights.

As for the weights of the troupers present, only a few can be presented because some of the fellows apparently are timid about testing the clubhouse scale. Ted Lyons, who when he reported back in 1923 was a mere sapling, admits to 205 pounds. Thornton [Lefty] Lee bows at 222 pounds, Bill Dietrich at 195, Johnny Rigney at 204, Ken Silvestri at 195, Tom Turner, rookie catcher from the Cardinals' chain, at 203, and Jack Knott at 205. Taft Wright, the outfielder taken in trade from Washington, has thus far failed to locate the scale, but he wears a very large sized set of pants. These facts might seem terrifying, but most of the athletes are just built that way and will not shed much before becoming conditioned for serious work.

Demaret Wins St. Petersburg Golf with 211

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP).—Jimmy Demaret, Houston, Tex., professional and golf's leading money winner for 1940, today won the St. Petersburg Open golf tournament for his fifth victory of the winter campaign.

Adding two par rounds of 71 to his opening 69, Demaret won the 54-hole tournament with 211, nosing out Byron Nelson, National Open champion of Toledo, by one stroke. First prize money was $700 and increased Demaret's earnings for the year to more than $6,000.

Nelson, three strokes off the pace set by E. J. Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., and Demaret thru the first 36 holes, blazed in with a 69, two under par, for 212 and took $450 second money. Nelson had rounds of 71, 72, and 69. Stanley Horne, Montreal, Canada, with a 73 and two sub-par 70's, took $350, third money, with 213.

MOON MULLINS — A NOT SO SAD PARTING

Gordon Signs with Yankees for $12,500

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP).—After a short chat with Manager Joe McCarthy, during which he agreed to salary terms for 1940, Second Baseman Joe Gordon of the Yankees said today that he would be out in uniform for practice tomorrow, even tho he officially isn't due to report until next Monday, when the second squad appears. Gordon, signed for $12,500, a $4,000 raise over his last year's salary, looked in fine condition.

ROYALS BUY LAMASTER.

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 29 (AP).—Wayne Lamaster, southpaw pitcher, has been purchased outright by the Montreal Royals from the Brooklyn Dodgers, President Hector Racine announced today. The Royals, however, reserved the right to return Lamaster before May 15 should he prove to be still suffering from a sore arm. He played with Montreal part of last season.

TWO SENATORS SIGN.

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP).—President Clark Griffith of the Senators announced today that Dutch Leonard, who won 20 games for Griffith's sixth place club last season, had telegraphed his agreement to terms and that Cecil Travis, infielder, came to terms in person.

Griffith's remaining worry, from a contract point of view, is Young Jimmy Pofahl, infielder from Minneapolis. Pofahl not only has failed to send in his signed contract, but failed to let the club know his whereabouts.

COSCARART TO SIGN.

Clearwater, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP).—Pete Coscarart, the Dodgers' holdout second baseman, reached camp today and will confer on salary with President Larry MacPhail. The difference between the player and the club is not known, but Coscarart described it as not much and intimated he soon would sign.

Today's workout was featured by a five inning game between the Dressens and the McGrews and won by Dressens, 9 to 8. Casey and Nahem pitched for the Dressens, Kimball and Carleton for the McGrews. Ripple, Moore, Phelps, and Chapman hit homers.

NEWSOM SEES FLAG.

Lakeland, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP).—Four days late and 12 pounds overweight, Louis [Buck] Newsom, talkative right handed pitcher, arrived at the Detroit Tiger training base today and announced that his team—and not the Yankees—would win the American league pennant. Newsom said that business detained him at his Hartsville, S. C., home. His arrival brought the group of Tiger batterymen here to full strength.

RED SQUAD GATHERS.

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP).—Infielders and outfielders reported today to virtually complete the roster of Cincinnati Reds in training. First in uniform, over protests of Manager Bill McKechnie, was Eddie Joost, who won his argument that he be permitted to start work a day ahead of time. Other arrivals included Billy Myers, shortstop; Third Baseman Don Lang and Outfielders Lee Gamble and Vince DiMaggio.

BUDWEISERS AND GILLS LOSE TWO IN RANDOLPH

The first place Budweisers and second place Gills had their Randolph bowling margins over third place pared to 10 and 7 games, respectively, last night when each team lost the odd game of its series. The Buds rolled only 2,764 to drop a pair to the Amidies, and the Gills were beaten twice when the Whitecaps turned in a 3,213 series against them. The third place Mineralites took two from the G. & W. 5-Stars. Matt Siwe of the Whitecaps rolled high series, 710. Scores:

St. Louis U. Terminates Services of Its Coaches

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 29 (AP).—St. Louis university's former three-man football coaching staff headed by Cecil E. Muellerleile received formal notice today its services terminated immediately. The letters, written by the Rev. George C. Hilke, S. J., chairman of the athletic council, surprised Muellerleile and his assistants, Carl Pike and Henry Krause, as the three had believed their contracts would continue until June 1. The notices cleared the way for the new coaching staff headed by W. J. [Dukes] Dufford and his assistants, Bob Klenck and Don Geyer, who will take charge within the next two weeks.

Jay Bozeman Is a Cue Baby, and Tough One

[This is the second of a series of sketches on the entrants in the world's three cushion billiards championship tournament, to be held in Bensinger's, 131 South Wabash avenue, from March 11 to April 4, inclusive.]

The baby of this world series of angle billiards is a bespectacled young man of 34 summers who is regarded one of the fastest and wittiest workmen in the game. He is Jay Bozeman of Amarillo, Tex. Bozeman, whose standard answer when asked why he became interested in billiards, is: "Because, at the age of 10, I fell off a bicycle."

Jay Bozeman.

Disregarding Master Bozeman's levity as to the source of his inspiration, it is unanimous among critics and rivals that he will be one of the most difficult men in the field to beat. Jay was born in Amarillo in 1906, and after a varied career which included piano tuning, he concentrated all of his interest on billiards. His hobbies, in addition to billiards, include fishing, hunting, and golf.

Bozeman was just 22 when he won the national amateur three cushion championship of 1928. Just to prove that this feat was no fluke, he repeated the following year; then, in 1930, he turned professional. He made his pro debut by winning the Pacific coast three cushion title in that season and the following two.

Jay has been a contender in all of the last five world tournaments of the three cushion game. He made a fine showing in his first year, 1932, and the following year finished a close second to Welker Cochran. He generally is regarded as the fastest player in the game, his speed making him one of the most popular practitioners with galleries.

TORONTO, Feb. 29 (AP).—The Maple Leafs scored in each period to subdue Detroit, 3 to 1, before 11,794 tonight. The victory tightened Toronto's hold on third place.

Syl Apps returned to the Toronto lineup after a layoff due to injuries, but it was Wally Stanowski who featured the Toronto victory with his first goal on home ice. The rookie raced thru the Detroit team and drove the puck thru Tiny Thompson's legs.

Cecil Dillon rapped in a rebound of Syd Abel's shot to score the Detroit goal early in the third and partly offset Leaf scores by Nick Metz and Lex Chisholm. Lineup:

STAR VAULTERS TO DUEL IN N. U., MAROON EVENT

The pole vault contest between Ed Davidson of the University of Chicago and Ed Thistlethwaite of Northwestern, which may be a preview of the event in the Big Ten indoor meet scheduled for the Midway next Friday and Saturday, will be the feature of the meeting which closes the indoor dual meet season for both teams in the Midway fieldhouse at 8 o'clock tonight.

The meeting of Northwestern's speedy Myron Piker, conference indoor and outdoor sprint titleholder, and Capt. John Davenport of the Maroons, former champion, also may indicate the relative prospects of the two in the conference meet.

Davidson and Thistlethwaite both have bettered 13 feet this year. Last year Thistlethwaite stopped Davidson in the conference indoor meet to place second, but Davidson placed ahead of the Northwestern vaulter in the outdoor meet.

Don McNeill Enters Tennis Meet Finals

New York, Feb. 29 (AP).—Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, Okla., reached the final round of the men's National Indoor Singles tournament today with a 6-4, 7-5, 6-4 victory over Frank Bowden, veteran New Yorker who had reached the title round for three straight years. Two years ago these players met in the final round, and McNeill was taken to four sets before he won the title.

This time McNeill was favored by additional experience gained in international competition, and the margin by which he won today left little doubt he'll give Bobby Riggs all the national champion can handle if they meet in Saturday's final. To get that far, Riggs first must dispose of a fellow Chicagoan, Frank Froehling, in the other semi-final tomorrow.

Mrs. Fabyan Wins.

In the women's division Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Cambridge, Mass., dealt an old foe, Katherine Winthrop of Boston, a 6-1, 6-2, defeat today. Mrs. Fabyan's opponent in the final also will be determined tomorrow in a match between two Los Angeles girls, defending champion Pauline Betz and third seeded Gracyn Wheeler.

Mrs. Fabyan and Miss Betz reached the women's doubles semi-finals. Sarah and Miss Winthrop got a default, while Miss Betz and Millicent Hirsh of New York whipped Josephine Sanfilippo and Helen Germaine, 6-2, 6-0. In the feature mixed doubles match, Mrs. Fabyan teamed with Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., her Wimbledon partner, to turn back McNeill and Patricia Cumming of Westfield, N. J., 6-3, 6-4.

Ex-Winner Triumphs.

Gracyn Wheeler and Norma Taubele of New York, a former winner of the singles, teamed to defeat Mrs. M. L. Boswick and Ruth Bair of New York, 6-3, 6-3, in a quarter-final match of the women's doubles, while Millicent Hirsch of New York and Frank Froehling defeated Louise Raymond, Scarsdale, N. Y., and August Ganzenmuller, New York, 6-1, 7-5 in a mixed doubles quarter-final feature. Miss Betz and Bobby Riggs defeated Gracyn Wheeler and Robert J. Kelleher, 6-3, 10-8.

BLOOM, JOLIET GAIN FINALS IN PREP REGIONAL

Bloom of Chicago Heights and Joliet advanced to the final round of the Illinois state prep regional basketball tournament in Chicago Heights last night. Bloom defeated Thornton, 39 to 35, and Joliet whipped Calumet City, 26 to 23. They will meet in Bloom's gymnasium tonight.

ManleyQuintet Wins, 39 to 25, Over Du Sable

The Manley seniors defeated Du Sable, 39 to 25 yesterday on the Gage park court to win second place in the central section of the Chicago Public High School Basketball league. As the result Manley will meet Hirsch, south section champion, in their quarterfinal game.

With the score tied at 15 all at halftime, Manley came back in the third period to tally 15 points to Du Sable's 6. Manley never relinquished the lead. Shor, Gray, and Grossman each scored 10 points to lead the Manley attack.

Two tie playoffs, and three quarterfinal games are slated for today. Roosevelt meets Schurz at Senn to decide second place in the north section senior race, and Hirsch encounters Hyde Park at Mount Carmel in the evening for the runnerup position in the south section junior division.

MISS HICKS AND PATTY BERG GO TO SEMI-FINALS

Ormond Beach, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP).—Elizabeth Hicks, 19 year old Long Beach, Cal., girl, stole the spotlight today in the south Atlantic women's golf tournament with a sub-par performance in defeating Laddie Irwin of Montclair, N. J., 6 and 5. Miss Hicks advanced into the semi-finals with Patty Berg of Minneapolis, whom she plays tomorrow, and Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., and Mrs. William Hockenjos of Lake Hopatcong, N. J., who play in the other bracket.

Yesterday Miss Berg shot a two under men's par 35 on the outgoing nine. Today Miss Hicks did it in 34, and was four under fours for the 14 holes of the match.

Miss Berg, the defending champion, was not extended in her match with Mrs. Lillian K. Zech of Chicago and won, 6 and 4. She had a 38 on the first nine. Miss Jameson eliminated Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., 5 and 4.

COURT DECISION BLOCKS SALE OF WHITE SOX CLUB

his ruling, said that it might be a hazardous undertaking from an investment standpoint, and thereby caused a number of Cub fans in the audience to blush.

"It is true that there are hazards involved. There's the weather. There are injuries to players. There's the pennant race. And there's the outcome of the city series—but, then, there's been no need to worry about that the last few years."

[The White Sox have won 16 city series to five for the Cubs.]

Recalls Loss of 1932.

Attorney Godehn contended that the club's financial position was not a strong one. He said that if it had another year such as 1932, when records showed that it lost $244,000, it would have to borrow money to finance spring training. He pointed out that in the 11 years ending with the 1939 season, the club showed an aggregate profit of $45,013 for five seasons and for the other six seasons an aggregate loss of $720,042. The assets of the club on Dec. 31, 1939, he said, were $106,913 and the liabilities $72,251.

Attorneys Egan and Sheehan said that as far as outstanding debts and expenses are concerned, the Comiskeys will produce the money for these.

Attorney Egan pointed out that the club's experiment with night baseball last year was highly successful, and augured for similar success in future years.

MEL OTT SIGNS UP FOR HIS 16TH YEAR AS GIANT

Winter Haven, Fla., Feb. 29 [Special].—Mel Ott checked in at the Giants' training camp today and went into conference with Horace C. Stoneham, accepted terms for 1940, and signed his contract. On what terms Mel signed for his 16th campaign with the Giants was not announced, but the speed with which the negotiations were brought to a close was interpreted to indicate Ott will receive the same salary he earned in 1939—about $20,000.

Prominent among still unsigned Giants are Billy Jurges, Frank Demaree, Zeke Bonura, Johnny Dickshot, Morris Jones, Bob Seeds, Burgess Whitehead, and Johnny McCarthy.

LARGE SECURITY OFFERINGS MEET 'GOOD' RECEPTION

Bethlehem Debentures Command Premium.

New securities totaling $131,000,000, the largest amount for any day in several years, were placed on the market yesterday. The offerings consisted of $105,000,000 of obligations of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, the nation's second largest steel enterprise, and $26,000,000 of securities of the Kentucky Utilities company, a subsidiary of the Middle West corporation. Underwriting houses said that, considering the size of the offerings, the public reception was "fairly good."

Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; Smith, Barney & Co., and the Mellon Securities corporation headed a national group offering the Bethlehem Steel securities, representing the largest industrial offering in 10 years. The financing consisted of $30,000,000 of 3 per cent bonds, due 1960, priced at 98; $40,000,000 of 3¼ per cent bonds, due 1965, priced at 100, a..d $35,000,000 of serial debentures, due 1941 to 1950, priced at 100. Interest on the debentures ranged from .50 per cent for the nearby maturities to 2.60 per cent for the 1950 maturity.

Debentures Sell at Premium.

The debentures were reported to have sold well, bringing a moderate premium in over the counter dealing. Because of the large size of the bond issue and the many houses sharing in the deal, underwriters said it was difficult to estimate the amount sold.

The First Boston corporation, which headed the underwriting group for the Kentucky Utilities bonds, reported the receipt of orders from the selling group in excess of the amount originally reserved for these dealers. The offering comprised $20,000,000 of first mortgage 4 per cent bonds, due 1970, and $6,000,000 of 4½ per cent mortgage bonds due 1955. The 4s were priced at 102 and the 4½s at 101½.

Both Plan Refunding.

Proceeds from both the Bethlehem Steel and Kentucky Utilities financing are being used to retire existing obligations.

The Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission covering a proposed offering of 125,000 shares of $4.25 cumulative preferred stock of no par value. The company announced it planned to retire a bank loan and redeem 125,000 shares of 6 per cent preferred stock.

BUILD $1,000,000 SHOP TO HELP IN REARMING NATION

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 29 (AP).—The Mesta Machine company announced today it will bu'ld a $1,000,000 heavy forge shop at its Homestead plant to help the nation rearm "in case of emergency." The shop will be completed in the spring.

In an annual report to stockholders, President Lorenz Iverson said: "When finally the European crisis developed into actual declaration of war and our government was doing everything within its power to prepare the country for any emergency, this company's directors decided that additional forging facilities should be provided since this would be of greatest value to our nation in case of emergency."

Winter Meets Spring.

February 29, 1940.

WINTER is meeting spring on the farm this week. As far as the fields and woods are concerned, it's still winter. There is snow on the ground. Ice covers the ponds, and the birds that may be seen in the thickets are winter residents. But in the barns where the sheep are quartered spring is symbolized by the newly born lambs. There are 59 of these noisy, bleating little fellows in the sheepfold.

Snow or no snow, and irrespective of temperatures outside, the presence of the funny little lambs represents spring to the farm workers. They are looking forward to the day when the first robin and the first bluebird [March arrivals from the south] will add to the spring atmosphere the lambs have created. The lambs are rather quiet but as a rule morning is their exercise and play time. It's then that they truly are gamboling spring lambs, for they're frisking around, jumping, and having a gay time while the ewes take it easy.

Turkeys Seem Bored.

Except for the playful lambs, which are increasing in number each day, it's pretty quiet around the barnyard and in the poultry yard at this time of the year. The only birds to be seen around the sheep barn are turkeys, which are anything but lively. In fact, they look as if they are bored with the weather and can scarcely wait until warm days arrive so they can head for the fields and woods again.

The flockmaster has been busy this week getting ready for the arrival of several hundred chicks which will be raised on the farm this spring. These birds are going to be put in a remodeled brooder house where it will be snug and warm. The chicks are due to come next week, so the flockmaster has been working on a battery brooder. This mechanical device has several compartments in which the chicks will be kept while they mature.

Firewood Being Cut.

If you walk over the farm this week, you'll hear the noise of axes on logs and the rasping whine of a small crosscut saw, for some of the boys are occupied with the job of cutting old logs into firewood.

When we visited the open air headquarters of the woodcutters at the edge of one tract of timber we found the workers operating on an old poplar log that was about two feet in diameter. In order to split the four foot sections of this big tree trunk they had to drive big steel wedges into it. This job of cutting old timber for firewood was a reminder that altho the lambs may bring a hint of spring, winter still has the upper hand.

CAPITAL STOCK ASSESSMENTS LIFTED 21.8 PCT.

Cook County's Total Is $45,800,129.

Capital stock assessments of corporations in Cook county for 1939 increased 21.8 per cent to $45,800,129, from the 1938 assessed value of $37,581,167. This was disclosed yesterday when the assessment list was delivered by the state tax commission to County Clerk Michael J. Flynn.

Tax commission officials said that higher earnings in 1939 by many corporations were chiefly responsible for the boost in assessed values. Another factor, they said, was an increase by the commission in the equalization percentage that it applies to full values to compute assessed valuations.

Include 4,555 Corporations.

The assessment for last year included 4,555 corporations having their principal offices in Cook county. Valuations of the capital stocks of Illinois companies are made by both the commission and the county assessors. The commission assesses chiefly utility and service corporations. The assessors value the stock of mercantile and manufacturing concerns, banks, newspapers, and companies engaged in coal mining and live stock breeding.

The capital stock assessment by the commission actually means an appraisal of the intangible, or going, value of a company. This value is arrived at by appraising the total value of the business and subtracting from this total the value of tangible assets already assessed for tax purposes.

Basis of Total Value.

The total value is based on asset appraisals, capitalized earnings of the company, and prices of its stocks and bonds, when available. Most of the companies are privately owned, so securities are not available. Earnings are used for a five year period, but the commission gives earnings of the two most recent years a "weight" of 62 per cent of the five year total.

The capital stock valuations are combined by the county clerk with assessments of real estate and personal, and railroad property to compute tax rates. About 98 per cent of the Cook county stock assessments are within the city of Chicago.

REFRIGERATOR PRICES STABLE, SAY RETAILERS

Electrical refrigerator prices have been stabilized at the levels established several weeks ago when numerous manufacturers announced sharp price reductions, leading retailers announced yesterday. They reported that sales of refrigerators to date this year have exceeded those of any corresponding period in preceding years.

Kelvinator said sales of higher priced refrigerators are exceeding the sales of the $119.95 model brought out recently as a new low priced model in its line.

Commonwealth Edison company, which is one of the largest dealers in the Chicago district, said that the new low priced models brought out by most manufacturers this year have aroused the public's interest. However, most buyers are taking the larger higher priced models, it said.

Federal Unit Buys Butter, but Cuts Price

The Dairy Products Marketing association continued its butter buying program on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange yesterday, but reduced the purchase price ¼ cent to 28 cents a pound for 92 score. Wholesale quotations weakened under heavy offerings forcing the March future 0.15 cent a pound lower to 27.5 cents.

Traders were unable to account for the DPMA's price revision, except for the heavy offerings faced by the buyer for the federally-financed coöperative. Cash offerings of 92 score were placed early in trading at the 28¼ cent price paid by the stabilization agency Wednesday, and shortly before the close of the cash call the government broker was confronted with nearly 740,000 pounds of the quality, from which he took only 155,358 pounds.

November Delivery Eases.

The distant November delivery declined 0.1 cent to its seasonal low of 26.9 cents on a one-car trade. Cash quotations on centralized 90 score butter, in which the DPMA has shown no interest, were posted ¾ cent lower. Cash prices ended ¼ to ¾ cent under Wednesday's levels.

Meanwhile, directors of the Mercantile exchange resumed the emergency session called Wednesday when the DPMA unexpectedly reëntered the market. Altho no official reason was given for the meeting beyond a consideration of the government's action, it was reported that directors believed the purchases "ill timed" as the agency came back into the market on the closing day of the February future.

Action Regarded Unusual.

The federal move was regarded unusual by traders as the market would normally have been upheld by short covering and other technical action on the closing session of a future contract. The DPMA's purchasing Wednesday totaled only 41,517 pounds, however, and did not result in an advance in the February quotation.

Offerings also increased in the cash egg market yesterday, and as reports circulated that the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation's buying power was limited, efforts of holders to dispose of supplies broke prices as much as 1½ cents a dozen. The federal egg purchases in Chicago totaled 226,000 dozen. At New York the agency bought 112,830 dozen.

Egg futures were irregularly lower, October standards dipping 0.15 cent to 18.65 and March storage packs 0.1 cent to 17.3 cents a dozen.

STEVENS HOTEL LOSS SLIGHTLY LARGER IN 1939

Stevens Hotel corporation, Chicago, had a net loss of $41,406 in 1939, compared with a loss of $33,655 in 1938, William T. Krahl, president, yesterday informed holders of the corporation's 20 year first mortgage income bonds and voting trust certificates. The 1939 figure was after interest, depreciation, and provisions for payment of 2.1 per cent—$133,597—on the bonds.

Total sales and income last year amounted to $3,335,647, compared with $3,371,864 in 1938. Depreciation charges were $302,545, against $281,335, and repair and maintenance $200,053, against $169,579.

INSULL WISHES TO SELL ESTATE INTEREST FOR $50

Samuel Insull Jr., in a petition filed yesterday in the Probate court, asked permission to sell his executor's interest in the estate of his father for $50. The trustees, William C. Freeman and Peter B. Carey, have made such an offer, the petition stated.

Attorney Karl M. Gibbon, who filed it, said this was done to simplify bookkeeping for the trustees, who would then be sole owners of the property. Insull's trust estate consists for the most part of real estate, valued at $933,000, but subject to claims of almost 20 times the value.

SEC ASKS ADVICE ON ENFORCEMENT OF FINANCE RULE

Involves 'Arm's Length Bargaining.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission today announced that it had asked the investment business for advice on how best to enforce the law requiring "arm's length" bargaining [competitive bidding] between issuers and underwriters of public utility securities. The call for help came after the SEC had labored for many weeks over its decisions in cases involving security issues of Consumers Power company and Dayton Power and Light company—both of which involved the arm's length question.

The commission made public a form letter sent to the National Association of Securities Dealers, the Investment Bankers association, and others technically qualified to give such advice.

Seeks Better Method.

In effect, the letter asks how the commission can better impose the competitive conditions laid down by the public utility holding company act of 1935 than thru its present controversial rule designated as U-12 F-2. The proceedings involving the question of arm's length bargaining were instituted in the Consumers and Dayton cases, provoking sharp differences of opinion among the commissioners.

It was recalled that the commission never has held up a utility issue because of insistence on competitive bidding, and has never required a utility issue to be sold thru competitive bidding, which is opposed vigorously by the Wall street community.

Participation Is Limited.

Rule U-12 F-2 requires that any underwriter who "stands in such relation to the declarant or applicant [the issuer], or to the person by whom the fee is to be paid, [the underwriter] that there is liable to be or to have been an absence of arm's length bargaining" shall not receive more than a 5 per cent participation in the underwriting of utility securities.

The rule was criticized after institution of the controversial Consumers case, in which the final decision has not yet been announced after weeks of hearings. The commissioners themselves stated in a preliminary decision in the Consumers case that they doubted the efficacy of the rule, and were willing to consider a better one.

FCC SETS RULES FOR TELEVISION, STARTING SEPT. 1

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29 (AP).—The federal communications commission today adopted rules for television which permit limited commercial operations beginning Sept. 1.

Two classes of television stations were created. Class 1 stations will continue technical investigations and may be assigned more than one channel. Class 2 stations will experiment in program production and technique and will operate on one channel only. Class 2 stations may make charges against program sponsors sufficient to cover the cost of the sponsored programs.

Describing television as "a mighty achievement," the commission said pioneers in the field have made "great advances."

"We feel that potentially television is of tremendous value to the public," it added.

Explaining that the rules did not set up any standards of engineering performance, the commission declared research should continue.

BOND AND SHARE BARES PLAN TO REVISE SYSTEM

Would Create Three Utility Groups.

New York, Feb. 29 [Special].—The Electric Bond and Share company, cited by the Securities and Exchange commission yesterday to show cause why it should not be required to comply with the "death sentence" provision of the utility holding company act, today disclosed a comprehensive program of corporate simplification and geographic integration. The program is designed to create three major utility systems in the eastern, southwestern, and northwestern sections of the United States.

Electric Bond and Share and the Engineers Public Service company were the first major systems served with integration orders in the commission's opening drive for realignment of utility properties under the holding company act.

Both Pledge Coöperation.

Electric Bond and Share's proposal contemplates retention of all of operating properties in the system under three regional groups, all interconnected by high voltage transmission lines. The plan was filed with the SEC more than a year ago, but hitherto had not been made public.

Describing Electric Bond and Share as the parent company in a large and successful public utility system, C. E. Groesbeck, chairman, and S. R. Inch, president, in a statement to shareholders, declared that in considering the problem of integration, the entry of the federal government into the power business on a large scale must be reckoned with in "any just or wise procedure under the holding company act."

Warns of Serious Consequences.

"Serious national economic consequences may result if the act should prove to be a deterrent rather than an aid in physical integration, which offers the best means of improving the character and reliability of electric service and of reducing its cost to the public," they added. Summarizing the asserted advantages of the three-system integration proposal, the executives expressed the following conclusions:

"The consumer's interests have been taken care of in this system, as is evidenced by greater use of services at lower cost. The investor's interest in senior securities of the operating companies has been similarly protected, for his securities are selling at from twice to several times the prices they commanded a few years ago.

"The principal insecurity is the threat of government competition, and that seems to be less active than formerly. There remains for consideration, therefore, only the holding company investor.

Executives Forecast Recovery.

"Given only a reasonable measure of national prosperity and a constructive approach by government, a continuation of the policies that have restored the earning power of our properties can restore the earning power of this [the holding] company and its associated holding companies and permit of such adjustments under the act as may be necessary without loss to investors."

Donald C. Barnes, president of Engineers Public Service, said in commenting on the SEC action: "The company hopes to present facts which will justify an order approving the retention of at least a substantial part of its present system."

Chicago Ready for N. Y. Stock Trade Attack

Officials of the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday began preparations for strengthening their machinery to cushion any possible drop in trading volume as a result of the New York Stock exchange's latest move to prevent the diversion of business to smaller markets. Governors of the Chicago exchange met in the afternoon to discuss the "big board's" recent ban on members acting as dealers in New York stocks on other exchanges.

These officials expressed confidence in the ability of other Chicago firms to take over the business in dually listed issues now handled by houses affected by the ruling. Selection of firms for appointment as specialists is one of the steps under consideration. The date on which the New York exchange's ruling is to become effective has not been announced. It is understood, however, the ruling will take effect within 30 or 60 days.

Won't Impair Service.

"As we understand the action taken, it will not impair our service to the public," Arthur M. Betts, chairman of the Chicago board of governors, said after the meeting. "Local members are adequately equipped, financially and mechanically, to act as specialists and odd lot dealers, should it become necessary as a result of the New York action."

Twenty-two governors and one adviser of the Chicago exchange attended the meeting. Altho no official action was taken by the governing board, the members unanimously seconded Bett's statement.

The Chicago firms which are members of the New York and Chicago exchanges and which will come under the ruling are Paul H. Davis & Co., Winthrop, Mitchell & Co., James H. Oliphant & Co., Wayne, Hummer & Co., Farroll Brothers, Mitchell, Hutchins & Co., and Shields & Co. These firms are the principal odd lot dealers and specialists in the dually listed issues.

Explains Chicago Position.

The "watch and wait" attitude of the Chicago exchange was due, one executive said, to the position of the firms involved. These firms, he said, will be forced to resign as specialists when the New York order becomes effective and, because the ruling is being invoked by another exchange, the Chicago market must first await notices of resignations before making new appointments.

The New York exchange's ruling, made Wednesday, does not affect commission orders given by customers, but strikes at dealers who make a market in some other city in a security listed in New York.

In Chicago the New York member firms act as odd lot dealers or specialists in 46 issues listed both here and at New York. Half of the Chicago exchange's volume last year was in the 71 issues included in its optional odd lot system. Boston is another of the leading smaller exchanges which will be affected by the ruling.

Dwindling business in New York has been blamed by brokers on the state transfer taxes and the increase in trading in New York issues on other exchanges.

FREIGHT TOTAL SLUMP IS LESS THAN EXPECTED

Altho revenue carloadings of all classes of freight except coal and grain declined during the week ended Feb. 24, total loadings fell off less than usually expected during the holiday period, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

The association disclosed that 595,032 cars of revenue freight were loaded during the week [which included the Washington birthday holiday]. This was a decrease of 12,892 cars, or 2.1 per cent, from the preceding week, but an increase of 38,290, or 6.9 per cent, over a year ago.

The report compared the loadings as follows:

Hill May Quit if His $420,000 Pay Is Reduced

New York, Feb. 29 (AP).—George Washington Hill, president of American Tobacco company for the last 14 years, today threatened to quit the company if stockholders at the annual meeting April 3 changed the plan of "incentive compensation" under which top officers since 1912 have shared in profits. Hill's remuneration last year was $420,300.

George W. Hill.

Urging stockholders at the meeting to defeat the proposal of Lewis D. Gilbert, owner of 80 shares, to limit top officers' participation in profits, Hill said:

"My association with the American Tobacco company has been my life work. I have known no other. I want to know no other. But obviously I cannot, with self-respect, continue in the company if a decision is made which I must regard as a repudiation of proved successful policies—a change in the terms of employment of those who have built and are building this business with me."

Earnings Increase in 1939.

Hill's plea to defeat the Gilbert proposal accompanied American Tobacco's annual report, which disclosed 1939 net profits were $26,427,934 after charges, equal after preferred dividends to $5.12 a share on the common and B stocks, compared with $25,435,643, or $4.89 a share in 1938.

Gilbert, critic of many large corporations and sometimes referred to as "the nation's No. 1 minority stockholder," was described by Hill as "a small shareholder in each of some 50 companies" who "concededly makes it a practice to attend annual meetings for the avowed purpose of forwarding proposals to regulate their affairs in accordance with certain views and philosophies which he entertains."

Gilbert's proposal on extra compensation would affect five vice presidents as well as Hill.

Would Eliminate Incentive.

"He proposes," said Hill, "to do away with 'incentive compensation' altogether on earnings up to $23,719,332 and to prohibit it on earnings over $27,719,332.

"To require management to earn upwards of nearly $24,000,000 a year before it can expect to share in the profits it produces would be short-sighted and dangerous.

"The proposal that the management should be prohibited from any share in profits it might earn for the stockholders in excess of $27,719,332 plainly doesn't make sense, since it says to the management: 'You are not to have any increasing incentive to make the company's earnings more than this figure.'"

SPECIAL SERVICE FEES OF N.Y. STOCK BROKERS GO INTO EFFECT TODAY

The schedule of charges for special services performed for customers by member firms of the New York Stock exchange, including many in Chicago, will go into effect today. The board of governors of the exchange adopted the rule Jan. 10. These fees will be in addition to the regular commissions.

The charges include a custodian fee of $1 minimum a month to cover all services performed for an account containing fully paid securities if the account has been open during the entire month; 10 cents for cutting each coupon on securities in safekeeping accounts; ¼ of 1 per cent of the dividend for dividend claims on securities not in the broker's office; a minimum of 1 cent a share and 10 cents a bond for any transfer requiring documents other than the stock power of attorney; 50 cents a sheet on transcripts of statements, and others which may be mutually agreed upon.

The new rule will affect 10 to more than 50 per cent of acocunts in number.

TRUCKERS FIGHT ENFORCEMENT OF NEW CONTROL ACT

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 29 (AP).—An injunction to prevent enforcement of the Illinois truck act, which goes into effect tomorrow, was asked by a group of truckers today in Sangamon Circuit court. The suit attacked the validity of the law, which requires safety tests and insurance coverage for trucks as well as exercising other supervision over trucking in Illinois.

Circuit Judge L. E. Stone declined to rule on the petition for a temporary injunction and assigned the hearing for tomorrow before Circuit Judge Victor Hemphill.

The suit was filed on behalf of Lon E. Martin of Taylorville, Sidney J. Williams of the Ready Trucking company, Chicago; Harry Miller, Taylorville, and the Certificated Motor Carriers, Chicago.

FILES CHICAGO SUIT.

A temporary injunction restraining the enforcement of the Illinois truck act was sought yesterday by Herbert G. Klauck, owner of the Oakley Fuel company, 2254 Irving Park road, in a suit filed in Circuit court. The constitutionality of the act is attacked in the suit.

Start Distribution of New Chicago Buyers' Guide

Distribution of a new directory of the thousands of varieties of products and services available in Chicago will be started today by the Chicago Association of Commerce to important buyers and purchasing agents thruout the country. Known as the Buyers' Guide and Industrial Directory of Chicago, the new volume lists the output of more than 8,000 companies of the city.

STANDARD GAS EARNINGS MUCH LARGER IN 1939

Chicago Firms Show Rising Profits.

Standard Gas and Electric company, $916,000,000 holding company which until 1939 had its offices in Chicago, yesterday announced a large increase in earnings for last year. Several leading industrial corporations, including General American Transportation corporation and Belden Manufacturing company, both of Chicago, also reported gains in profits.

B. W. Lynch reports higher output and profits.

Consolidated net income of the Standard Gas system, which serves communities in 20 states and Mexico, was $3,317,412 last year, compared with $826,577 in 1938, according to a preliminary report. Profit of the parent company rose to $823,358 from $339,970 in 1938.

Electric, Gas Output Rise.

In making the report, Bernard W. Lynch, president, said that electricity output of the operating units increased 10.99 per cent in 1939, and that gas production rose 6.54 per cent. He said the 1940 construction budgets of the operating companies have been set tentatively at $40,000,000.

Standard Gas moved its headquarters to New York City early in 1939, charging that personal property taxes in Illinois were "prohibitive."

General American Transportation announced consolidated net profit of $1,187,810, equal to $1.15 a share, for the fourth quarter of 1939, and net income of $3,214,043, or $3.11 a share, for the full year. The corporation earned $699,953, or 67 cents a share, in the final quarter of 1938, and $3,004,899, or $2.91 a share, in the full year.

The company manufactures, sells, leases, and services railroad freight cars of all types. It has a 105 acre plant at East Chicago.

Turns Loss to Profit.

Belden Manufacturing, maker of electrical wires, cables, and other products, reported 1939 net profit of $304,453, exclusive of nonrecurring income of $73,747 representing the proceeds of a life insurance policy. In 1938 the company had a net loss of $101,711.

"The improvement in the company's business that started in the second half of 1938 continued thru the first three quarters of 1939, the profit for each quarter being slightly larger than for the preceding one," they wrote.

"Volume and profits increased substantially in the fourth quarter following the outbreak of the war in Europe and the attendant increase in business generally. No direct benefits from war orders were received."

Bank Loans Paid in Full.

The report said all of Belden's bank loans were paid off in March, 1939, leaving the company entirely free of debt for the first time in more than 25 years.

Westinghouse Air Brake company announced its 1939 net income was $2,765,628, equal to 87 cents a share. In 1938 profit was $993,816, or 32 cents a share. The annual report, made by Charles A. Rowan, chairman, and George A. Blackmore, president,

New York Stocks.

New York, Feb. 29 (AP).—A few rails, steels and farm implements staged a rally today, but the rest of the stock market refused to go along. The final bell found averages off, altho some issues had reached their highest quotations in a week.

Transactions totaled 621,640 shares, compared with 567,710 yesterday. It was the busiest day this week.

The upward tendency of the previous session carried over into the opening hour, but, as has been the case of recent weeks, transactions failed to increase at sufficient rate to maintain any but scattered improvement.

Steels, however, held steady all day behind the leadership of United States Steel, which, at one time, was up more than a point. This advance was

On the downside were Loft, Allied Chemical, Pan-American Airways, General Motors, Chrysler, Consolidated Edison, American Smelting, General Electric, Sears-Roebuck, and Montgomery Ward.

Sales of stocks listed on the New York exchange dropped to 13,465,355 shares in February, smallest since June last year which in turn was the smallest since 1921. Transactions in January amounted to 15,990,665 shares, and in February last year 13,873,323.

New York Bonds.

New York, Feb. 29 (AP).—Bond prices today showed little change, altho there was some demand for selected rails. Overnight news that the Securities & Exchange commission was beginning to press utility holding companies to begin integration proceedings acted as a depressing influence on loans directly affected.

Bonds of Norway and Finland paced a generally higher foreign dollar group. United States governments lost up to 7-32 of a point of light turnover.

Chicago Stocks.

Prices lacked definite trend on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, and the volume of transactions declined to 20,000 shares from 24,000 on Wednesday. The volume leader was Commonwealth Edison, which eased a fraction. The exchange announced that transactions totaled 510,000 shares in February, compared with 607,000 in January and 486,000 in February, 1938.

Bank Stocks.

The bid price of City National shares declined a point in bank stock trading yesterday to close at 110. Continental Illinois gained half a point to 89, bid. Other issues were steady.

Foreboding war news stimulated speculative sugar buying yesterday, boosting world quotations nearly 1-20th of a cent a pound. Domestic contracts were unchanged to slightly higher.

An overnight sale of a cargo of raw sugar was reported to have been made at 2.85 cents a pound, 0.03 cent less than the previous sale. Offerings were fairly large yesterday and included Cubas and duty free sugar at 2.87 to 2.94 cents a pound.

Copper prices were firm on moderate short covering, the March delivery providing the outstanding activity. Domestic copper sales for Wednesday were reported at 3,172,000 pounds against 1,572,000 on Tuesday.

Demand for lead, traders reported, has increased since the price was established at 5.25 to 5.3 cents a pound delivered at New York, and 5.1 cents, East St. Louis. Leading producers reported that buying yesterday was on an even larger scale than on Wednesday when the price was advanced ¼ cent.

Other metals were quiet yesterday. Advances were posted for hides, silk, rubber, cocoa, wool tops, cottonseed oil, and Santos coffee.

CLASS 1 ROADS' NET OPERATING INCOME HIGHER

January Figure 3.33 Pct. Return on Investment.

Net railway operating income of class one railroads of the United States totaled $45,566,633 in January, compared with $32,947,172 in January, 1939, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The figure for January, 1930, was $54,645,698.

F. E. Williamson, reports cut in fixed charges.

Net operating income in the latest period represents an annual rate of return of 3.33 per cent on the railroads' property investment, it was estimated. Percentages for the same period last year and in 1930 were 2.41 and 3.81 respectively.

The preliminary annual report of the New York Central railroad revealed a further reduction of $1,127,-336 in total fixed charges, which for 1939 amounted to $48,103,444. In 1932 total fixed charges were $58,468,208.

Reduction Is Explained.

Reduction, F. E. Williamson, president, explained, was brought about largely by a cut, thru payment and conversion, of $141,230,7?? of fixed obligations of the company and of its lessor companies, and by refunding at lower interest rates.

The company earlier had reported a net income of $4,509,236 for 1939, contrasted with a deficit of $20,154,-000 in the preceding year.

Since 1932, Williamson said, 346 miles of branch lines have been abandoned with approval by the Interstate Commerce commission. Business handled on branch lines has been seriously affected during the last 10 years, largely by highway competition.

Improvements Effected.

Today there is a much greater utilization of equipment per unit than in the past, he said. The faster movement of cars and the quicker turnaround at terminals have made it possible to do a larger volume of business per car owned than was previously the case. This has enabled the company to reduce its expenditures for new freight equipment.

The St. Louis Southwestern lines reported a January net loss of $76,617, against a net gain of $187,802 in January, 1939.

The Soo and the Wisconsin Central lines also announced net losses of $585,667 and $116,298, respectively, for January. These companies with net losses of $730,858 and $207,386 during the same month in 1939.

SELLING CANCELS EARLY STRENGTH IN WHEAT PRICES

Wheat prices fluctuated in an erratic manner yesterday within a range of 1½ cents, closing near the bottom with losses of ⅜ to ⅝ cent a bushel. Reports of dry weather and unseasonably high temperatures in the southwestern winter wheat belt stimulated buying early in the session, but the Chicago market weakened later in sympathy with Winnipeg.

Some of the selling was attributed to a Washington dispatch stating that department of agriculture and AAA officials were mystified by the recent sharp upturn which carried May wheat to $1.07¼. The officials indicated the upturn was particularly puzzling because American prices are 25 to 33 cents a bushel above an export parity.

Corn prices closed ⅜ to ¾ cent lower. Country offerings were small. Price changes in oats, rye, and soy bean futures were confined to fractions.

BANK CLEARINGS MUCH LOWER IN HOLIDAY WEEK

New York, Feb. 29 (AP).—Bank clearings dropped sharply below the preceding week and the corresponding 1939 period during the holiday week ended Feb. 28 Dun & Bradstreet reported today. The latest week contained only five business days, and comparable figures were for full weeks.

Clearings in 22 leading cities totaled $4,757,741,000, compared with $5,433,522,000 a year ago. This was $363,012,000 below the week before.

Turnover at New York amounted to $2,802,460,000, decrease of 15.2 per cent from 1939. Volume in the other cities was $1,955,281,000, off 8.3 per cent. Chicago clearances totaled $290,009,000, or 1.4 per cent less than $294,100,000 in 1939.

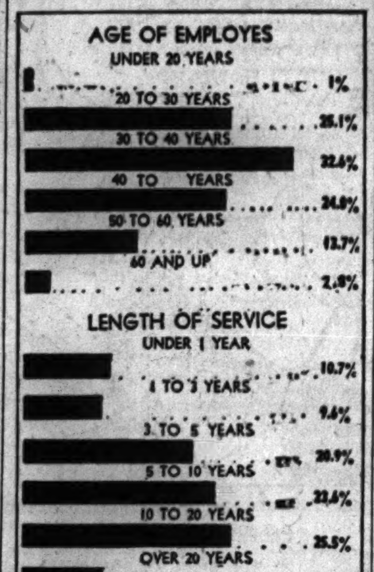
PRODUCERS FIND CORN-HOG RATIO MORE FAVORABLE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29 (AP).—The department of agriculture reported today that the ratio between prices of corn and hogs narrowed further during February to make feeding more unfavorable for livestockmen.

At average United States prices, 9.1 bushels of corn was equivalent in value to 100 pounds of live hog in mid-February. The ratio in mid-January was 9.7 and in mid-February a year ago 16.4.

The February ratio in the corn belt was 9.9 compared with 10.5 in January and 18.8 a year ago. In Iowa, the ratio was 10.4 compared with 10.9 in January and 20.9 a year ago.

Int. Harvester Worker Records



The chart shows the ages and length of service of employes of International Harvester company. General office and sales department employes are not included.

More than a third of International Harvester company's employés have been with the company longer than 10 years, the 1939 annual report to the workers, issued yesterday, disclosed. It showed that 58.8 per cent of the employés, or nearly three out of five, have been working for the company more than five years, and that 41.3 per cent of the employés are 40 years or more old. The figures do not include general office and sales employés.

The statement included, in simplified form, the information contained in the annual report made to stockholders a few days earlier.

said that the company and its subsidiaries had 6,648 employés at the end of 1939, compared with 5,455 a year earlier, and that the 1939 pay roll increased 13.57 per cent to $9,-142,237 from $8,049,890 in 1938.

Unfilled Orders Gain.

The executives said that the company's volume of unfilled orders on Jan. 1, 1940, was three and one-half times larger than a year earlier.

"It is believed that the first half of 1940 will show satisfactory operating results," they wrote.

Simmons company, manufacturer of bedding and textiles, had 1939 net income of $2,446,681, equal to $2.11 a common share, according to a preliminary report. In 1938 the company earned $1,644,867, or $1.42 a share. The main Simmons plant is in Kenosha, Wis. General offices are in New York.

Electric Bond and Share company's 1939 net income was $9,709,074, equal to 24 cents a common share, after preferred dividend requirements, compared with $9,401,251, or 18 cents a share, in 1938. Profit in the last three months of 1939 amounted to $2,592,794, or 5 cents a share, against $2,605,380, equal to 9 cents a share also, in the December quarter of 1938.

BRITAIN, FRANCE FAIL TO PLACE BIG PLANE ORDER

Return of Empires' Air Mission Awaited.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 29 (AP).—Despite announced plans for a billion dollar buying program, the British and French were reported today to be without commitments on future airplane purchases in this country, pending the return from Europe of an air mission.

At the same time it was disclosed that about two months ago the mission tentatively laid out a plan to standardize purchases on three types of American planes and even took some options, but the program failed to get approval of the empires' supreme war council and the options have lapsed. A high administration official said that American manufacturers and officials are awaiting the early return of the mission from Europe for word on future buying.

Never Formally Submitted.

Outlining developments to date, this official said the standardization plan never was submitted formally to President Roosevelt's committee to coördinate foreign and domestic airplane purchasing. All interested officials, he explained, knew informally about it, but it never got far enough for serious consideration by any government agency.

He added that he did not know whether the empires' representatives would return with a similar plan of standardization. Whatever plan they suggest will have to be reviewed by the President's committee, headed by Treasury Secretary Morgenthau.

The committee, which includes army and navy, as well as treasury representatives, would examine the proposal to determine whether it would interfere with purchases for American military and civil needs or hinder designing research on newer models.

Favored Three Companies.

Under the former plan, Britain and France would have confined purchases to three American types of planes, giving all their contracts to three leading manufacturers, who would have let subcontracts to other manufacturers for those parts of the orders they could not fill themselves.

The official did not name the three companies, but they were supposed to have been the Douglas, Curtiss-Wright, and Martin plants.

Claire L. Barnes Resigns as Houdaille Chairman

Claire L. Barnes of Detroit announced yesterday that he had submitted to the directors of Houdaille-Hershey corporation his resignation as chairman of the board, effective March 31. The company's annual meeting will be held April 9. Barnes, principal founder of the company, resigned as its president in 1937 at his own request because of ill health and became chairman.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Hogs made additional small price gains yesterday, despite an increase in supplies. Most classes rose 5 to 10 cents above the Wednesday average, the top moving up to $5.60 and the average to $5.25.

After a strong to 15 cents higher trade for better grades of steers, weakness developed and final sales were at reductions of 15 to 25 cents from Wednesday's levels. Best heifers were firm and others were weak. Steady prices were paid for most beef cows, cutters, calves, and replacement stock.

WASH SALES.

My understanding of "wash sales" in connection with making out my income tax return is that I cannot take a loss on a sale of securities if the same securities were bought back within 30 days after I sold them. What is meant by the "same" securities? Suppose I bought some X shares 10 years ago. Then in 1939 I bought some more X shares and 20 days later sold at a loss some of the shares I bought 10 years ago. Would that be a wash sale and the loss disallowed? —R. M.

Answer: You cannot deduct a loss resulting from the sale of securities within 30 days before or after you acquire [or enter into a contract to acquire] substantially identical securities. This rule does not apply if you acquired the stock by inheritance, gift, bequest, or by a nontaxable exchange.

In the instance described, identical securities were bought within 30 days before the sale. The resulting loss, therefore, would not be allowed.

The income tax law, however, permits the acquisition of securities of other issues of similar character without applying the "wash sale" rule, even tho the sale of securities occurred within 30 days. For example, the commissioner of internal revenue has ruled that class A nonvoting stock is not "substantially identical" with the common voting stock of the same firm, altho both have equal rights to dividends and liquidated assets. A loss, therefore, would be allowed if the common stock were purchased immediately after the sale of the class A stock.

To avoid having a transaction termed a wash sale when you are attempting to establish a loss for income tax purposes [which is a legitimate operation], you must be certain that you do not purchase identical securities within 30 days before or after the sale. If you wish to replace immediately the securities which you sold, you may purchase securities of similar quality, but which are substantially different from those sold for income tax loss.

When a loss on a wash sale is not allowed, the cost basis of the repurchased identical securities is their cost plus the loss not allowed. This cost basis is necessary in determining the capital gain or loss when the repurchased securities are sold.

The period of ownership of the reacquired securities starts from the purchase date of the original securities on which the loss was disallowed and continues to the date when the reacquired identical securities were sold. The length of time the securities were held determines the percentage of capital gain or loss from the sale of the securities which is reportable for income tax purposes.

Standard Oil Dividend Payments Below Year Ago

New York, Feb. 29 [Special].—Dividend payments by the companies in the Standard Oil group for the first quarter of 1940 are estimated at $22,-006,851 by the New York Stock exchange firm of Carl H. Pforzheimer & Co. Payments were $22,294,925 in the first quarter of 1939 and $67,874,953 in the final quarter of last year which included various companies making only semiannual payments. The decline in the total for this quarter reflects the smaller distribution by the Standard Oil Company of California, which declared only the regular payment of 25 cents a share.

RESERVE BANK REPORTS

The amount of lendable excess reserves of the member banks of the federal reserve system reached another new all time peak in the week ended Wednesday, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. They totaled $5,690,000,000, an increase of $60,-000,000 over the $5,630,000,000 reported at the end of the preceding week.

As in other recent weeks, the increase was caused by treasury spending and gold purchases, the board said. Details of the report follow:

ORGANIZE GROUP TO MEET ATTACK ON ADVERTISING

Plan Drive Against Radical Organizations.

A permanent bureau of buyer information was organized yesterday by the Chicago Federated Advertising club to combat the effects of radical consumer groups whose attacks on advertising were said to be designed ultimately to destroy the American system of private enterprise and substitute a socialistic form of government.

About 400 members volunteered their services for an extensive campaign by signing cards indicating their preferred activities, after Walter E. Botthof, president of Standard Rate and Data Service, Inc., outlined the peril and the plan of approach. The meeting was in the Hotel Sherman.

Named Chairman of Group.

Botthof, who was named chairman of the club's administrative committee, termed the drive "the greatest contribution that can be made to strengthen and perpetuate the advertising business."

The bureau, it was explained, will study the consumer movement and its effect on advertising, then develop a program to educate the consumer on the function of advertising and its place in the American system of competitive enterprise. Material will be prepared for the press and radio, for booklets, text books, and lectures. Talks before consumers, church, women's, school, and business organizations are planned.

Cites Public Benefits.

Botthof said the advertising business had failed to acquaint the public with the "specific instances of the contribution advertising has made toward our industrial progress in turning out better products at lower prices for more people."

The bureau in its program will cooperate with national advertising and better business organizations. A. G. Ruthman, partner in the firm of Gilman, Nicoll, and Ruthman, was named vice chairman of the administrative committee. Other members are Elon Borton, Aubyn Chinn, G. Victor Lowrie, James V. Malone, M. Glen Miller, and Richard A. Trenkmann.

Illinois Bell Telephone Men to Honor John J. Long

Associates of John J. Long in the commercial and other departments of the Illinois Bell Telephone company will observe his 35th anniversary with the company at a dinner tonight in the Midwest Athletic club. Long, who lives at 1630 North Moody avenue, is outside representative in the Wabash-Calumet district of the central division.
